Hoover Calls Counsel of 61 to Aid Jobless

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 20.—[Special.]—Sixty-one nationally known citizens, representing business, industry, finance, labor organizations, and virtually every social element in American life, were called upon by President Hoover today to aid in a nation-wide campaign to handle the domestic unemployment relief situation this winter.

Those to whom invitations went forward today were asked to serve as members of an advisory committee to the national super-unemployment relief organization which is to be formed and placed on a working basis by Walter Gifford, president of the American Telephone and Telegraph company.

The new relief organization when completed will be charged by the President with the huge task of originating, coördinating, and directing unemployment relief for the whole nation.

In naming the men whom he will depend on to alleviate suffering throughout the coming unemployment crisis the President made it plain that a complete new unemployment relief setup is to be organized.

Entirely New Movement.

All existing relief and unemployment organizations functioning out of Washington are to be reorganized and their place taken by the new super organization, which the President believes will prove so efficient that "dole" legislation or acts to provide direct federal aid will be thwarted.

The names of six Chicagoans were included in the roster of business and social leaders called upon to aid in handling the unemployment crisis. They were:

William Rufus Abbott, chairman of the board of the Illinois Bell Telephone company.

Edward L. Ryerson Jr., chairman of Gov. Emmerson's commission on unemployment and relief.

Julius Rosenwald, chairman of the board of Sears, Roebuck & Co.

Edward N. Hurley, war time head of the United States shipping board.

Alexander Legge, president International Harvester company and former chairman of the federal farm board.

Silas Strawn, president of the United States Chamber of Commerce.

Acceptances Not Received.

The size of the advisory committee was not made known today, as other invitations are to go forward tomorrow and all acceptances have not been received.

Just how the committee is to function and what it is to do in a practical sense has not yet been worked out. The plan now is for President Hoover and Mr. Gifford to study the whole question during a week-end Rapidan fishing camp conference beginning probably tomorrow.

Judging from the list of those se-

MOTOR CRASH KILLS GRANDSON OF N. W. HARRIS

Norman Waite Harris II., 22 years old, grandson and namesake of the founder of the Harris Trust and Savings bank, was instantly killed yesterday in an automobile accident near Toole, Utah. Word of the tragedy reached his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hayden B. Harris of 20 Cedar street, last evening.

Young Harris' automobile, travelling at a considerable rate of speed, left the highway and turned over in a ditch. Dispatches said his neck was broken and he was dead when rescuers arrived. Bentley Macy, 20 years old, a hitch hiker from Fall River, Mass., whom Harris had picked up in Iowa and was carrying to the Pacific coast with him, was seriously hurt, but will recover, physicians believed. Bentley was asleep at the time of the crash and did not know how it occurred. A Utah road official said Harris apparently went to sleep at the wheel.

Harris was on his way to San Francisco to take a position in the Wells-Fargo bank there and learn the business, his father said. It was planned that, after serving his apprenticeship there he should return to Chicago to work in the bank which his family controls.

He was graduated in June from Williams college at Williamstown, Mass., where he was an honor student. The body will be brought back to Chicago tomorrow. Plans for funeral services will be announced later.

Butler Wants Philadelphia's Gangs Licked!

New Britain, Conn., Aug. 20.—[Special.]—"The Pennsylvania Legion convention opens today and I am going over there tomorrow and tell those soldiers if they don't go out and lick that gang in Philadelphia I'll throw this uniform of mine in the mud," said Maj. Gen. Smedley D. Butler, addressing an assembly of 1,200 men and women at the state convention of the American Legion and auxiliary here today. He was referring to the Vare political machine.

Gen. Butler, mentioning his application for retirement, said: "I am through, but you will hear more from me. I am going to get busy in this Legion business when I get out where I won't get in wrong when I say things.

"We don't want any more wars, but a man is a damn fool to think there won't be any more of them. I am a peace loving Quaker, but when war breaks out every damn man in my family goes. If we're ready nobody will tackle us. Give us a club and we will face them all.

Can't Abolish Wars.

"None of us would walk out and sock Jack Dempsey on the nose if we did not know how to fight and both hands were crippled. Well, we won't go out to fight anybody unless we've got the goods and produce them. There is no use talking about abolishing war; that's damn foolishness. Take the guns away from men and they will fight just the same.

"William Penn cheated the Indians out of their land with a handful of beads and a bottle of rum, but you fellows in New England put your pitchforks up against their guns and beat them. If it hadn't been for you in 1776 this country wouldn't be worth five cents an acre.

"That is the way Americans do the job. It takes a hell of a lot of abuse to get us riled up, but once we get going look out. In the Spanish-American war we didn't have any bullets to shoot, and if we had not had a war with a nation that already was licked and look for an excuse to quit we would have had hell licked out of us.

Pacifists Won't Govern.

"No pacifists or communists are going to govern this country. If they try it there will be seven million men like you rise up and strangle them. Pacifists, hell! I'm a pacifist but I always have a club behind my back."

If a bill for independence of the Philippines were introduced into congress at the present time it would have support enough to pass, Senator Hiram Bingham said, speaking on the same platform.

The move for the independence of the islands, he said, is the result of selfishness of certain western senators because the interests of a few are in competition with Philippine sugar growers.

CHICAGOLAND'S MUSIC FESTIVAL IS TOMORROW

Thousands to Fill Great Stadium.

Last night 600 men and women, instead of an expected four hundred, crowded the grand ballroom of the Drake hotel for the final practice of the Hallelujah chorus in the second annual Chicagoland Music Festival which is to be held at Soldiers' field tomorrow night.

Within a few minutes, under the direction of Conductor Noble Cain, the 600 singers, each a volunteer, were molded into an inspired unit. They burst into the famous oratorio with emotional ardor that held even the veteran conductor spellbound. They prophesied in melody what will be one of the world's greatest harmonic thrills—the singing tomorrow night of the same oratorio by 6,000 voices.

Greatest Festival Promised.

Tomorrow night the second annual Chicagoland Festival, sponsored by THE TRIBUNE and cooperating newspapers in the middle west, will present to Chicago the greatest community musical ever held.

Entrance to Soldiers' field for the festival will be easy. Departure will be as smooth. Every tone of each instrument, every tonal inflection and nuance of each voice will be heard. These are possible through months of careful preparation, through experience gleaned from the first festival held last year.

The thousands expected to pack the south park stadium will find passage to their seats as simple as entering the hallway of their home. They will find sufficient seats to accommodate not only families but clubs and parties. And each seat will be, as far as hearing is concerned, an orchestra seat.

All Details Worked Out.

A few words about the physical preparations for the convenience of the patrons.

The civic audience, for such it will be, will have available to facilitate entrance to the field, ticket booths at every entrance of the stadium except the north, which is reserved for performers.

There will be 200 ushers and more than 300 policemen, 261 of the latter being assigned to the festival last night by Acting Commissioner Alcock. There will be traffic rules, eliminating vehicular jams and easing the arrival and departure of transportation services. All this means that you and your family may reach Soldiers' field without difficulty; go to your seats without difficulty, and then lend your ears, eyes, and attention to a memorable program. And the earlier you go the more you will see and hear.

Every One to Hear All.

Soldiers' field is the largest open air theater in existence. Necessarily some acoustical difficulty might be encountered in transmitting the marches, the choruses, the solos, and the various forms of music on the program. But tomorrow night there will be no difficulty.

Every one of the 150,000 seats in the stadium will have all advantages of an orchestral seat, whether it be at the southern reach of the huge bowl or 50 feet from the north stand, from which the music will emanate.

Gigantic amplification, the combination of three amplifying systems, guarantee this. Research engineers of the Thomas B. Gibbs and the Erickson Electric companies and the south park board engineers devised the system.

Woman Slain in Battle to Protect Honor

Kenosha, Wis., Aug. 20.—[Special.]—The body of a red-headed woman, slain in a vain defense of her honor, lay in the county morgue here tonight. Authorities said, after an all-day investigation, that they had no clews to her identity or that of her murderers, who abandoned her body before daybreak in the summer resort village of Silver Lake, 22 miles west of here.

DR. E. L. MILOSLAVICH.

An autopsy conducted this afternoon by Dr. Edward L. Miloslavich, pathologist and professor at Marquette university in Milwaukee, disclosed that the woman died of strangulation after she had been beaten severely and raped.

Believed Strangled.

The woman's shoulders, hips, and arms were badly bruised. Her hands and knees were bruised and scratched as if she had been dragged over rough ground. There was a deep gash on her lip and the inside of her throat was lacerated. That, with the fact that no bruises were found on the outside of the throat, gave rise to the theory that she had been strangled by a gag or other object forced into her mouth.

The body is that of a slim, comely woman about 35 years old. She stood 5 feet 3 inches tall and weighed 120 pounds. She had gray eyes and her hair, originally blond, had been hennaed to a red shade. Her ears each bore a scar, and her teeth were slightly protruding.

Auto Near Murder Scene.

A clew to the murderer or murderers was established when Coroner A. B. Schmitz took a statement from a man who had driven past the scene of the crime shortly after midnight yesterday. The informant, whose identity was kept secret, said that he saw two men sitting in an old green colored sedan which was parked on the road thirty feet from the point where the woman's body was found.

"I was driving from Twin Lakes to Salem where I live," the man told the coroner, "when at the bend in the road at the tracks I noticed a car parked with the lights on. As I approached it the lights were switched off, but I saw two men sitting in the front seat, both wearing straw hats, who ducked down so I couldn't see their features."

Fishermen Find Body.

A party which set out at dawn on a fishing trip found the body within the limits of Silver Lake. It lay a few feet from State road 50, at its crossing over the Soo railroad tracks. The body, Sheriff Steve Robinson of Kenosha county believes, was tossed out of an automobile.

The woman's long hair lay tangled about her shoulders. She wore a wine-colored wool dress and silk undergarments, but no shoes or stockings. Mr. and Mrs. August Bundesgard of Racine and Mrs. Lillie Mitchell of Silver Lake, who found the body, notified Dr. B. A. Mitchell, a physician living in the neighborhood.

Morris Theory Discounted.

The sheriff and Coroner Schmitz discounted the theory, advanced during the day by Minnesota authorities, that the dead woman may have been the companion of Harry Morris, a Chicago bootlegger also known as J. A. Camden, who was found murdered near Red Wing, Minn., on Monday.

The slain woman was apparently a person of refinement, the officials said. Inquiries made of Chicago police established definitely that the woman is not the one known there as Camden's wife, Mae.

CUBAN CAPITAL REVOLT LED BY AN EX-MAYOR

Try to Burn Home of Machado Ally.

HAVANA, Aug. 20.—(AP)—Fighting broke out in Havana today, with spasmodic firing through the early hours, in which one man was killed. It was the first considerable outbreak in the capital since the revolt got under way.

Some reports said the action was begun by members of "the Porra," a group of prisoners who had been pardoned and who were said to be allied with government forces in putting down the rebellion. It was believed also the action was a surprise move to halt the development of a reported plan by university students to seize the Havana police station.

An attempt was made last night to burn the home of Senator Wilfredo Hernandez, close friend of President Gerardo Machado.

See Revolt in Balance.

Col. Roberto Mendes Penate, rebel chieftain believed to be in Santa Clara province, was reported to have urged Miguel Mariano Gomez, former Havana mayor and local rebellion leader, to start insurgent fighting here, on the theory that fate of the revolution is in the balance. Gomez is said to have replied that he had no arms, but that he would not surrender.

Insurgent activities also were reported today in Matanzas, adjacent to Havana province. Insurgent reports received here said a railway bridge was blown up at Limonar. All troops permanently stationed in Matanzas were withdrawn several days ago, leaving only rural guards in charge of the province.

Fighting also was reported unofficially near Cienfuegos, with groups of rebels said to be at Manzanillo and Bayamo.

Departure from Cuba.

Under order from the general staff of the army today no person will be allowed to leave Cuba, regardless of nationality, without a pass issued by the general staff.

Diario de Cuba, Santiago paper, suspended publication yesterday in protest against a government order that only official government communiques regarding the rebellion be published. Announcement was made that publication would be resumed tomorrow.

An electric refrigerator and a large crate of chickens were taken today to Cabana fortress, where the rebel leaders recently captured are confined, it was learned this afternoon.

CITY IN RUINS

BY DEAN SANBORN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

GIBARA, Cuba, Aug. 20.—[Sent by telephone to Havana.]—Chaos reigns today in this once isolated little city on the north coast of Oriente province as army forces patrol the city and outskirts, still cleaning up the rebel stronghold following 48 hours of the most violent warfare in Cuba's republican history. The confusion was intensified by the arrival of hundreds of curious from Havana and nearby cities to inspect the battlegrounds and the city after its devastating experience yesterday. Airplane after airplane also arrived this morning, bringing American press representatives, photographers and news reel men. They found strict military regulations already in force, and censorship established on telegraph dispatches.

Entire City Wrecked.

Army headquarters here, which for two days were held by rebels, now are occupied by federal forces under the command of Capt. Francisco De Velasco.

During the 48 hours of heavy fighting, in which airplanes bombed the city and artillery shelled it, great damage was done to buildings, and hundreds were burned. Today the city looks as though it had been destroyed by a hurricane.

Bodies of hundreds of unidentified rebels and many loyal soldiers were buried in the outskirts of Gibara this morning. The exact number of dead is unknown, but the total is steadily increasing as military forces explore the city, its outskirts and battlefields in a ten mile radius. Strict secrecy is being maintained regarding the official casualty list.

Many Civilians Wounded.

Police and troops rendered first aid to the citizens of the city, many of whom were wounded during the fighting. These people, neutrals, or at least nominally so, locked themselves in their homes as loyal troops and rebels staged fierce hand-to-hand clashes in

CHICAGOLAND MUSIC FESTIVAL

GATES OPEN AT 3:30 P. M. Tomorrow!

Gates to Soldiers' Field will be opened tomorrow afternoon at 3:30. Come early and have your lunch in the stadium. Be there when the bands start playing and the big parade of participants starts onto the field promptly at 7:30 p. m. The parade will be five miles long. It will take 45 minutes for all the bands to enter the stadium.

Remember, whether you arrive early or late, any seat you get will be a good seat. The most powerful system of amplifiers in the country will carry the program to every part of the stadium.

It will be easy to get in. All entrance gates, except the north one, reserved for participants, will be in use. Tickets will be sold from more than 50 windows located all around the stadium.

Get your tickets in advance and avoid any delay whatever on Saturday night. They are now on sale at the following places:

Chicago Tribune Advertising and Public Service Offices:

One South Dearborn — 4152 West Madison
Tribune Tower Lobby — 1101 East Sixty-third

And at special booths on the east side of Michigan Boulevard at these intersections:

Eleventh Street — Seventh Street — Van Buren Street

ALL TICKETS 25 CENTS EACH

the central thoroughfares. It is estimated that 30,000 noncombatants were within the battle area throughout the long engagement.

Engineers labored all day repairing army communication lines, and later privately owned telegraph lines, while another section of the army rebuilt lighting systems. Gibara is promised electric lights again by nightfall.

Two trains loaded with refugees left the city today for Santiago and Holguin and thence to Havana. Two medical trains arrived here tonight. All were several hours late. A detour was made to avoid a section several miles from here where fighting is still in progress. The army is pursuing rebel bands, which are fleeing toward Holguin and Puerto Padre.

Army Feeds People.

Food supplies are needed immediately. The rebels have eaten or taken with them all the food in the city. What little food the troops brought into the city is being rationed out to the hungry. A line of several thousand men, women, and children are begging the soldiers for bread.

Throughout the day hysterical women and children searched ruins of homes for dead or missing relatives. In order to prevent an outbreak of disease epidemics, supplies are being rushed here.

DENIES U. S. PLANS TO CALL PARLEY ON WAR DEBTS

Washington, D. C., Aug. 20.—(AP)—Acting Secretary Castle of the state department today denied a report in London that plans for an international conference on war debts and reparations would be laid upon the return of Secretary Stimson from Europe. The acting secretary described the report as interesting but untrue.

American Heads Tribunal.

LONDON, Aug. 20.—(AP)—Announcement was made today of the appointment of Roland Boyden of Boston as president of the arbitration tribunal set up under The Hague agreement of last year regarding German reparations. He has accepted and the selection has been approved by the governments of Belgium, France, Germany, Great Britain, Italy and Japan. Mr. Boyden was unofficial representative of the United States with the reparations committee at the time the Dawes plan was adopted.

SHEEPSKIN FEE IS DOUBLED AT U. OF CHICAGO

University of Chicago seniors were chagrined to learn yesterday that officials of the institution had found it necessary to raise the diploma fee from $10 to $20 to take effect immediately. Emery T. Filby, assistant to President Hutchins, said that the increase was made for budget purposes only.

"The income of the university has, like everything else, been hit by the depression," Mr. Filby said. "Even with the increase the diploma fee will be only about half of what it is at Harvard and Columbia."

Mr. Filby stated that no increase in tuition fees was contemplated. At the beginning of the summer quarter early in July the matriculation fee was raised from $10 to $20.

FLIES FROM N. Y. TO FORT WORTH UNDER 8 HOURS

Fort Worth, Tex., Aug. 20.—(AP)—Capt. Frank Hawks arrived at the municipal airport at 4:43 p. m. today from New York, landing his plane before a crowd of several hundred. He left New York at 8:57 a. m. eastern standard time and refueled at Evansville, Ind.

Hawks bettered his time of 8 hours and 30 minutes from Fort Worth to New York, made early this year, negotiating the distance from New York here in 7 hours and 57 minutes.

He said he encountered snow at 14,000 feet near Harrisburg, Pa., and that rain fell from there to Evansville.

Roosevelt Silent as to "Explanation" by Castle

Ithaca, N. Y., Aug. 20.—(AP)—Gov. Roosevelt withheld comment today on the formal statement of acting Secretary of State William Castle explaining the St. Lawrence water power negotiations correspondence between Albany and Washington. The New York governor said he had not seen the statement of Secretary Castle and when informed of its nature he added he "would not like to say" whether it was a satisfactory explanation of the incident until he had studied the statement.

WITNESS COMES FROM FUNERAL TO TELL OF 'CURE'

State Board Hears Story of Tilton Clinic.

Eugene Kunzweiler, 3709 Hermitage avenue, whose wife, Lillian, was one of many cancer victims who gave their slim earnings to obtain treatments of salves made by the so-called cancer genius, Lester Tilton, of Clinton, Ia., was a witness yesterday at a medical hearing. The hearing, before the medical committee of the state department of registration and education, will decide whether six alleged associates of Tilton keep their physicians' licenses.

Mr. Kunzweiler and his 14 year old daughter, Lillian, also a witness, were late, however. They did not arrive until a short time before the hearing adjourned until 10 o'clock tomorrow. The reason was that they had been attending the funeral of Mrs. Kunzweiler.

Describes Treatment of Wife.

On the witness stand, the stocky, gray haired man told what he knew about the treatment his wife received at a cancer clinic conducted at the Felician convent, 3800 Peterson road, where the Tilton remedies were used exclusively. The clinic was closed last May after Cardinal Mundelein had ordered it closed in February. Testimony yesterday completed the prosecution against Dr. Joseph T. Duffy, 5755 North Clark street.

"My wife had been operated on for cancer of the breast in April, 1930," Kunsweiler testified. "Six months later I took her for the first time to the convent clinic. It had been recommended to us by a woman. Naturally that woman's dead now.

"Mr. Tilton, Dr. Duffy, Sister Wenscelaus and another sister were there. Dr. Duffy examined her. The sisters then told her the treatment would be $75 a week. I didn't have that much money. I paid them $25. In all I paid $140, with about $50 more for the medicine.

Arm Becomes Swollen.

"Three times they applied that salve they call the 'specific.' The last time was Christmas day, and she never went back, as her arm and side swelled so she could not leave her bed. She had the swelling until she died."

Dr. Edward T. Juchhoff of the Commonwealth hotel, who was later called in on the case, testified for the prosecution that the swelling was induced by the Tilton specific.

Three once healthy guinea pigs were brought in in a box and passed around among the members of the committee for inspection after Philip Ringer, assistant attorney general in charge of the prosecution, had introduced them as evidence. Dr. Juchhoff explained that he had treated two of them with the Tilton specific, which resulted in a hard area around the spot smeared with the salve. The third had developed an ulcerated condition, leaving a hole in the skin, after the medicine was injected under its skin.

Other Witnesses Heard.

Throughout the day the medical committee heard testimony from persons who had experience with the Tilton remedies through the convent clinic: An aged man who took the medicines, despite violent suffering which followed, until he could not walk; a woman who paid $300 for the treatment for her husband and now is watching him sink toward death; a widow and her daughter, both in mourning; a woman who had paid $100 for a "cure" and hadn't got it, and others.

Felix Augustine, 3048 Milwaukee avenue, testified that his sister, Blanche Berenice Augustine, went to the clinic last Oct. 16.

"One of the sisters applied black salve and said, 'Now if that gets white, it's cancer,'" he testified. "It did. My sister cried, and the sister said, 'Don't cry. Cancer is easily cured.'".

He identified receipts for $180 signed by Sister Wenscelaus. In all his sister had paid $200, he said, but on going to other physicians learned she did not have cancer.

Extend Treatment, Claim.

After Mrs. Mary Zebrowski, 1214 North Damen avenue, had been taking the Tilton treatments a month, Tilton told her, she testified, that she would be cured in another three weeks.

"I said I didn't have $150," she testified, "so Sister Wenscelaus said, 'We'll do it for you for $100, but don't tell any one.' 'Will it cure?' I asked her. 'O, yes,' she said, and showed me her hand, which had been cured, she said."

Sister Wenscelaus testified that she had paid Dr. Duffy some of the money he received from the clinic, always in cash, in return for examining new patients, over a period from last August to February.

Sister Reports "Cures."

Sister Wenscelaus denied that the fees were split three ways, saying that there was no regular agreement, but that of her own initiative she paid Dr. Duffy about 10 per cent of fees after a patient had completed paying. The rest, she said, went to the expenses of the clinic, including salaries to the sisters, which were given at once to the convent.

Dr. M. L. Harris, chairman of the committee, asked Sister Wenscelaus to name any patients cured at the clinic. She named herself, explaining later she had met Tilton in the Great Northern hotel. Asked for others, she named a Mrs. Margaret Althaler, 5353 North Winchester avenue, and a Mrs. M. Maloney, 7324 Yates avenue. Questioning revealed two of the three cured cases had skin cancers.

PLAN TO REORGANIZE FOUR TOLEDO BANKS THAT CLOSED DOORS

Toledo, O., Aug. 20.—(AP)—Word that Toledo's closed banks will be given an opportunity to reorganize was given today to depositors who have more than $80,000,000 tied up in four institutions.

The announcement was made by Theodore H. Tangeman, state director of commerce, who is here as Gov. George White's representative in an investigation of the financial situation.

The Union Savings and Trust company of Warren, O., was closed today to conserve its assets. The bank had deposits June 30 of $3,225,504 and total resources of $4,674,741.

North Henderson Bank Closes.

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 20.—(AP)—The Farmers Bank of North Henderson closed yesterday, the state auditor announced today.

FIND $1,000,000 OF COUNTY FUNDS IN BAIN BANKS

$900,000 Unsecured but Called Preferred.

The twelve defunct Bain banks are holding $1,000,000 of county tax funds, of which $900,000 is unsecured. This was disclosed yesterday as the state's attorney's office began examination of the banks' books in a search for violations of the state banking laws in their management.

EDWARD McCABE.

The county money was collected by the banks as sub-agents for the county treasurer. Tax anticipation warrants have been issued against these collections. Edward McCabe, deputy county treasurer, said since this money has not been officially turned over to the county it is classed as a preferred deposit and on final liquidation of the banks the county will be paid before other creditors.

$350,000 in Park Funds.

Irwin T. Gilruth, receiver for the banks, said the banks hold $350,000 in south park board funds, which are protected by bond. The banks hold small amounts of city funds also secured by bond, City Controller M. S. Szymczak said.

Assistant State's Attorneys Henry E. Ayers and Voyle Johnson began an examination of the banks' books with the aid of two auditors. Because of the shortage of auditors the investigation is expected to be carried on for weeks.

Bain Depositors Meet.

Depositors of the Bain banks met last night in the field house of Ogden Park. William Steltzer of the depositors' committee of the Chicago Lawn and West Lawn banks, was elected president of the central depositors' committee. James V. Cunningham of the depositors' committee of the Brainerd State bank was elected vice president, and Henry Bannema of the depositors' committee of the West Englewood Trust and Savings bank, was elected secretary-treasurer.

State's Attorney Swanson sent a letter to State Auditor Oscar Nelson requesting detailed reports on any suspicious facts which the latter has uncovered in connection with any banks closed in the county.

Wants Detailed Reports.

"I shall very greatly appreciate a detailed report of all questionable transactions by officers, employés, or any person in the conduct of the affairs of the banks closed by you in Cook county," Mr. Swanson wrote, "as well as any violation of the banking laws, including the evidence pertaining thereto which has been discovered by your department or by the receivers or attorneys appointed by you."

Mr. Nelson promised every coöperation. A short time later Nelson held out hope that John Bain, his son and affiliated companies, who borrowed $2,000,000 from the Bain banks, would be able to make good the amount. Bain is an honest man, Nelson said, and if his friends could raise the money they could take his real estate as security.

An involuntary petition of bankruptcy was filed in the federal District court against John Bain, Inc., a real estate holding company, by Helen, Arthur and Ethel Spencer, who hold promissory notes totaling $700. They charge the company with giving preference to other creditors.

5 FOREMANS SUED FOR $4,150,000 BY 2 NEW YORK BANKS

The praecipes of two suits totaling $4,150,000 were filed in the Superior court yestreday against five members of the Foreman family, all directors of the defunct Foreman State National bank. The defendants are Oscar G., Harold E., Gerhard, Alfred K., and Edwin G. Foreman Jr. A $2,400,000 praecipe was brought by the Chase National bank of New York and another of $1,750,000 by the Guaranty Trust company of New York.

"The indebtedness was incurred by the Foremans in the early fall of 1929 in connection with the consolidation of the State bank with the Foreman bank," Harold Foreman said in a statement issued on filing of the suits. "This consolidation was deemed desirable from the standpoint of both institutions, and in order to make it possible the Foremans personally financed the purchase of a substantial block of State bank stock. To bring this about they borrowed over $5,000,000, in connection with which borrowing notes were given to the companies bringing suit."

A bill to enforce stockholders' liabilities was filed in the Superior court against the defunct Sheridan Trust and Savings bank by Marcus A. Peiser and 165 other depositors. The bank closed June 8.

FIVE OFFICIALS OF BOND HOUSE INDICTED BY U.S.

W. J. Moore Is Named by Boston Jury.

Five officials of the American Bond and Mortgage company, including President William J. Moore and Vice President Harold A. Moore, were indicted yesterday by a federal grand jury in Boston on charges of using the mails to defraud.

WM. J. MOORE. [Wallinger Photo.]

The others named in indictments are Charles C. Moore and Hayden W. Ward, also vice presidents, and Kenneth W. Moore, secretary. Their company, which sold more than $200,000,000 in building mortgage bonds from headquarters in Chicago and New York, is now in receivership.

Overt Act Is Cited.

A specific overt act charged was the sale of a $500 bond, now defaulted, on the Pelham Hall apartments in Brookline, Mass., one of an issue that reached a total of $946,000.

Harold A. Moore, who was treasurer of the company at the time the alleged illegal act was committed, is the man who filed a $500,000 libel suit in July against E. Haldeman-Julius, publisher of Girard, Kas., for linking the name of Charles Curtis, Vice President of the United States, "in a defamatory manner" with the bond company's financing of the Mayflower hotel in Washington. Mr. Curtis occupies a ten room suite in the hotel, for which he paid, according to Haldeman-Julius, only $5.50 a day. The hotel management declared he paid more, but did not state the amount.

In the Moore suit it was alleged that Mr. Curtis was not acquainted with William J. Moore or any of his sons.

Assails Grounds for Action.

Harold A. Moore, in commenting yesterday on the indictment by the federal grand jury in Boston, said:

"If the government has adopted the policy of basing indictments on failure of property to meet its bonded debt, then it is entirely possible that other indictments will be returned in New York on similar grounds. If such a fact constitutes grounds for indictment, then every person engaged in real estate financing in recent years is subject to the same charges."

TEXAS 'TRAYLOR FOR PRESIDENT' RALLY TONIGHT

Ballinger, Tex., Aug. 20.—(AP)—At least five thousand west Texans are expected here tomorrow night for a "Traylor for president" rally, boosting Melvin A. Traylor, Chicago financier and former Ballinger banker, for the Democratic nomination for President.

Large delegations are to attend from several cities, including San Angelo, which will be represented by a number of its civic leaders.

Paul Trimmier, Runnels county judge and president of the local Traylor club, will preside. The principal address will be by Judge B. B. Stone, of Fort Worth.

BATTLE IN COURTS TO COLLECT REWARD IN NEIMOTH CASE

Baltimore, Md., Aug. 20.—(AP)—A fight over the reward offered for the arrest and conviction of William Neimoth and other members of the group of robbers who perpetrated the Henry Sonneborn & Co. $46,673.69 pay roll holdup on Oct. 1, 1926, reached Circuit court for settlement today.

The matter was placed before the court by the United States Fidelity and Guaranty company, surety concern, that had insured the pay roll. The five claimants for the reward for Neimoth's arrest and conviction were named as defendants. They are Robert Speller, Negro; Mrs. Emily Wilson Brown, Frederick H. Bock, and two Chicago police lieutenants, Joseph Ronan and a Lieut. Birmingham.

The insurance concern revealed in its proceedings that it is ready to pay one-fourth of the total reward, or $625.

While the company had offered a $2,500 reward for the arrest and conviction of the robbers, Neimoth was the only one arrested and tried for the robbery by Baltimore authorities, it was pointed out.

Neimoth, a Chicago "public enemy," is now serving a 20 year term in the state penitentiary here.

FIGHT IN COURT OVER PATERNITY OF GROSS BABY

Million Dollar Battle Launched.

A struggle for a million dollar trust fund, which has been waged for several years in the courts of Illinois, New York, and France by Capt. Christian Channing Gross and Mrs. Virginia Harrison Gross, was renewed yesterday before Judge Joseph B. David. Mrs. Gross is a daughter of former Senator Burton Harrison, one time secretary general of the Philippines. Attorney Thomas Hart Fisher, representing Mrs. Gross, appeared to declare that a divorce decree granted to Capt. Gross on charges of desertion in Nevada must be modified to conform to a Los Angeles court decision rendered in May. The higher court had ordered that a paragraph in the decree, providing that a money agreement made previously by the Grosses was null and void, be stricken out.

As to the Children.

Also, Mr. Fisher requested that the decree, granted in Superior court by John Sonnett, be further modified as to the custody of the children, Barbara and Peter, who were born to the couple. The original decree gave both to the father. Mr. Fisher's motion was to change the custody arrangements so that Capt. Gross and his wife should alternate as custodians of the youngsters.

Judge David signed. A little later Attorney Robert E. Cantwell Jr. appeared to demand that Judge David make his decision in the matter. Addressing the court, he alleged that his client, Capt. Gross, a member of the American diplomatic service stationed at Ottawa, Canada, had discovered recently a third child, Anna, had been born to Mrs. Gross three years ago and that there was grave doubt as to the child's paternity.

May Be Gross's Heir.

The girl, Attorney Cantwell said, was variously known as Anna Gross and Anna de Zayas. He added that a charge of adultery had been placed against Mrs. Gross and Marius de Zayas in Grenoble, France. De Zayas was described as a Mexican, resident in Passau, an artist or an antiquq dealer.

On the court's decision will depend the fortune of the child, to some extent. The attorney said that if she is declared the progeny of Capt. Gross, he intends to make her heir to a third part of the trust fund of a million dollars.

One of the statements made by Attorney Cantwell was that the diplomat was not even aware of Anna's existence until she was nearly three years old. She was born, he said, after the couple separated in Paris in 1927.

Capt. Gross, the attorney said, does not deny fatherhood of the child, but merely wants a ruling on the point.

Judge Will Hear Gross.

Judge David, after hearing the statement, vacated his earlier order and agreed to hear Capt. Gross and other witnesses.

Anna is said now to be with her mother in an 18th century château outside Grenoble. Mrs. Gross is reported to supplement her ample income—she inherited a million and a half dollars from her mother, Mrs. Mabel Crocker Harrison, an heir to the California Crocker wealth—by raising chickens for the big restaurants in Paris.

He hasn't all that money left. Something like half of it was turned over to Capt. Gross during the more liquable portion of their married life and forms the basis of the million dollar trust fund which is in litigation. The trust fund is held by the Bowery Loan and Trust company, which has been absorbed by the National City bank in New York.

Must Return Part of Money.

According to Attorney Fisher, the couple's claims to this money as a dowry has been definitely defeated in the New York, and he has been ordered by the court to turn over the income from $250,000 of it to Mrs. Gross and to make a will leaving her that amount of principal when he dies.

Court records from New York show that Capt. Gross signed an agreement to this on Jan. 19, 1931, and that Justice Peter Schmuck of the New York Supreme court on May 22, 1931, ordered it carried out. This has not yet been done, it is said, the trustees failing to straighten out the affair, as it has been handled in various courts.

The troubles of the Grosses are of long duration. They were married in 1921, when Mrs. Gross was only 17 years old. She had been reared in French convent schools and in fashionable boarding schools in the United States. They parted in 1927, according to statements made previously.

It appears to be admitted by both sides that Capt. Gross had agreed to turn over to his wife the $250,000 on demand, taking it from the $850,000 trust fund. This has been fought in the courts by Capt. Gross, who alleges that it was not what he signed.

Nevertheless the courts in New York have upheld this agreement. The judgment of Justice Schmuck on May 22 indicated a belief of all concerned that the captain and Mrs. Gross were the parents only of two children. It stated:

"No child now living, except Peter Channing Gross and Barbara Gross, who are the only living children of plaintiff and defendant, has or shall have any claim upon defendant Christian Gross for support or inheritance."

Custody of the Children.

In his motion yesterday Attorney Fisher asked that the modification as to custody be made in such a manner that Mrs. Gross should have the children during the vacation season, four months beginning on June 1 each year, and that the diplomat should have them the other eight months, while they are in school.

Justice Schmuck had ordered that this be done to make the court action in Chicago correspond to that in New York.

Mr. Cantwell indicated that he had no objection to the striking out of mention of the "agreement null and void" in the divorce decree, but would fight to have the captain keep custody of both children and of little Anna, too, if she is his child.

A message from Capt. Gross in Ottawa was read in court. He stated that he was asking leave to come here and tell his story, and requested that "De Zayas and his companion," as well as the 3 year old child, be brought to Chicago so the court could learn all the facts.

Tells of Quarrel with Japanese

Miss Mary Reissner, former chorus girl, who accompanied Hisashi Fujimura, wealthy Japanese importer and his daughter, on trip on liner Belgenland on which he disappeared, being assisted from elevator in federal building in New York. She will repeat her story to the grand jury Monday.

TWENTY DINERS FAIL TO NOTICE CAFE ROBBERY

While twenty patrons sat unsuspectingly at tables, two bandits entered the Dickson grill, in the basement of the Wrigley building annex, 410 North Michigan avenue, last evening, and robbed the manager and a cashier of $335 in cash and $18 in checks.

The victims were Miss Ora Dickson, the manager, and Miss Lillian Thornton, 927 Wilson avenue, the cashier. Both were at the cashier's desk when the robbers appeared. The gunmen quietly told them their mission, and warned that death would follow any outcry.

NO ONE REPLIES TO 5,000 LETTERS FROM ASSESSOR

Assessor John E. Conroy, secretary of the board, announced yesterday he had not received a single answer to more than 5,000 special delivery letters demanding that banks, stock brokers, clubs, pawnshop owners, and automobile finance companies furnish information for personal property taxes. He added, however, that he was proceeding with an effort to assess all personal property in the county.

A new series of letters directed to hotels and apartment houses, whose personal property schedules have been exceptionally low, will be sent today, he said.

"Many hotels of 300 and 400 rooms have put in schedules as low as $2,500. This must halt. We will assess them at our own valuation if they refuse to come in and post proper schedules," Conroy declared.

A dozen clerks were busy yesterday compiling lists of yachts and lake ships which will be assessed for the first time in the history of the county. A list of all the registered aircraft in Cook county has been sought through the government bureau of aeronautics.

LEOPOLD IN NEW PRISON JOB; HE CLEANS UP YARD

Nathan Leopold, who with Richard Loeb is serving a life sentence for the murder of Bobby Franks, is assigned to a new detail at Stateville prison, it was learned last night.

His duties consist of walking through the penitentiary yards, picking up stray bits of paper and other objects blown in by the wind or dropped by convicts. In army camps this work is known as "police detail." More than 100 other men are engaged in the same occupation. Previous to his new assignment, Leopold served as a water boy.

Reports stated that Leopold had been appointed foreman of the detail, but jail officials hastened to point out this was erroneous, explaining no convicts are placed in charge of fellow inmates. In his outdoor duties, Leopold, it was said, might occasionally meet Loeb, but no more frequently than before.

RICH JAPANESE TOSSED IN SEA, U. S. AGENTS SAY

Ship's Crew to Be Quizzed in Hunt for Clew.

New York, Aug. 19.—(AP)—Federal investigators announced today their conviction that Hisashi Fujimura, wealthy Japanese importer, who was missing when the liner Belgenland docked here Friday morning, had been thrown into the sea.

They expressed confidence they will get clews to who was responsible for the killing when the Belgenland returns tomorrow from another cruise.

Members of the crew will be questioned and the radio operator will be ordered to produce his file of messages sent and received by the missing man.

Harry C. E. Melick, Fujimura's attorney, revealed his client carried at least $290,000 worth of life insurance. The day before he sailed on the Belgenland, he made Mrs. Fujimura beneficiary of a $20,000 policy taken out last spring, at which time he also bought a $50,000 policy.

Mr. Lumbard said he had been unable to learn whether any of Mr. Fujimura's insurance named Miss Reissner, who accompanied him and his daughter on the cruise, as beneficiary.

3 U. S. Agents Help Solve Crime.

The department of justice today assigned three of its agents to aid in an attempt to solve the mystery of the missing importer.

It was contended the inquiry was being conducted on the supposition a homicide had occurred and that the Belgenland was being operated by American agents for a British steamship company.

The case will go to the grand jury Monday when Miss Mary Reissner, who accompanied Fujimura and his little daughter on the six day cruise to Halifax, will be questioned again.

Girl Tells Her Story.

Last night the young woman, once a chorus girl, spent six hours in the office of Assistant United States Attorney Lumbard sobbing out her story.

She denied she had gone on the trip as governess for the child.

"We had a suite," she said. "He and his daughter had one room. I had an adjoining room. We quarreled the night he disappeared. He didn't want me to go to a party in the ship's salon."

The party was in charge of Mrs. Mildred Harris Chaplin, ship's hostess, who told investigators she knew Miss Reissner only casually.

The former actress said she went to the party in spite of the importer's objections.

Child Born to His Wife.

Norwalk, Conn., Aug. 20.—(AP)—While preparations were being made for a federal grand jury investigation into the disappearance of her husband, Mrs. Hisashi Fujimura today gave birth to a daughter at her home here.

Last Friday, when a check-up of passengers aboard the liner Belgenland first revealed that the wealthy Japanese silk importer was missing, a 3 year old daughter of the couple died in Lutheran hospital, New York.

BOTH SIDES IN FACTOR CASE AID ACCUSED YOUTH

United States Commissioner Edwin K. Walker yesterday appointed opposing counsel in the extradition case of John [Jake the Barber] Factor as attorneys for a 17 year old orphan charged with transporting a stolen automobile from Texas.

The youth, Wayne Rogers of Sweetwater, Tex., who is married, wanted to waive his removal hearing, but the commissioner declared the defendant should have the benefit of counsel. Attorneys G. Gale Gilbert for Factor and Franklin R. Overmeyer for the British crown asked leniency for the youth. He rented the car and came to Chicago looking for work, intending to pay for it, they said.

The case was continued until Aug. 26, and as the youth left on his own recognizance, Factor handed him $50 in bills.

AIRPLANE NURSERY TAKES 3 CHILDREN ACROSS CONTINENT

New York, Aug. 20.—(AP)—The Price children of San Diego, Cal., passed through town today, perhaps the best natured and least wearied trio of tots ever to complete a transcontinental journey.

The children and their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edmund T. Price, arrived in the Price plane, which had been fitted up like a flying nursery with toys and games and big easy chairs that pull out to make cots.

"I'm sure it's quite the easiest way to travel with children," Mrs. Price said. "It's much less strain on the children than a train journey and I know I feel much fresher than I would if I'd had them to care for on a train. We have flown only seven hours a day, so it never got tiring."

After lunch the Prices and their children, Mitzi, 9, Charles 7, and Joan, 3, climbed back into the aeronautical playroom and flew away for New Bedford, Mass., the destination of their vacation flight.

Wedding bells will ring once more for Mrs. Emma Martin, 80 years old, 6821 South Wabash avenue, and Norville Williams, 86 years old of Niles.

The couple were first married on Aug. 30, 1868, and after living together harmoniously for twenty-nine years, they had their differences which culminated in a divorce in 1897. Their five children had married by then and raised families of their own.

Finding single blessedness irksome, the two married again—the wife in 1914 and Williams in 1915. The former Mrs. Williams, now Mrs. Martin, lived happily with her second husband until he died two years ago. Williams' second wife died this year.

Get License to Remarry.

Yesterday the couple appeared at the county building and obtained a license to remarry.

"Our children and grandchildren and great and great-great grandchildren brought us together again," Williams said, beaming at Deputy Frank Taubler in the license bureau. "I liked my second wife, but Emma was my first love and I never forgot her."

"We were always sorry we ever divorced," Mrs. Martin said. "We were young then and made a mountain of a molehill, but now that we are mature we will overlook any little squabbles we may have." Williams nodded his assent.

Ceremony Set for Tomorrow.

Some one asked when they would be married.

"It will be Saturday afternoon," Williams said, "but we don't know where yet. Our children are attending to that."

Mrs. Martin, a bright eyed, ruddy faced little woman, lives alone in a small cottage. Williams, who worked as a carpenter, lives in the house he built in Niles twenty years ago. The couple have agreed that they will spend their summers in his home at Niles and the winters in her cottage in the city.

ZION MINISTER IS FOUND GUILTY OF TRESPASSING

The Rev. C. F. Caldwell, Zion, self-titled head of the Christian Catholic Apostolic Church of Zion and who claims to be the rightful successor to Dr. Alexander Dowie, founder of the Zionist religious movement, in place of Wilbur Glenn Voliva, was found guilty of trespassing by a jury in Judge Perry L. Parsons' Lake county court yesterday. Attorney Charles E. Mason, retained by Caldwell, said he would appeal.

Caldwell was arrested several weeks ago when he held religious meetings in a tent he had erected on the property of the Frederick H. Bartlett Realty company just outside of Zion. The property had been sold to the realty company by Voliva.

DR. ROBERTSON, POLITICIAN FOR 2 DECADES, DIES

Heart Attack Is Fatal at Summer Home.

Dr. John Dill Robertson, a picturesque figure in Chicago politics for nearly two decades, died yesterday at his summer residence, Dill-Crest, at Fontana on Lake Geneva, Wis. The cause of death was angina pectoris, an acute form of heart trouble.

Dr. Robertson's last public office was that of president of the west park board, to which he was appointed by Len Small. Prior to that time he had been commissioner of health and president of the board of education under a former Republican mayor.

Ran for Mayor in 1927.

More recently he attracted considerable attention as an independent candidate for mayor in the election of 1927. He ran on a "smash crime rings" platform unsuccessfully and renewed his slogan and his activities against crime as one of the leading supporters of Municipal Judge John H. Lyle in the Republican primary last April. For years he had been a close associate of Fred Lundin.

Dr. Robertson had been confined to his bed at his Chicago residence, 1410 West Monroe street, for several months. He had not been entirely well, his relatives said, since last March when he was knocked down by Sidney S. Gorham, former president of the Chicago Bar association, during a state senate committee hearing at Springfield.

Shaken Up by Blow.

When the physician returned to Chicago the following day he said he had not entirely recovered from the blow, which struck him on the side of the head.

"Because I have a weak heart, the blow shook me up pretty badly," he said at that time. "I don't feel right yet."

Two months later friends of Dr. Robertson were surprised by an announcement of his marriage on May 2 to Miss Helen Remy Hughes, his secretary for nine years. His first wife, who was Bessie M. Foote, died on Feb. 9, 1930. They were married in 1899.

Dr. Robertson was 60 years old. He was born in Pennsylvania and as a young man was a telegraph operator at various points in the middle west. When he came to Chicago he entered Bennett Medical college in 1896.

Founded Medical College.

He served as interne at the Cook county hospital and was appointed surgeon at the institution in 1898, and retained that position until 1913. He organized the American College of Medicine and Surgery in 1900, and was its president when it became the medical department of Loyola university. From 1904 to 1915 he was surgeon in chief of the Jefferson Park Policlinic hospital.

The physician's death was unexpected, as it had been reported he was on the road to recovery when he went to his summer home less than two weeks ago. But there was a severe heart attack shortly after midnight. Mrs. Robertson summoned the dying man's son, Dr. Thomas Sanderson Robertson, from the Jefferson Park hospital, but death occurred about 3:30 a. m.

On behalf of the Robertson family, Otto Berx announced last night that the funeral services and the interment will be at Acacia Park cemetery tomorrow afternoon. Both, he said, will be private.

Two Youths Rescued as Canoe Upsets in Lake

Robert Guenther, 16 years old, 3627 Pine Grove avenue, and Charles Heideman, 17 years old, 720 Waveland avenue, were rescued by the central coast guard crew when their canoe overturned in the lake off Diversey avenue yesterday. The youths had paddled a mile and a half from shore when their craft filled with water and overturned.

SANITARY BOARD SLICES 2 WEEKS' PAY OFF OF 1,400

Action Saves $190,561; Trustees Cut.

The board of the sanitary district yesterday ordered deduction of two weeks' pay from each of the 1,400 employés of the district, including the trustees. The cut is to be distributed over the remainder of the year, and will effect an estimated saving of $190,561.

THOS. J. BOWLER

Two jobs were eliminated — that of superintendent of employment, held by Joseph Honan at $500 a month, and that of assistant public relations counsel, held by John Ickes at $300 a month. Heads of departments were further directed by the trustees to reduce payrolls wherever possible. Only Howard W. Elmore of the nine trustees opposed the measure, Trustee J. L. Friedman was absent.

$1,680,000 Bonds Sold.

Construction bonds in the amount of $1,680,000 were sold to the First Union Trust and Savings bank. The bid was $1,604,215. The bonds are solely for construction purposes.

The salary cut was not dictated by any impending deficit, according to Thomas J. Bowler president of the board of trustees. "The district is within its budget and under no circumstances will there be a deficit for the year," he said, "but the trustees feel that the district should follow the general trend toward reduction of expenses with a view to reducing taxes."

The resolution of the board of trustees was as follows:

Text of Resolution.

"In view of the necessity of conservation of finances and with the disposition to cooperate toward that end, it is the sense of the trustees of the sanitary district of Chicago that the respective department heads of said district are hereby directed and authorized wherever consistent and possible to make an effort to reduce man power.

"It is further the sense of the board that an amount equivalent to two weeks' salary be deducted from the salaries of the employés and trustees; and said deduction to be made at intervals over a period extending to Jan. 1, 1932."

IN HOSPITAL

POLA NEGRI.

Santa Monica, Cal., Aug. 20.—(AP)—Pola Negri, motion picture actress, was stricken with acute appendicitis at her beach home today and was ordered to a hospital by her physician, Dr. Leo J. Madsen. He said an operation would not be performed pending developments.

YOUTH IS KILLED AS MOTORCYCLE HITS AUTOMOBILE

Victim Son of Historical Society Secretary.

Henry Sudlow, 17 years old, son of Mrs. Blanche Sudlow, secretary of the Chicago Historical society, was fatally injured yesterday afternoon when the motorcycle which he was riding crashed into the side of an automobile at Forest avenue and 11th street, Wilmette. He died at the Evanston hospital a few hours later.

Robert Long, 16 years old, 624 Willow road, Winnetka, who was riding with Sudlow, was seriously hurt. He, too, was taken to the hospital, but it was not expected that his injuries would prove fatal.

Cycle Strikes Auto.

The two boys were west bound in Forest avenue, with Sudlow, who lived at 453 Winnetka avenue, Winnetka, driving. Their motorcycle struck the car of Mrs. Louise Carlson, 118 Oxford road, Kenilworth, who was driving north in 11th street. Mrs. Carlson, whose husband, Arthur B. Carlson, is vice president of the Johnson-Carlson company, leather goods, 848 Eastman street, was released after being questioned by the police.

This death with six others brought the Cook county toll for 1931 to 720. The other victims:

Margaret Vondras, 3 years old, 4631 West 19th street, Cicero, fatally injured last night when she was struck by an automobile driven by R. J. Martin, 355 South Cicero avenue, at 15th street and Cicero avenue, Cicero. She died in the Frances Willard hospital. Martin was held by the Cicero police for the inquest.

Frank Hloucal, 38 years old, 2138 South Washtenaw avenue. Died at St. Anthony's hospital from injuries sustained Sunday night when the automobile he was driving crashed into an elevated pillar at 32d street and California avenue. His infant son, Frank Jr., 9 months old, and Elinor Hauppa, 11 months old, were instantly killed. His wife, Mary, was hurt and Mrs. Anna Hauppa, also of the Washtenaw avenue address, still is in the hospital suffering from a fracture of the skull.

Mrs. Marie Knudsen, 70 years old, 4111 Potomac avenue. Died at the Des Plaines emergency hospital from internal injuries suffered earlier in the day when the automobile of Edward Bosemer, who lived with her and with whom she was riding, struck that of William Sloan of Prairie View at Mannheim and Higgins roads. Neither driver was hurt.

George Crocker, 52 years old, 5100 Kenwood avenue. Found dead at home supposedly from injuries suffered when he was knocked down by a taxicab at Cottage Grove avenue and 63d street Tuesday.

The taxi driver took Crocker to the Woodlawn hospital, but he insisted that he had escaped serious injury and went home. Yesterday he was found dead in his bed. The name of the taxi driver was not learned.

Edward Godney, 16 years old, 1410 Luce street. Died at the county hospital from injuries suffered Wednesday when he was run down at Blackhawk and Noble streets. Frank Gerlong, 1742 West North avenue, the driver, was not held.

Eleanor Estras, 3 years old, 10035 Exchange avenue. Died at the South Chicago hospital from a skull fracture suffered Wednesday when struck by a sedan at Commercial avenue and 100th street. Kurt Johnson, 10253 Commercial avenue, the driver, was not held.

Henry Bruner, 40 years old, of Deerfield, Ill., died yesterday at the Highland Park hospital from injuries suffered Aug. 14, when his automobile hit a motor bus on Waukegan road, near Deerfield.

Alisco Cellini, 52 years old, of Steger, Ill., was probably fatally hurt when a sedan struck him on the sidewalk after a collision with another car in South Chicago Heights.

Edward T. Bennett, his mother, Mrs. Helen Bennett, and Mrs. F. T. Leonard, all of 5118 Winnemac avenue, were injured in an automobile collision near Coldwater, Mich., late yesterday. Their car crashed with that of F. A. Fields of Goshen, Ind. The three Chicagoans are in a hospital at Coldwater where it was said all would recover. The Indiana man was not injured.

13 PERSONS INJURED IN TRIPLE CRASH OF CARS ON SAFETY ISLE

Thirteen persons were injured, two of them seriously, last night when an automobile containing eight young men and women, returning from a loop theater, crashed into a safety island in the center drive in Lincoln park, 150 feet north of Fullerton avenue, and caromed into two other machines.

All were treated at the Columbus Memorial hospital. Nine of the injured received lacerations and bruises. Four others suffered more serious hurts. The two badly hurt, and who may die, are Chin Yen Too, 42 years old, 144 West 22d street, and Chin Ming Yam, 64, of 211 West 22d street, Chinese.

The accident occurred when a car driven north by Fred D. Stone Jr., 27 years old, 3809 North Keeler avenue, son of the pastor of the Irving Park Methodist church, crashed into the safety island as Stone tried to pass another car. He and seven others in the machine were hurt. Stone's automobile veered into a south bound car containing the two Chinese and their companions, Mah Chin and Tom Chin, both of 2132 South La Salle street, injuring all four. It then hit a second car containing George Peters, 2829 Pine Grove avenue, his wife, their daughter and a friend. Peters was slightly hurt.

Bomber of Howard St. 'L' Yards Is Freed in Court

John Graff, an engineer for the school board, who admitted bombing the Howard street terminal of the Rapid Transit company recently because the noise of the trains kept tenants from renting apartments in his building at 7750 Haskins avenue, was discharged yesterday when he was arraigned before Judge John J. Rooney in the Felony court. Attorney J. J. Miller of the Rapid Transit company told the court that investigation showed that Graff had acted in anger and said he favored the release. Judge Rooney warned Graff to behave himself in the future.

FOUND DEAD IN POOL.

Jay H. Fishman, 25 years old, 180 North Cicero avenue, was found dead yesterday in the swimming pool of the West Side Y. M. C. A., 1515 West Monroe street, a few minutes after he had plunged into the water. It was the opinion of the management of the building that he died of heart disease rather than of drowning.

MOTOR TROUBLE AND STORM HOLD LINDYS AT ISLE

BULLETIN.

NEMURO, Japan, Aug. 21.—Friday.—(AP)—A wireless to the communications department today said Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh's monoplane had arrived at Muroton Bay, Shimushiru island, 15 miles southwest of Ketoi, in tow of the Japanese steamer Shimushiru Maru.

TOKIO, Aug. 21.—[Friday.]—(AP)—A message to the department of communications from Flight Lieut. Yoshio Tanaka at Nemuro today said a combination of carburetor trouble and unfavorable weather probably will keep Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh at Ketoi island, in the central Kuriles, for some time.

for some time. Dense fog continues to cloak the islands.

Lieut. Tanaka messaged, "There is very little hope of repairing the Lindbergs' motor in a short time."

The flight officer did not state the origin of his information, but presumably it was given him by the government steamer, Shimushiru Maru, which has been standing by the plane since twelve hours after it was forced down late Wednesday in the "black hole" of the Kurile archipelago.

PE FOR PEACE TODAY AT NEW MOVIE PARLEY

ctions Reported to Be Near Terms.

ports that the movie operators and theater owners might come to greement whereby union labor would reopen 100 closed houses to ork, were seen at the close of a ong hour conference last night.

The mediation was of a closer nature than any before attempted, and at 10 o'clock this morning State's Attorney Swanson will meet with Thomas E. Maloy, business agent of the president of the Allied Theaters Owners of Illinois, in another try for amity.

Houses Ready to Open.

This talking, the owners declare they will show films tonight with New York operators imported by plane to take the places of the Chicago unionists. The theaters closed because the owners said they could not continue to pay two operators each shift—an overhead item of from $180 to $350 weekly. The operators say they have a contract to that effect which still has five months to run. The owners deny any such agreement exists.

It was about this that the conference last night revolved. It was a stormy affair punctuated by shouts and table poundings which came from behind a closed door in Mr. Swanson's office in the county building.

Proposals Are Announced.

At 9:30 the conferees emerged and announced the nature of their negotiations. Briefly, it is this:

The theater owners would agree to employ two operators each shift but would pay them only half salaries.

They would agree to a survey by an impartial commission which would determine whether two operators are needed and, if so, what "fair" salary they should receive. This was Saperstein's suggestion.

The union, through Maloy, would agree to the appointment of a commission, but any findings it makes would not be put into effect until Jan. 1, 1932, when the contract it claims now would expire. The union would agree to a 50 per cent wage cut in lieu of the owners' proposal of last night advance a lesser cut this spring.

Swanson May Name Board.

The belief of nonparticipants was that if an agreement is reached today, it will embody substantially what has been outlined, but that the wage cut will be from 25 to 50 per cent. Both sides seemed friendly toward the suggestion that if a survey commission is appointed, its membership should be selected by Mr. Swanson.

Mr. Swanson was not present at the meeting, his assistants, Charles Shaw and C. E. Lounsbury, acting as advisers. Maloy was assisted by James Reynolds, president of his union, and Saperstein had a member of his executive committee, Fred Gillett, with him.

Mr. Saperstein left the meeting declaring that he would open his theaters tonight with or without union help. This morning Chief Inspector Hugh Coglon of the city bureau of gas and electricity plans to hold a special examination for the New York operators in the city hall to certify the credentials of those whose qualifications have been received by wire, so that they may enter the projecting booths legally tonight.

All Houses to Reopen.

But if these are not all completed, Theater president said, he will open his houses anyway. "They can't arrest them all the men are employed," he said. "They can only hand us arrest slips for violating a city ordinance. You can't close a line of business for that kind of an ordinance violation."

While the conference went on, James Burke, secretary of the theatrical workers' union, sat outside waiting for Maloy. He said his organization would meet this morning if no agreement is reached—an announcement taken to mean that the janitors would declare a sympathy strike.

The operators, Maloy said, were considering two courses of action, if peace talks fail, both suggested by their attorneys, Thomas D. Nash and Michael Ahern. The first was appealing to the courts, citing an Oklahoma case and asserting that nonunion help be employed while an agreement is still unsettled. A southwestern judge so held in that case, the operators say is a similar one. The Chicago owners have always contended that there was no legal reason forcing their members to hire union men.

The second step would be to attempt to collect back office receipts of those theaters which owe operators back wages.

The operators met yesterday morning in the Capitol building. State and Randolph streets, and voted unanimously to stand by their "contract" with the owners and also voted confidence in Maloy.

As the Capitol building meeting convened police from the racket bureau of the state's attorney's office arrested Joe Mace for questioning about the murder of Jacob Kauffman, motion picture operator, killed, it was said, because he "knew too much." Mace was taken to the office and quizzed by Mr. Lounsbury, but was later released.

Opera Stars to Sing at Festival

FAMOUS SINGERS

BY EDWARD MOORE.

Grand opera is lending its glamour to the glories already assembled for the Chicagoland Music Festival at Soldiers' field tomorrow night. To the reverberating peal of concert band, prize winning band, massed band, to the thumping rhythm of drum corps, to the gladsome melody of Negro chorus, prize winning chorus, massed chorus, now comes the climax of two famous voices from the Chicago Civic Opera company. They are Hilda Burke, soprano, and Giacomo Rimini, baritone.

Mr. Rimini, though by no means venerable in the matter of years, is a veteran of the operatic stage. He has been a member of the Chicago Opera in continuous service since 1915, and during this time he has manged to appear as well in most of the famous opera houses of other nations in Europe and South America. He counts the rôles at his command not by dozens but literally by scores and hundreds. In fact, there is hardly an opera in the current répertoire with whose first baritone part he is not thoroughly familiar.

Famous in Great Rôles.

Those who have attended the Chicago Opera performance at all regularly will remember his marvelous Falstaff in the great Verdi opera of the same name, his Figaro in "The Barber of Seville," his Escamillo in "Carmen," and many other notable characterizations of the same order. And those who have heard him in opera will not need to be told that in private life he is the husband of another famous artist, Rosa Raisa, the dramatic soprano, and the father of the young Rosa Giulietta, who became a resident of Chicago and of the world about a month ago.

Miss Burke is a younger figure in opera, having joined the Chicago company three years ago. She made her debut in the name part of "Aida," and has successfully appeared in "Lohengrin," "Don Giovanni," and other works of the organization's répertoire. During the present summer she made a brilliant reputation for herself as the operatic life saver of Ravinia, having been found ready to come in at a late hour and without rehearsal when another soprano was ill and give brilliant performances of "Mme. Butterfly" and other works. Her voice is high, clear, and of remarkable quality.

SON OF EDWARDS, STAGE COMEDIAN, HURT BY TRAIN

George Edwards, 12 years old, son of Clifton Edwards, movie and theatrical comedian, was critically injured yesterday afternoon when he fell beneath the wheels of a Chicago and Indiana Harbor Belt line freight train while playing on the tracks at the Madison street crossing in Bellwood. Both his legs were amputated. He was taken to the Westlake hospital, Melrose Park, where physicians were hopeful of saving his life.

According to G. J. Wilson, 1214 South 16th avenue, Maywood, uncle of George, with whom the boy and his mother, Mrs. Gertrude Edwards, have been visiting, young Edwards, with some other boys, was playing near the railroad right of way. The crew of a freight engine found him lying on the tracks, and it was believed he had tried to board an east bound freight which had passed just before.

The boy's father is in Hollywood, Cal.

FIND RELICS OF FIRST I. C. TRAIN INTO CHICAGO

Relics of the days when Chicago, in common with Dubuque, Ia., was served by a branch line of the Illinois Central railway were uncovered yesterday by workmen excavating for the new Illinois Central suburban station at Randolph street. Buried in the clay were found great, square-hewn, white oak pilings which supported the first I. C. train into Chicago some three-quarters of a century ago when the main line of the road ran from Cairo to Branch Junction.

Dating back even farther was the hulk of an old scow buried in the mud not 50 feet from the edge of Michigan avenue. Its presence there could not be explained by engineers, but they agreed that it must have been buried long before the occupation of the land by the I. C., when the lake lapped the edge of Michigan avenue.

Von Sternberg Fined for Failure to Pay Alimony

Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 20.—(AP)—Josef Von Sternberg, motion picture director, was fined $200 today by Superior Judge L. W. Roth for failure to pay Mrs. Riza Marks Von Sternberg $1,200 monthly alimony.

TRAINED SINGERS RALLY FOR MUSIC FESTIVAL CHORUS

Six Hundred Rehearse in Hotel Ballroom.

Here is what this means: Far at the southern end of the stadium the thousands will catch the slightest tones, the most delicate chimes, the softest rhythms of music, as they come from the stand. They will catch them in the full, rich, and original resonance as though they stood but a few feet distant.

This is but part of tomorrow night's thrilling show. There is more—much more. No verbal picture can describe what is in store tomorrow night.

Yet such a picture might envisage the stadium on the lake front. Seated within it the civic audience, 150,000 men, women, and children.

On the east is the darkening blue of Lake Michigan; on the west, the lowering sun. The hour is near 7:30.

The buglers walk upon the massive platform at the north of the stadium. They lift in unison ten trumpets to their lips. Suddenly on the still evening air comes the clear and stirring fanfare. Here, thus, is inaugurated the festival, and here the gigantic amplifying system comes through successfully its initial test.

When the fanfare of trumpets is ended, an answering and echoing response comes from the south end.

Bandsmen in Parade.

From this end suddenly emerges the beginning of a vast parade of twenty-eight bands and drum and bugle corps, all contest winners in their divisions.

As the band units march to the station, the platform will be rapidly filled by thousands of other performers.

There will be, it should be mentioned here, in the neighborhood of 6,500 singers, bandsmen and leaders!

Of this number 6,000 will be members of the Festival chorus. The others will be members of bands and drum corps.

So here is a picture. An audience of 150,000. A cast of 9,000. On the lake front, on a summer night, at the world's greatest music event.

As the clock strikes 8:38 the united bands play "El Capitan," Sousa's own composition. Sousa rides to the platform, takes the baton from Victor Grabel, leader of the Festival band, and directs the massed bands in "U. S. Field Artillery," another stirring Sousa composition. Later on the Festival band will play Sousa's famous "Sheridan's Ride," depicting the historic gallop of the civil war general from Winchester. A fireworks display by the Thearle-Duffield company will illustrate this number and soldiers will stage a sham battle illustrative of the historic one.

Drum Corps to Drill.

A fifteen minute intermission will come at 9:30. In the center of the field 400 members of the great combined drum corps will drill under colored lights, and to military tempo. Groups of girls, representing sixteen nations, will also troop on the field and gather around Old Glory.

Then comes the second half of the show, each minute contributing towards a mounting climax. There will be massed band playing, massed choral singing, and solos by John Burdette, the colored singer who thrilled last year's audience with "Old Man River"; and Giacomo Rimini, first baritone of the Chicago Civic Opera company, singing the Toreador song from "Carmen."

A few minutes later will come one of the most thrilling events of an eventful night—the Hallelujah chorus from Handl's "Messiah." From 6,000 voices this oratorio will descend and spread in waves upon the assembled thousands. It will go over the air into thousands of homes through W-G-N and twenty-two stations in a national hookup.

The climax of the night's spectacular program, of course, will be the "1812" overture by Tschaikowsky, played by the 100 piece Festival band.

40 VETERANS OF CIVIL WAR TO BE HONORED AT MUSIC FESTIVAL

About 40 civil war veterans will be honored tomorrow night at the second Chicagoland Music Festival in Soldiers' field, when they will be brought into the great arena while the festival band, under the direction of Victor Grabel, plays a medley of civil war songs.

Much of the program will be reminiscent of the days of '61, with highlights being "Sheridan's Ride," by Sousa, and community singing of numbers such as "Tenting on the Camp Ground," and "Tramp, Tramp, Tramp the Boys Are Marching."

The old soldiers will be driven to the field. The drivers will get the veterans at 7 o'clock at Hotel Sherman and under motorcycle escort they will be taken to Soldiers' field where their entry will be made at about 8:30. Special honor seats have been arranged on the concert platform. Thomas L. Beem, 503 East 60th street, department of Illinois, Sons of Union Veterans, will be in charge of the veterans.

MUSIC FESTIVAL NOTES

BY PHILIP MAXWELL.

The third and last of the three Chicago preliminary chorus contests will be held tonight at 7:30 o'clock in the gold ballroom of the Drake hotel. It will be for the mixed choruses. The organizations and directors are as follows:

Ukrainian Chorus of Chicago, Leon Sorochinsky.

Mundy Choristers, James A. Mundy.

T. P. Bryant Choral Club, George Alexander Gullatt.

Lyon & Healy Mixed Chorus, Harry T. Carlson.

The Chicago and North Western Railway Mixed Chorus, Harry Slater.

Elmhurst Society, C. A. Hutter.

Bellow Gospel Tabernacle, R. Alwyne Austin.

St. Mary's of the Lake Glee Club, Arthur J. Reilley.

Mount Moriah Baptist Choir, R. Alwyne Austin.

The contest will be broadcast from W-G-N from 8:15 to 8:30.

The Scott Vocal Ensemble, directed by Miss Gilderoy Scott of Evanston, was named Chicago winner in the women's chorus division of the festival last night at the Drake hotel and will represent this city tomorrow afternoon at 1:30 against the Laporte, Ind., Business Girls' Chorus and the Calumet Women's Glee Club of Hammond and Whiting. Lynn Sackett is director of the Laporte Chorus, and George Calder conducts the Calumet organization.

Leaders for the big community sing at the Festival tomorrow night at Soldiers' field will be Carl Craven, director of the Illinois Central Male chorus; Edward Clissold, director of the Central Trust Male chorus, and Frank Bennett, director of the Allerton Club Glee club.

Among the songs that will be sung are: "Tenting on the Old Camp Ground," "Battle Hymn of the Republic," "Tramp, Tramp, Tramp, the Boys Are Marching," "Old Black Joe," "Old Folks at Home," "Auld Lang Syne," "Home, Sweet Home," and, of course, "Sweet Adeline."

In case of inclement weather the drum and bugle corps contests scheduled for tomorrow morning in Grant park east of the Art institute, will be held at the 122d Field Artillery armory, 234 East Chicago avenue. The juvenile contest is at 10 o'clock and the adult at 11.

Four coaches on the North Shore Line will bring the Racine, Wis., contingent to the festival. The Racine Journal-News, sponsor of the festival there, which drew 10,000 spectators, will send the Boy Scout and American Legion drum and bugle corps, the St. Catherine's High School and the S. C. Johnson bands, and the Bel Canto Male chorus, in all about 400 participants, giving to Racine the honor of bringing the largest group of musicians to the festival here. Fort Wayne, Ind., is second, with the News-Sentinel sending three bands, the News-Sentinel Newsboys', Pennsylvania, and General Electric, totaling nearly 200 musicians.

CUSTOMS PAIR FACE TRIAL ON RIVER SHOOTING

Careless Use of Firearms Is Charged.

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 20.—[Special.]—Clarence Fish and Walter Wesalowski, customs border patrol inspectors, today were ordered held for trial at the September session of Circuit court for careless use of firearms by Judge Ralph W. Liddy in Common Pleas court.

The charge grew out of the wounding of Arthur Gajeski, a passenger aboard the excursion steamer St. Claire, who was struck in the arm by a bullet alleged to have been fired by Fish.

Wesalowski and Fish were chasing alleged rum runners in Lake St Claire the night of July 21.

Judge Liddy ordered the defendants to post new bonds of $1,000 each. Col. Heinrich A. Pickert, collector of customs, said he would arrange for the bonds.

"I seriously question," Judge Liddy said, "whether the shooting of even a rum runner is upheld by responsible government authorities."

Robert H. Clancy, Detroit representative in congress, who has been active in demanding investigations of dry shootings, hailed Judge Liddy's opinion as expressing "95 per cent of the views of Detroit."

Two Rum Runners Shot.

Greenport, L. I., Aug. 20.—[Special.]—Two men are in the Eastern Long Island Hospital suffering from serious gunshot wounds believed to be the result of a rum runner chase on Long Island sound early this morning during which a coast guard cutter was rammed by the liquor craft.

The encounter of the coast guard patrol and the rum boat took place near Bartletts Reef, about ten miles southeast of New London harbor. According to the coast guard officials, the boat had been followed for about a half hour, during which several shots were fired at it.

A boat believed to be the rum runner put in shortly after the chase at Orient Point. Two men who later said they were John Johnson and Carl Reiter, both of Greenport, woke up a farmer and told him they were injured. Johnson was suffering from a wound in the head and Reiter from six bullet wounds in the body.

Drys Raid Moose Lodge.

Pittsburgh, Pa., Aug. 20.—[Special.]—"Politics" was first blamed and then denied by leaders of the Moose today for last night's dry raid on Moose temple, headquarters of Pittsburgh lodge, No. 46, L. O. O. M., of which Senator James J. Davis, director general of the national organization, is among the most prominent members.

Drys descended on a sixty foot bar on the sixth floor of the Penn avenue building seized 1,092 pints of beer, routed patrons and arrested Frank Potochnik as bartender. He was held for investigation in $2,000 bond today by a United States commissioner.

Purchase of intoxicants was alleged in an information upon which a federal warrant for the first raid on the fraternal lodge was based.

Dry Agents Battle Officer.

Richmond, Mo., Aug. 20.—(AP)—Arch Odell, deputy sheriff, and three federal prohibition agents engaged in a running gun fight early today which began three miles from Richmond and ended at the county jail after the identity of the participants was established. One of the bullets fired by Odell grazed the scalp of George Ware, an agent.

Odell said he fired upon the agents in the belief they were attempting to hold him up as he was returning to Richmond at 2 a. m.

The deputy and the federal agents raced into town in their automobiles, firing as they drove. Odell exhausted his ammunition and rushed to the jail.

ANYWAY, DEPRESSION AIDS NAVY; IT CUTS TOTAL OF DESERTIONS

Washington, D. C., Aug. 20.—(AP)—The depression at last has been found to have some benefit.

Desertions in the navy are dropping off and officials attribute it to the economic situation and higher standards for admission to the service.

Only 45 men deserted in the last fiscal year and failed to return. This is the smallest number on record. Last year's total was 393. In 1927 there were more than 1,000 desertions, and in 1924 more than 3,000.

The figures do not include men who went "A. W. O. L." but later returned.

One Killed, Two Injured as Plane Falls in River

Fabyan, N. H., Aug. 20.—(AP)—One man was killed and the pilot and another man were seriously injured in an airplane crash here in the White mountains late today. Gordon Davidson, pilot, had taken up his plane from Fabyan airport and was making a bank when the craft got out of control and plunged into the shallow Ammonoosuc river. Witnesses of the accident pulled out R. A. Beebe of New York City and Walter Panasci of Brooklyn, N. Y., tourists, and the pilot. Beebe was dead.

HOOVER CALLS 61 U. S. LEADERS TO AID JOBLESS

Seeks Counsel on Plans to Avert Dole.

lected it is apparent that the President is planning to secure a close tieup between national and local relief efforts by appointing on the advisory committee the heads of municipal and state relief organizations. The same strategy is planned for handling national relief organizations, as the list of names made public today included heads of the leading charity and relief organizations, such as the Red Cross and the Association of Community Chests. In the case of Illinois, Mr. Ryerson, head of the state relief board, is made a member of the committee.

Coöperation His Goal.

By placing the key relief men of the coultry on his advisory committee, the President's admirers believe it will be possible to achieve closer coöperation than it would be possible to do otherwise, as there is no legal machinery requiring state and local organizations to coöperate with the federal government.

Under the plan as it is now taking shape, Mr. Gifford will be a relief "czar" so far as national effort is concerned. The President has commissioned him to use his own judgment as to the type of organization to be set up and the methods to be followed. The whole organization will thus center around one man. He, acting as a volunteer along with those who serve as advisory committee members, will survey the field, set up his machinery and go to work. If he needs legal or legislative aid that will be asked when congress convenes.

Others Named by Hoover.

In addition to the six Chicagoans, those selected by the President were:

R. H. AISHTON, American Railway Ass'n.
BERNARD BARUCH, New York.
C. M. BOOKMAN, Natl. Conference of Social Work.
NEWTON D. BAKER, Cleveland, O.
REESE BLIZZARD, Parkersburg, W. Va.

Individually or in Groups.

Fred C. Croxton, head of the President's emergency committee for employment, was named assistant director of the Gifford national organization today, and his work will be subordinated to that of the relief organization.

The advisory committee will have no executive or administrative duties. It is assumed they will come to Washington either individually or together to discuss relief efforts with the President. Other units of the President's plan to mobilize all national, state and local relief efforts will be made known next week.

Senator David A. Reed [Rep., Pa.] today criticised Gov. Pinchot of Pennsylvania for his action in urging President Hoover to call a special session of congress. Mr. Reed declared in a statement received at his office here, that the people of Pennsylvania could handle their own relief affairs, "for ourselves better than Washington can handle them for us," that the governors of the states "must not evade responsibility," on unemployment, and that Pennsylvania is solvent and able to raise money for relief.

One Day's Pay a Month.

Baltimore, Md., Aug. 20.—(AP)—Municipal plans to relieve unemployment were enlarged today with the announcement by Mayor Howard W. Jackson that city officials and employés, with the exception of police, firemen and teachers, would be expected to contribute one day's pay a month.

GIFFORD CALLS FOR A MOBILIZATION OF LOCAL RELIEF FUNDS

New York, Aug. 20.—Walter S. Gifford, newly appointed director of President Hoover's unemployment coöperative organization, tonight suggested a nation-wide campaign for relief funds for distribution through local agencies.

He asked that where local voluntary organizations for the relief of unemployment had not already been set up they be organized at once, and said he would call the national representatives of various organizations to meet with him soon to advance methods for supporting such local organizations.

"The foundation of the relief of distress, arising out of unemployment, must be a complete, effective, and energetic local voluntary organization, coördinating with local authorities," his statement said. "During the last year many of the governors have established effective committees of leading citizens in their states.

"Many towns and cities have already well organized public welfare departments, community chests, family welfare and other prominent organizations covering the emergency problem as well as the normal functioning of their coördinated charities. Other cities have effected emergency relief committees coördinating and supplementing the action of their local charities and their county and municipal authorities.

"These organizations have most successfully carried the burden of the last winter. They are already developing plans and methods for the future. Where such voluntary organizations have not been created they should be set up at once in every city and town where there is a problem.

"The second effort should be to organize the appeals for relief funds, so far as practicable, into a coincident period in a nation-wide effort. This is not a suggestion of a national fund. The whole purpose must be to support individually all local organizations that they may be strengthened to compass their responsibilities. I shall ask the national representatives of such organizations to meet with me at an early date to advance methods to this end."

CHURCH RECEIVES FARM PRODUCTS FOR UNEMPLOYED

Foodstuffs by the truckload from the countryside in Michigan and Indiana, close to Chicago, began to arrive late last night in the program launched by the Rev. Johnston Myers of the Immanuel Baptist church to supply unemployed with surplus farm crops.

In addition to gathering and storing fruit and vegetables, an offer made yesterday to supply wheat from nearby grain fields has been made the start of a modern form of cereal consumption as practiced in ancient Egypt. The first truckload of wheat for this purpose ever supplied Chicago will be delivered to the church this week.

Several farmers wrote the Rev. Mr. Myers that he would find his needy families well nourished as well as appreciative of whole wheat cooked and served with sugar, a little salt and milk.

SMOTHERING BABY REVIVED.

Mary Teresa Carey, 3 months old, was being smothered in her bed yesterday in her home at 1139 Hyde Park boulevard. She was revived by rescue squad No. 1 of the fire department, called by her father, James Carey, when he discovered the child unconscious beneath a pillow.

LABOR REJECTS ECONOMY PLAN TO BUILD HOMES

Refuse Temporary Cut in Wage Scales.

BY AL CHASE.

Patrick Sullivan, president of the Chicago Building Trades council, yesterday definitely stated that union labor would not submit to a temporary cut in wages in order to carry out the Lonnquist plan to erect 1,000 homes at a price that would stimulate building activity. He refused to go along with the announced reductions offered by building material men in lumber and brick, but finally did consent to continue negotiations with Axel Lonnquist, Oscar W. Rosenthal, and William Wilhartz at a future date to see if some plan could be evolved to bring about construction activity.

PATRICK SULLIVAN

Mr. Sullivan early in the negotiations at yesterday's session at the Morrison hotel declared himself as opposed to the Lonnquist plan.

Fears Cut Would Be General.

"There have been many plans submitted to us and so far none has been satisfactory," he said. "Neither is this one satisfactory. It can't be this one."

He declared that if union labor submitted even to a temporary wage cut for 1,000 houses every contractor would expect a similar reduction in all class of buildings.

Oscar Rosenthal, of the O. W. Rosenthal Investment Co., and originator of a plan of his own for improving the building situation, backed up the stand of Sullivan by declaring that labor had contracts calling for certain wage scales and that the fact that the cost of living was coming down was no reason for reducing wages.

Among those present at yesterday's session were: E. M. Craig, executive secretary of the Building Construction Employers' association; J. E. Lindquist, vice president of the Central Republic Bank and Trust company; and William Schlake Jr. of the Illinois Brick company; William Wilhartz, attorney.

Presents Small Home Plan.

Mr. Lonnquist submitted a plan for the formation of a small home industry board, the trust affairs of which would be managed by an executive vice president under the supervision of an executive committee of five comprising two labor representatives, a dealer in materials, a real estate expert, and a contractor. No action was taken on this plan. It is hoped that this plan may offer some basis for an agreement in the future.

This statement declared that the purposes of the board, or corporation, will be essentially to build small residences at determinable costs under the direction of the board of directors, and adds: "It being understood and agreed that a first thousand houses may be sold at a 25 to 30 per cent reduction from basic costs including prevailing union wages and at the present time in force in the building trades of Cook county, providing, however, that in lieu of such reduction proportionate beneficial certificates of stock shall be issued for same, covering and representing to the discounts on material as well as the amount of difference due by reason of determinable reduction in wages contributed by skilled mechanics.

"These beneficial certificates shall after proper reserves be payable out of future anticipated earnings as and when times become normal, provided the stockholders and directors approve and continue the activities of the corporation."

JOINT RELIEF GROUP OPPOSES FEDERAL HELP

Draft Plans for Raising $3,800,000 Here.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

A special session of congress to appropriate millions for unemployment relief, with resultant increase in taxes, is opposed by the joint emergency relief organization of Cook county. The group also objects to a dole system, which, some observers assert, encourages loafing.

SAMUEL INSULL JR. [Underwood Photo.]

"Support of the joint emergency relief campaign," said a statement issued yesterday by Edward L. Ryerson Jr., head of the relief committee, "is Chicago's best insurance against federal relief, with its attendant danger of a dole, resulting in permanently increasing taxes and a vicious undermining of the native American desire to work for a livelihood.

"Private relief agencies will meet their share of the burden through the raising of the $3,800,000 fund of the joint emergency relief organization.

To Aid National Groups.

"Appeal for federal relief by the joint emergency relief fund of Cook county or the governor's commission on unemployment will not be made unless local private and tax supported relief agencies fail to meet local needs. Both organizations, however, will cooperate in every way possible with the national unemployment relief work to be directed by Walter S. Gifford, whose appointment by the president was announced Wednesday."

Mr. Ryerson's organization does not oppose tax supported relief granted in the county. Under the existing law and practice the county is obligated to care for the destitute. It increased its allowances for that purpose last winter.

In normal times the county supplies about 25 per cent of the local relief requirements, and private charities give the remainder. At present the county is supplying about 44 per cent of the total relief.

Private citizens contributed $5,000,000 last winter and it is planned to raise $3,800,000 for this winter. This goal would mean an increase of 76 per cent; and in order to meet the situation it is expected that the county will give 76 per cent more this winter than last.

Explains Relief System.

Discussing this phase of the situation, Mr. Ryerson said:

"Tax supported relief, under the law, has been mainly the responsibility of the county authorities. Just exactly how funds can be made available for increased local tax borne relief, whether the city (government) should and can participate, will only be determined by the local public authorities and the state legislature, assisted by already constituted advisory groups.

"The joint emergency organization and the governor's commission on unemployment can only assist by estimating the amount of increased tax supported relief necessary, which both are willing and capable to do, if called upon.

"In the past, tax supported public relief agencies and private agencies supported by private contributions have always shared in a successful meeting of demands for relief.

Confident for Campaign.

"A successful campaign to meet the increased needs of these agencies is now in the process of organization. The need for relief by tax supported agencies is relatively no greater than for that of the private agencies. It would seem that proper public authorities can secure the financial answer to the local public side of the question if private relief agencies raise the necessary money for their work.

"To all elements of the community we would say that support of the campaign is the answer of Chicago and Cook county to an emergency by meeting its own problems right here at home in a creditable Chicago way."

The general plan for raising the $3,800,000 was decided upon yesterday by the campaign committee headed by Samuel Insull Jr. Initially the campaign will be organized into three major divisions, as follows:

1. Special gifts division, which will solicit contributions of substantial size from individuals.

2. Trades, industries, and professions divisions, which will collect funds from corporations and their employes.

3. City-wide division, which will make an intensive drive among persons not covered by the other two divisions.

4. Local divisions in suburban communities.

The first activity will be solicitation of large gifts from wealthy individuals.

Need Thorough Organization.

"This type of canvass," said Mr Insull, "requires an extensive organization composed of selected personnel, which can only be created over a period of several weeks. Last year the whole emergency relief machinery had to be created in a short period without time for preliminary preparation.

"Excellent work was done by Philip R. Clarke in securing individual gifts last winter, but the effort was handicapped at the start by the suddenness with which the campaign was called upon to function. This year we have more time to prepare."

Silk Stockings Cargo

New York, Aug. 20.—[Special.]—Ruth Nichols, the flying society girl of Rye, N. Y., hopped off secretly at 8:20 tonight from the Jersey City airport in the Lockheed monoplane in which she crashed June 23 at St. John, N. B., receiving injuries to her back.

Although no information concerning her destination was obtainable at first, later it was learned clearance papers for her plane, the Akita, had been issued, and that her destination was listed as "Paris, France, via Harbor Grace."

Under the heading "cargo" was listed "one pair of silk stockings."

Miss Nichols was accompanied by Clarence D. Chamberlain.

The girl flyer is expected to go to Harbor Grace, there to await weather favorable for a trans-Atlantic flight, meanwhile making test flights.

MARRIED TEACHERS IN DETROIT ASKED TO TAKE YEAR OFF

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 20.—[Special.]—One hundred married women school teachers were asked today in letters sent them by Supt. Frank Cody, to take a year's leave of absence without pay, beginning this fall. The teachers are women whose husbands also are employed by the board of education.

An economy program involving a saving of $1,300,000, of which the call on married teachers to leave for one year is part, was adopted unanimously by the board in response to an appeal by President A. Douglas Jamieson that the group lead other city departments in solving the city's financial problem.

Mrs. Josephine Gomon, assistant secretary to Mayor Frank Murphy took the lead in opposing the board's action to drop the married teachers. "Why put this hardship on married teachers?" she asked. "Why not ask the unmarried daughters of those who do not need the money to step out instead?"

GIVE GOVERNOR'S BOARD A PLAN OF TAX REVISION

Conferees Favor Abolition of Present Bodies.

A proposed revision of the local tax machinery was discussed for two hours by Gov. Emmerson's revenue commission in an executive meeting in the Union League club last night.

It was understood that the conferees were virtually unanimous in the opinion that the present board of assessors and board of review are undesirable and should be discarded. But as to the substitute for the present system no decision was reached, although there was a long discussion of the matter.

The members of the commission are said to have hesitated in deciding on some phases of the substitute taxing machine, about which there has been much political controversy. They refrained from individual comments.

One suggested plan was presented to the conference by a sub-committee composed of Fred Sargent, Samuel Insull, and Silas Strawn. This proposal envisages a centralization of authority and responsibility. To accomplish that end it was proposed that the county have one expert assessor and a reviewing body without the power of original assessment. The discussion was said to have indicated a belief of those at the conference that the tax officials should be appointed, but there was considerable talk on the question of who should do the appointing.

The bills before the last session of the general assembly, the recommendation of Prof. Herbert Simpson of Northwestern university, and the existing tax systems in several large cities were considered by the conferees.

Slayer of Stepdaughter Held on Murder Charge

A coroner's jury yesterday held Sigurd Soross, 38 years old, 2234 North Lawndale avenue, to the grand jury on a charge of murder. Soross testified that he had been seized by a strange impulse after drinking a bottle of beer on Aug. 4 and that the next thing he knew he was standing over the body of his 17 year old stepdaughter, Ruth Einerson, with a bloody hammer in his hand. The girl had been killed as she slept.

DEPRESSION CAN BE BEATEN; THE TRIBUNE DOES IT

And the Moral Is: Don't Quit Fighting.

evening recreation at the theater and elsewhere.

"One axiom of successful merchandising is that you must be able to supply the demand, especially with a perishable product like a newspaper. So last May THE TRIBUNE advanced the deadline of its first edition and got it on the street by 8 o'clock. This, of course, meant heavy expense, but it has also been rewarded by a circulation growth. Last night we sold more than 100,000 TRIBUNES on the street before midnight. Back in 1925 we sold only 25,000 on the street and in 1920 only 5,000.

People Take Them Home.

"The people who buy these 100,000 street editions take them home and read every page before going to bed. At least 95 per cent of them are as valuable to advertisers as are those who have the paper delivered at their home next morning.

"In issuing this early edition to meet the demands of the public and to aid advertisers in marketing their goods THE TRIBUNE has increased its mailing room staff, giving work to extra men. On top of that the news venders in these times of depression have earned more money to take home to their folks to help support the family. Some boys are earning $1 to $4 a night with the early street edition, where formerly they made perhaps 50 cents, and it has undoubtedly been a great relief for many families.

"A period of stagnation is the time to be most energetic and aggressive. In twenty years or so THE TRIBUNE has developed from two editions a morning to five editions, with plenty of replates in between to catch news on the jump. And the depression has simply stimulated THE TRIBUNE to greater efforts to have its product on the news stands and in the news venders' hands at the time the public wants its latest papers."

The Mechanical Expansion.

Mr. Macfarlane, business manager, narrated the mechanical expansion of THE TRIBUNE during the depression, especially the development of run of paper two color printing.

"In December, 1928," said Mr. Macfarlane, "I was instructed to print some of our own advertisements in THE TRIBUNE in two colors. The idea was that advertisers might then see how effectively color could be used in the daily newspaper. Within a short time we printed an interesting series of TRIBUNE advertisements. However, the order to develop color advertising made it necessary for us to make many changes in our manufacturing and printing processes, and to add more men to our personnel. This has been going on ever since.

"The depression came in the fall of 1929 just as we were getting a great number of new developments under way. Our conviction has always been that improvement in our product should never stop. We have not laid aside this program, but have stuck to our guns.

Helped Toward Better Times.

"We believe we have helped toward better times by modernizing our product and plant. Not only do we offer advertisers a new help in color advertising, which they have now come to recognize, but we supply to readers a better paper, more legibly printed on a superior, clear grade of newsprint.

"We have expanded our paper mill at Thorold, a result of our change in production methods. We established an experimental department there to insure a clear white sheet. This calls for constant experiments in the effects of various inks and press conditions, but it has assisted us in providing a better newspaper to our readers. We also found it desirable to establish an experimental laboratory in our own pressrooms, where inks, blankets, rollers, and other equipment are studied and improved.

Introduction of Color.

"The first increase in working staff came from the introduction of color. This required on days when a color advertisement ran in THE TRIBUNE an average of 10 per cent increase in the workers. The experimental laboratory requires an average of five men a day.

"These men are also utilized to prepare the presses during the day before printing, so that we now have an advantage in producing our early editions. As a result the deadline of our first edition was advanced last May.

"The extra cost in getting the paper out early has been in the mechanical departments. It has been equivalent to adding 29 more men per day in the black press, stereotyping, composing, etching, and paper handling departments alone. This is approximately an 8 per cent increase in our personnel requirements.

Caisson Work in Progress.

"A recent development has been the caisson work for our new presses. We are providing for a new press of eight units equipped with color attachment. It is the first of several ordered in line with our policy of expansion. The manufacturer advises that fifty expert men are employed to fulfill delivery of this equipment. It also, of course, provides additional work for such trades as caisson workers. When the new press is installed it will mean more pressmen.

"These are just a few of the major developments. There are others, such as the remodeling of our paper warehouse, installation of new electric stereotype machines, complete changing of press rollers.

"We are convinced we are on the right track and feel certain that by making our paper more desirable to readers we will make it more productive for advertisers. This is confirmed by the steady increase in our sales of two color advertising and in the large number of publishers who have adopted two color since we began to promote it vigorously in the daily paper as in the fashions of the Sunday paper."

CHICAGO POSTOFFICE CONTRACT EXPECTED TO BE AWARDED TODAY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 20.—[Special.]—Announcement that the construction contract for the new Chicago postoffice has been awarded to John Griffiths & Son company is Chicago is expected to be made by the treasury department tomorrow. Following conferences between George Griffiths, head of the contracting firm, and James E. Wetmore, acting supervising architect, it was stated by persons in a position to know that the major obstacles to an agreement had been disposed of.

Mr. Wetmore said that expected a treasury announcement on the Chicago postoffice matter would be forthcoming tomorrow. He declined to predict its nature, although officials in the treasury department expressed the opinion this meant the contract would be let. Mr. Griffiths said he was hopeful of getting through tomorrow in time to return to Chicago. He added, however, that he had not been told whether the treasury was satisfied it could go ahead and award the contract on the basis of the offers of the low bidders.

SPANISH DECREE FORBIDS SALE OF CHURCH HOLDINGS

Threatens Confiscation if Order Is Violated.

BY JAY ALLEN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MADRID, Aug. 20.—The government today put a padlock on all church property, at least as far as a sale is concerned.

A decree forbidding the disposal of any such property, including jewels and artistic treasures, and prohibiting the withdrawal of funds from banks except for current needs, was the government's reply to the orders allegedly given by the exiled Cardinal Pedro Segura, archbishop of Toledo, to his bishops to sell out. If the order is violated, all church property will be confiscated, the government warns.

In its decree, which has caused a sensation and revived apprehensions of a break with the Vatican, the government speaks of the stubborn opposition which "certain leaders" of the Spanish church have shown to the republic. Referring indirectly to the document claimed to be found on the vicar general at Vitoria, in which Cardinal Segura is supposed to have ordered the sale of property, the government says it was a final proof of insubordination on the part of church authorities.

Fear Fall of Peseta.

So far as anybody knows there is no proof that the bishops were actually prepared to sell out, but it was evident that the financiers of the republic feared there would be a transfer of funds abroad, which would further discourage the already weakened peseta.

President Alcala Zamora tonight risked the life of his government to balk efforts of the ambitious parliamentary commission to turn the constituent cortes into a sort of a revolutionary tribunal and to try all leaders of the monarchical régime on charges of graft.

"The Bourbon himself is not worthy of the attentions of such a great body," President Zamora declared. "The rest must be consigned to a specially selected tribunal of jurists of tried loyalty to the republic."

Bitter Attack on Zamora.

Immediately those elements in the cortes, which feel that it alone is capable of blasting the remnants of the old régime, accused President Zamora of attempting to protect certain people from trial. Certain of the chiefs in Foreign Minister Lerroux's radical party, which is hungry for power and which seems ready to let President Zamora and his ministers go under. But the storm passed and the commission agreed to accept President Zamora's amendments to its proposal.

President Zamora's action probably saved the neck of the imprisoned Gen. Damaso Berenguer, who four times has been condemned to death for the Moroccan tragedy, and possibly Gen. Sanjurjo, who, though godfather of the republic and commander of the civil guards, was nevertheless implicated in bringing about a dictatorship, which the republic considers high treason to the nation.

SLAIN TRYING TO EVICT TENANT FROM HIS HOME

A tenant served with an eviction notice resisted with a gun efforts to oust him and his family from their home last night. The resistance cost the life of Dominic Battita, 45 years old, 634 Drake avenue, who was shot four times. His slayer is Carmillo Ferraro, 30 years old, father of one child and whose wife is an expectant mother.

Ferraro lives at 628 Drake avenue. For five months he has been unemployed and unable to pay rent. Yesterday Joseph Panno, of the same address, Ferraro's landlord, served Ferraro with an eviction notice. Last night Battita, a brother-in-law of Panno, called on Ferraro in the latter's home to execute the eviction notice at once.

A quarrel started and the two men fought. Ferraro ran into his bedroom. He reappeared, and a moment later fired four shots, all hitting Battita. Ferraro submitted to arrest by Sergt. William Granger of the Austin police. He said he fired in self-defense.

Detective Bureau Prisoner Slashes Throat with Razor

Peter Boulier 42 years old, 25 North Racine avenue, arrested yesterday on a narcotic charge, slashed his jugular vein with a safety razor blade in his cell in the detective bureau early this morning. He was taken to the bureau late last night to be held for the government agents, and after being searched was placed in a cell on the third floor. Shortly after 4 o'clock this morning his moans attracted the lockup keeper, who found him unconscious. He was given first aid by Dr. J. T. Murphy, the police physician, and hurried to the Bridewell hospital, where it was said he probably would die.

Dress Shop Owner's Home in Rogers Park Is Bombed

A small powder bomb was exploded on the rear porch of the home of Isaac X. Lewis, 6711 North Ashland avenue, early this morning and residents for several blocks around were aroused by the blast. The damage was slight. Lewis said that two dress shops he owns at 5348 North Clark street and 1009 Belmont avenue, also were bombed recently.

Try them for your throat's sake—they're FRESH!

THERE is a simple and understandable reason behind the rising tide of public favor for Camels in the Humidor Pack.

Fine cigarettes kept fine, kept always in prime smoking condition, that is the whole throat-friendly Camel story.

A blend of expertly chosen fine Turkish and mild Domestic tobaccos, Camels have a fragrance and an aroma all their own.

No matter where or when you buy them, thanks to the Humidor Pack, every bit of that fragrance and aroma now is yours to enjoy.

A special vacuum-cleaning process whisks away from Camel's choice tobaccos the peppery dust that otherwise might sting the throat.

The Humidor Pack, that scientific germ-safe wrapping—not plain ordinary Cellophane, but moisture-proof Cellophane which costs nearly twice as much—seals in all the natural factory-freshness, seals it so tightly that wet weather cannot make Camels damp, nor drought weather make them dry.

Give your throat a vacation—learn what an unalloyed joy a fine cigarette in prime, fresh condition can be!

Switch to Camels for just one day, then leave them—if you can.

PRIEST WARS ON HOODLUMS; THEY QUIT HIS PARISH

Starts His Own Cleanup in Neighborhood.

A young priest walks the street day and night, unarmed and unharmed in a neighborhood notorious for its murder, its brothels, and its speakeasies. Single handed, he has set out to clean his parish from the greedy hands of hoodlumism.

"Get out—and don't come back," the priest, the Rev. Father Matthew Canning, told the hoodlums in his church soon after his appointment to St. Charles Borromeo church two months ago. The neighborhood is that around Roosevelt road and Cypress street. Last week a 19 year old lad died of knife wounds in the street. Father Canning came to administer the last sacrament and to the circle of onlookers that closed around the dying boy he delivered his edict publicly.

Want Cleanup Permanent.

Many of the small hoodlums have removed the priest: "We'll go." And they are gone. But Father Canning, who worked his way through college as a boxing instructor, is out to make the cleanup permanent. Tall, broad shouldered, his 190 pounds and 6 feet 11 inches towering above those he meets, he appears more the police partner of Dick Tracy, Tommy Harrison than a boxing partner.

"Conditions down here might be misunderstood as sensational," the priest said last night. "There have been several killings lately. Since the depression things have been going bad. Anything to get money. The neighborhood is meeting dire poverty. The Negro, he's hungry and some of our Italians are quick tempered and out of work.

"People become a little fearful, because when they do something they are afraid they'll be harmed. So they come to me. I have to tell them the best way is to get out and stay out."

And in the face of depression, of unrest caused by unemployment, Father Canning is reconstructing. He is doing what he can to build up the morale of his parish, helping, with the aid of the church, to care for fifty-one families.

He has opened a playground for the boys in the neighborhood. That is keeping them off the street. And he is the confidant of hundreds who need counsel, whether or not they are of the Catholic faith. But the immediate task he has set for himself is ridding the community of hoodlums and crime.

Move Rotarian by Aug. 27, Court Order to Owners

Attorney Miles J. Devine and Walter J. Powers, joint owners of the steamship Rotarian, now being raised from the bottom of the Chicago river at Clark street, were given final warning yesterday by Municipal Judge Jay A. Schiller that the boat must be removed by Aug. 27 or prosecution on a charge of maintaining a nuisance would ensue. The case has been continued a score of times on pleas of the owners for time in which to accomplish the removal.

RUSSIA TO FEED 25,000,000 FROM KITCHEN 'PLANTS'

MOSCOW, Aug. 20.—(AP)—Mass feeding of Russia's workers on a much wider scale is arranged for in a decree issued today by the central executive committee of the communist party.

Present facilities for this work are inadequate, the decree said, although they care for approximately 12,000,000 workers and their families, who are fed collectively at factory kitchens, public dining halls, and feeding stations for children.

Meals are served in these establishments at nominal prices, ranging from 13 to 40 cents. The recent drive to attract more women from their own kitchens to industry has taxed the capacity of the "social feeding" facilities, especially in large cities.

About $14,750,000 is to be spent for the construction and equipment of 300 new factory kitchens and 4,000 dining halls within the next three years, under the terms of today's decree. These will feed 25,000,000 persons.

A group of 500 party men will be mobilized to supervise the work. Foodstuffs will be improved, diets varied, and more efficient methods introduced. The cooperative societies in charge of distribution of foodstuffs have been greatly handicapped lately, not only by the shortage of facilities but also by the poor quality of the foods, insanitary conditions, overcrowding, poor discipline among employés, and improperly trained cooks.

Another decree issued today sets up special funds in all branches of industry to reward workers and plants making exceptional contributions to the advancement of the five year plan.

Although the government and the party have regularly made such awards, this is the first time the policy has taken the form of an official decree.

8 MILLION ROAD WORK DELAY LAID TO LABOR UNION

Five Counties Protest to State Wage Board.

BY HAL FOUST.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 20.—[Special.]—The governor's wage arbitration board today heard protests from agricultural sections of southern Illinois against the activities of organized labor officials who, according to the state administration, have blocked $8,000,000 worth of construction through their attempts to establish a union scale on road work throughout the state.

Director Cleaveland read letters and telegrams from civic leaders and local officials of five downstate counties, contending that the wage rates recommended by the highway department were fair and that organized labor was without authority to speak the sentiment of the communities.

16 Taxpayers Protest.

These counties were Pulaski, Union, Johnson, Alexander and Jasper. A delegation from Jefferson county, opposing the union move, appeared yesterday but did not stay to testify today. The mayor of Vienna, in Johnson county, wrote that the citizens of his community were indignant over the fact that a group of outsiders led by R. G. Soderstrom, president of the Illinois Federation of Labor, had opposed a wage scale suggested by the state, and satisfactorily to the local residents. A petition signed by 16 taxpayers of the county said that the halting of road construction was disastrous to their community already suffering from unemployment.

The Red Cross of Cairo likewise protested against what it called this interference from outsiders. The organization reported that the road construction was sorely needed to relieve distress caused by unemployment. The Mound City Business Men's league wrote that labor and employers were in full accord with the rates fixed by the state. A downstate merchant declared that the postponement of highway construction was robbing workers of food and other necessities. The other messages read by Mr. Cleaveland were of a similar tone.

Urge Letting of Contracts.

To avoid the protracted delays in construction, the governor's highway advisory board, headed by Senator Richard R. Meents of Ashkum, met with Director Cleaveland late this afternoon and proposed that contracts be awarded at once with provisions that the contractor's price would be changed accordingly should the wage board change the labor scale fixed by the state in its advertisements for bids. The director said he will get an opinion from the attorney general as to whether such an arrangement will be legal.

"This would be fair to the contractors," said Senator Meents, "because their competitive bids would all be based on the same wage scale. It would not be difficult for auditors to adjust the contract price later to meet any change in the wage scale."

The advisory board also undertook an investigation of all facts surrounding the controversy under the prevailing wage act and will issue a public report in two weeks. Besides Senator Meents, the members are Reed F. Cutler of Lewisville, E. E. Crabtree of Jacksonville, James P. Hill of Olney, Frank H. Harrison of Chicago, H. M. Dunlap of Savoy, Henry C. Allen of Lyndon, J. M. Page of Jerseyville, and Will J. Bell of Chicago.

Wage Board Adjourns.

The wage board met for four hours today and then adjourned. Until they fix the minimum wage for the various counties under protest there can be no award of contracts. The rates in Cook, Du Page, and Lake counties are not protested. The $8,000,000 in construction which is being held up would furnish employment directly and indirectly to about 10,000 men.

J. C. Ulrich, Cairo manufacturer, testified that the prevailing rate for common labor in his county was 30 cents an hour. The state proposed a 35 cent minimum for this county. Various union officials, testifying in protest against the state's figures, have advocated a minimum ranging from 55 to 80 cents.

"A man might as well starve loafing as starve working," commented George Ottens, chairman and union labor's representative on the board, when a witness told of hundreds of jobless downstaters seeking work at 15 to 25 cents an hour.

There were 150 signers to a petition from Jefferson county which stated that there were hundreds who had been blocked from any employment because they said union labor officials from outside the county had halted road work with a protest against a wage scale agreeable to the state and agreeable to the local residents who would be engaged on the state's projects in the county.

Workers Satisfied with Pay.

Senator W. R. McCauley of the 48th district, southern Illinois, testified that the employers and employes of labor in his district were satisfied with the state's wage rates to which the union officials have filed objections. On questioning by Mr. Cleaveland, he said in passing the "prevailing wage act" he and other legislators did not understand that it was a measure to enforce a union scale throughout the state, but believed that it was a measure to enforce a minimum scale not lower than the rates being paid for similar work in the vicinity of the individual jobs.

MRS. GRACE D. CABOT RECOVERING; STRANGE MALADY UNEXPLAINED

Boston, Mass., Aug. 20.—[Special.]—Mrs. Grace Dixon Cabot, who was found unconscious from a mysterious malady Monday night by her husband, John Bolt Cabot, in their apartment, was out of danger today in the opinion of physicians at the hospital, although they remained puzzled as to the cause of her illness.

Dr. Hugh Cabot, father-in-law of the young woman, reported that she was apparently steadily improving, but she remained very sleepy and could not remember what had happened to her. It was at first believed that she had taken an overdose of sleeping tablets, but Dr. Cabot said she would not have slept more than four hours if she had taken all the sleeping tablets in the house.

Reports that the young woman might have attempted suicide were characterized by Dr. Cabot as "unjustified and without basis," and talk of domestic difficulties was "nonsensical."

Contrary to published reports, Mrs. Cabot was not stricken on the first anniversary of her marriage. She was married to Mr. Cabot at the Little Church Around the Corner in New York, Aug. 7, 1930, although their wedding was not announced until several months later. Mrs. Cabot is the daughter of Bishop and Mrs. Edward E. Dixon of Moore, Pa.

LIMIT HIGHWAY WORKERS TO $100 TO SPREAD JOBS

Lincoln, Neb., Aug. 20.—(AP)—To help unemployed Nebraskans and aid farmers in drought stricken areas Gov. Charles W. Bryan today announced a plan to give state highway construction to counties, with a provision that each worker shall receive no more than $100.

GOV. C. W. BRYAN.

Departing from the custom of awarding contracts to private contractors, Gov. Bryan arranged with Knox county officials to undertake a fourteen mile road grading project.

The plan, the governor explained, will employ hundreds of farmers in Knox county whose crops have suffered from the drought and grasshoppers and whose live stock has suffered from anthrax.

MAN WITHOUT COUNTRY OFF ON SHIP AGAIN

Baltimore, Md., Aug. 20.—(AP)—Peter Russell, a man without a country, began his fourth trip under guard across the Atlantic today.

Aboard the freight steamer Artigas, to which he was transferred under guard last week, Russell started for Glasgow, Scotland, in confinement below decks. Glasgow, federal immigration officials said, is one of the several cities which Russell had at various times claimed as his place of birth.

This trip is Russell's fourth across the Atlantic in four months. American immigration authorities deny Russell is a citizen of this country, and twice have refused to let him land. British authorities likewise have rejected him twice.

ELEVATED ROAD BUILDING URGED BY LEGISLATORS

Chicagoans United on Plan to Help Unemployment.

Regardless of the location of their districts, all of the Chicago members of the general assembly interviewed on the subject favor legislative consideration of an emergency appropriation from gasoline tax receipts for the immediate construction of the west side elevated highway as a means of relieving unemployment.

It had been expected that men speaking for west side districts would be particularly enthusiastic over the project, but inquiry also showed that senators and representatives from the north and south sides as well are strongly in favor of having Gov. Emmerson include this subject in his expected call for a special session of the assembly in September or October.

Unless this question is included in the call, it was pointed out, the legislature will not be able to consider the plan until the next regular session of 1933, and by that time, it was added, two "hard winters" will have gone into history.

Senators Back Proposal.

As examples of how legislators from various sections of the city fell in this matter, it was found yesterday that Senator Roy Woods of the south side and Senator Harold G. Ward of the north side were equally firm in their belief that the way for consideration of the plan should be opened now. Representative David I. Swanson of the Englewood district joined in the expressions of hope that no time will be lost unnecessarily.

"I doubt," said Senator Woods, "that any of us can forecast with accuracy the extent of the want and suffering we are bound to see next winter. Any possible relief, particularly relief on the scale that is said to be promised by this improvement, should be seized upon at the earliest possible moment.

Favors Speedy Action.

"We members of the legislature have not at this time accurate information concerning either the engineering and legal problems involved in the proposed highway plan or the exact status of the gasoline tax funds and the state road program. But we should be able to get that information in a short time if the subject can be taken up at the special session.

"Whatever the situation, I feel certain that here there is a possible opportunity to take care of thousands of unemployed this winter, and that it will be regrettable if the special session does not give the subject thorough study."

Jobs for Thousands Seen.

Senator Ward expressed himself similarly in reference to the outlook for next winter.

"It doesn't seem possible," he said, "that, if the Chicago Plan commission, having gone into the subject thoroughly, says it is possible to employ thousands of men on this project within a few months, Gov. Emmerson will not ask the special session to consider it. We cannot pass final judgment on it now, but we ought to take it up as soon as possible for serious consideration."

"Anything that will alleviate want this fall and winter," said Representative Swanson, "should be encouraged. State projects and similar work should be advanced as rapidly as possible. If, as is said, there is money available for this highway, the legislature should be asked to give it its attention at the special session."

BUSINESS MEN TO MEET

Plans to speed up legislation on the proposed west side elevated highway to relieve unemployment will be discussed at a meeting of business men in the Congress hotel today. William J. Marsech, secretary of the South Central District association and chairman of the affiliated south and west side civic organizations, called the meeting.

Measures for employment relief through immediate expenditure of gas funds and other state money appropriated at the last session of the legislature for use in Cook county and the city of Chicago will also be discussed at the business men's meeting.

A letter was sent to the governor yesterday by the associations which Mr. Marsech represents, urging him to speed up the expenditure of highway money within Cook county and Chicago.

32 YEARS GIVEN BANK BANDIT FOR SLAYING DEPUTY

Watseka, Ill., Aug. 20.—[Special.]—After deliberating sixteen hours, a jury returned a surprise verdict here today in the case of Joseph Jazorak, Chicago gunman, charged with the murder of Deputy Sheriff Henry Ennen of Iroquois county following the robbery of the Buckley State bank on July 17.

Although the offer of Attorney Barratt O'Hara of Chicago, at the outset of the trial, to plead his client guilty to the charge and accept a sentence of life imprisonment was flatly refused by State's Attorney A. Fred Kendall, who demanded the death penalty, the jury recommended a sentence of 32 years in the penitentiary when they brought in their verdict to Circuit Court Judge Frank L. Hooper.

Attorney O'Hara had spent five hours in his plea for the defense in advancing the contention that Jazorak, a world war veteran, was suffering from shell shock and was not responsible at the time he shot Ennen. Jazorak and two companions, Pierce F. Lanigan and Edward Felder, were pursued and captured by a posse of farmers and deputy sheriffs after the Buckley robbery. It was during the chase that Ennen was slain.

Lanigan and Felder pleaded guilty to the robbery on July 30 and were sentenced to serve terms of from one year to life in the Joliet penitentiary.

Jazorak later was taken before Judge Hooper, where he entered a plea of guilty to the charge of robbing the Buckley bank. Judge Hooper sentenced him from one year to life for the bank robbery, to become effective at the expiration of the sentence for murder.

Couple Put on Probation for Forest Preserve Outing

A month ago Mrs. Mary Gibson, 4224 Joliet avenue, Lyons, and Emil Erickson, 824 43d street, Lyons, decided that it would be nice to take their families and go camping in the forest preserve. Their respective spouses demurred, so they took four of Mrs. Gibson's children and Erickson's three, and went anyway. Arrested on complaints made by Gibson and Mrs. Erickson, they pleaded guilty to contributing to the neglect of their children yesterday before Judge Charles A. Williams in the Criminal court and were placed on probation for a year.

SMOKERS!

YOUR TASTE-BUDS TELL YOU

TRY THIS

YOU can see them on your tongue—thousands of tiny clusters of taste-buds.

Papillae, science calls these sensitive organs. You taste with them.

Your smokes, your food, are full of keen zest and flavor when your papillae are in proper working order.

But—when they're tired, jaded, your taste "goes dead." Your cigarette, your food, taste flat.

Care for your taste-buds, your papillae. Care for them by avoiding dry mouth, a condition of recognized prevalence. Keep the tongue moist and well lubricated.

If you enjoy smoking a lot—and who doesn't!—chew Wrigley's frequently. Wrigley's between smokes, by stimulating a free flow of saliva, keeps the taste-buds moist and fresh and definitely relieves dry mouth. Thus, scientists say, the sensation of taste is intensified.

If you'd like more enjoyment of your cigarette and your food, keener appetite and better digestion, chew Wrigley's regularly between smokes and between meals.

At the cigar stand, take your change in Wrigley's.

ALLSTATE Tires Give More Mileage Per Dollar Than Any Other Tire Made...

...This Fact Alone Accounts for the Success of

ALLSTATE TIRES

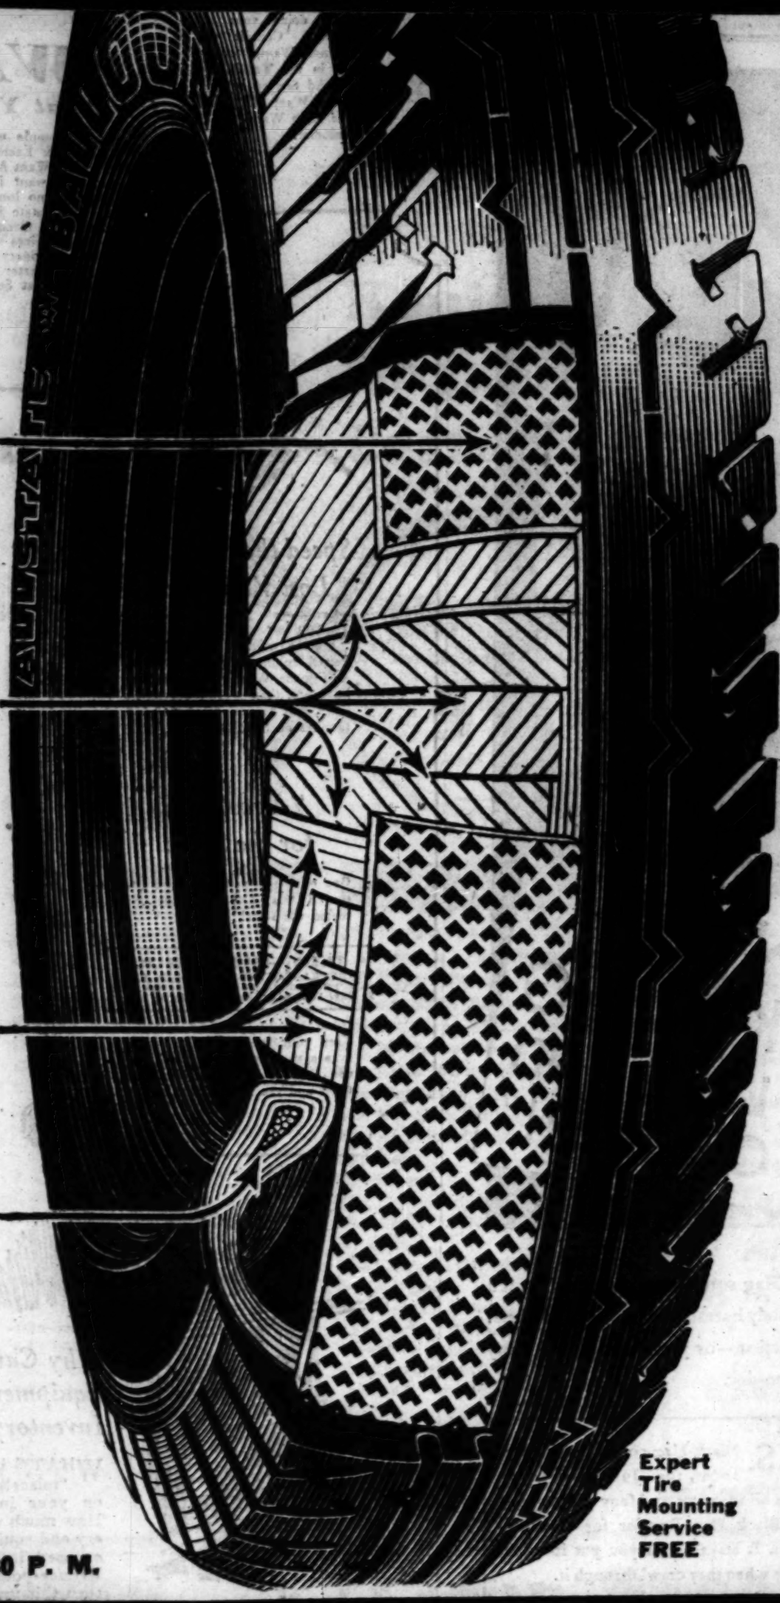
It Has Never Been Matched by Anything in the Entire Tire Industry

ALLSTATE is the best tire value. This is our claim—and it's backed by the verdict of over 8 million ALLSTATE Tire users. You can take ALLSTATES quality for granted—out of over 150 actively sold brands of tires 1 out of 9 motorists choose ALLSTATE at a saving up to 25%. And in Chicago ALLSTATE outsells any other tire by a big margin.

The World's Most Successful Tire Manufacturer Builds ALLSTATE Tires

15 million ALLSTATE TIRES have been bought by motorists in 6 years. 6 years ago there was no ALLSTATE TIRE. From obscurity to dominating leadership in 6 years. Here is success that has never been matched by anything in the tire industry.

ALLSTATE Tires Have As Many Plies As Any Other First Quality Tire



Here's ALLSTATES Tread

Gives 121% Longer Wear

ALLSTATE tread life is 121% longer than that of a certain nationally-advertised tire. This is not just a guess. It is a laboratory-proved fact and you can prove this to yourself under any driving conditions! A reality! The ALLSTATE tread gives you more than double wear. The safety non-skid pattern is retained that much longer. Tire life is extended. Punctures are resisted, and the appearance of the tires is preserved.

ALLSTATES Breaker Strip

Is Double Woven—a Better Breaker

Some manufacturers mistakenly call it a ply. But Sears, Roebuck and Co., the National Better Business Bureau and all of the ethical tire manufacturers call it a breaker strip. Ours is the standard set for the tire industry. This thick double woven breaker strip actually cushions and protects plies from the road shocks.

ALLSTATES Full Plies

Have 29.90% Better Cord Strength

Very, very important. The cords in your tire are its foundation and must hold out against the shock of road bumps, the strain of quick braking and the destructive effect of internal heat. Because ALLSTATE cord life and strength are actually 29.90% greater than other certain tires offered as "first quality," you are assured of that much additional protection against blowouts. Greater strength to carry heavier loads. Bigger value, safety, long wear, more comfort.

ALLSTATES Bead Protectors

Give Double Reinforcement

This means double safety against rims breaking the fabric. These, too, are of super-elastic fabric and contribute to the safety of your car.

ALLSTATES Beads

They're massive, strong beads that insure additional measure of safety and service. The entire construction of ALLSTATE follows the most advanced principles of tire engineering.

Larger Air Capacity

Ride with More Comfort on ALLSTATE Tires

These great tires are important in Sears' crusade for motoring safety. These inside facts prove ALLSTATES superiority—ride with the millions of motorists who have changed over to ALLSTATE Tires.

DOLLAR OIL NEAR IN MARTIAL LAW AREAS, IS BELIEF

Big Companies Prepare to Meet Terms.

Oklahoma City, Okla., Aug. 20.—(AP)—A prediction that dollar oil may be ing from some of the derricked giants in the Oklahoma City field before many hours came today as the result of the Oklahoma-Texas program of higher prices, or no crude from flush areas.

CICERO MURRAY.

While the pine treed stretches of the vast east Texas producing area slept under surveillance of National Guardsmen, Cicero I. Murray, cousin of the Oklahoma governor who led the way to a military curb of wells, forecast a $1 per barrel price posting here, perhaps tomorrow. He predicted opening of wells to those buyers offering $1 a barrel and taking petroleum ratably from wells in the same producing horizon.

"All the buyers are coming around," said Cicero Murray, "and we'll soon have our price. It is my judgment it will be here Friday."

Murray Meets Oil Men.

After a conference with oil men last night Gov. W. H. Murray said four out of five were willing to pay the $1 scale he would exact in return for opening wells and that if Oklahoma City field companies producing from the Wilcox sand would get together, agree to prorate and pay the price "I believe a plan can be worked out in a few days so they can run day and night." There would be no compromise on the price, he said.

Oil minded southwesterners, from major purchasers on down, have expressed the belief that a crude oil price increase is assured if the Texas and Oklahoma shutdowns remain in force.

Expect Increase in Gasoline.

The upward movement of the wholesale gasoline market in Oklahoma, as refiners felt the pinch of diminishing crude supplies, led to a belief in many circles that motor cars might soon be propelled by higher priced fuel.

At Austin figures in the office of R. D. Parker, chief of the oil and gas division of the Texas railroad commission, showed that retail gasoline prices usually rise one cent a gallon with every 20 per cent boost in crude rates.

A report by J. Edward Jones, oil representative of Gov. Harry H. Woodring of Kansas, asking the executive to request President Hoover to place an embargo on foreign oil was made public by Woodring.

Jones asserted "monopoly rules" in the industry and said the Oklahoma-Texas shutdowns "absolutely exclude independent refiners from their vital source of supply, but for every Oklahoma and Texas barrel of oil kept from the big importers a Venezuela barrel of cheap oil can take its place."

Accept Bid to Conference.

Topeka, Kas., Aug. 20.—(AP)—Two oil companies, Standard of New Jersey and Shell, accepted today the invitation of the Kansas public service commission to meet with it and regulatory bodies of other midcontinent states in a stabilization conference at Oklahoma City on Sept. 11. Replies had not been received from the Standard Oil Company of Indiana and the Gulf Oil corporation, the other large importers invited.

Thurman Hill, member of the Kansas commission, said he was working out a uniform production curtailment program to be submitted at the Oklahoma City conference, and that the oil companies would be asked to agree to a corresponding cut in their foreign imports.

FOUR STATES HOLD KEY.

BY O. A. MATHER.

Hope for stabilization of petroleum production and prices appear to hinge on the conference of officials of Texas, Oklahoma, and Kansas in Oklahoma City on Sept. 11. These three states, together with California, produce nearly 85 per cent of all crude oil now being turned out in the United States. California for some time has had a proration law under which its output is restricted and both Oklahoma and Kansas more recently have adopted measures to curtail potential production.

Overproduction of oil and drastic declines in prices in the last year or so have been largely attributable to the discovery of vast new oil fields in Texas, particularly in the east Texas area. The total output of crude oil in the United States averages 2,498,500 barrels a day and of this total Texas produced 1,319,000 barrels, or more than half, and the east Texas field alone turned out 738,050 barrels, or nearly a third. On the other hand, California produced only 517,000 barrels a day, Oklahoma 264,500, and Kansas 102,850.

Thus, these four states produced 2,203,550 barrels a day, leaving only 295,150 barrels to be turned out by the rest of the country. The entire eastern territory, including Michigan, produced less than 110,000 barrels a day. The older eastern fields have a fairly steady production and do not appear to be susceptible of much expansion. Therefore, the future of the oil industry appears best on proration agreements among Texas, Oklahoma, and Kansas, with California perhaps joining in.

Mexico Fixes 30 Years as Maximum Murder Penalty

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 20.—(AP)—A maximum penalty of 30 years imprisonment for murder is established for the federal district and federal territories in a new penal code just put into effect. Capital punishment was abolished by a code promulgated in 1929.

RECORDS DISAPPEAR; JUDGE AND 4 COUNTY OFFICIALS INDICTED

Paducah, Ky., Aug. 20.—(AP)—Three county officials, a former sheriff and a special auditor, were indicted this afternoon by a special McCracken county grand jury which investigated the disappearance last month of county records from the court house here.

In its report to Circuit Judge Joe L. Price, the grand jury termed the fiscal affairs of the county "miserably kept" and recommended that its investigation be carried on by the regular September grand jury.

Indictments charging malfeasance in office were returned against County Judge W. A. Middleton and County Attorney Holland Bryan. A charge of embezzlement was placed against former Sheriff Emmett L. Holt, a charge of failure to take a tax receipt was filed against County Clerk J. W. Polk, and a charge of making false sheriff's settlements was placed against Thomas E. Knight of Louisville, who made an audit of the county's books in 1929.

Last week the grand jury indicted County Attorney Bryan, County Clerk Polk, Tax Commissioner W. N. Ezell and Holt on charges of conspiracy in connection with disappearance of the records.

"Mystery Man" Arrested Carrying Gun on Shoulder

Business men in the 1100 block in South Wabash avenue were considerably relieved yesterday when police took into custody a man who had been roaming about the district late at night with a shotgun over his shoulder. At the detective bureau the mystery man revealed himself as only a harmless Texan, however, who had been ordered by his doctor to sleep out of doors. The gun, he said, was for protection. He said he was B. M. Fugitt, 40 years old, of Edna, Tex., a salesman for the Original Idea company of Dallas.

LABOR FOES BALK AT PLAN TO SAVE AILING ENGLAND

Demand Economies, Not New Taxation.

BY JOHN STEELE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Aug. 20.—A serious political storm, coupled with possibility of a cabinet crisis, followed today's revelation by Prime Minister MacDonald's Labor government of its plan to balance the national budget.

The plan was revealed to the government's opponents in a series of conferences between cabinet members, leaders of the Conservative and Liberal parties, and the trades' union congress. Sir Samuel Hoare and Neville Chamberlain, for the Conservatives, and Sir Donald MacLean, for the Liberals, immediately attacked the proposals as insufficient to slash the necessary $600,000,000 from the budget, and declared that more stress should have been made on "drastic economies" and less on new taxation.

Fight Dole Reduction.

Trade union leaders, meanwhile, leveled a bitter attack on proposed reduction in the unemployment dole, and sent a delegation to the cabinet's "big five." They declared that they would oppose any cuts in social services, or in the pay of public employés, and urged that a tariff be levied to make these unnecessary.

That move, incidentally, put the cabinet in an embarrassing position, since Liberal leaders declared that any policy of a tariff for revenue would not receive the support of the Liberal party, which the Labor government realizes it needs in the plan to save England in her financial dilemma.

The only hint of aid given the government was a negative one, when the national executive body of the Labor party agreed to "leave the position with the government."

Reveal Salary Slashes.

It was revealed today by trades' union leaders that the government's plan includes cuts in salaries of teachers and police; reduction ranging as high as 20 per cent, of salaries of state employés exceeding $10,000 a year; reduction of 20 per cent in salaries of cabinet ministers; restriction of transitional benefit for unemployed to 26 weeks and extension of the unemployment relief scheme to large numbers of workmen not included now, such as railway employés, municipal workers, insurance company employés and teachers.

Chancellor of the Exchequer Snowden also admitted that a new tax on bonds and stocks bearing fixed interest had been under discussion. He declined to announce the government scheme. Further meetings with the opposition leaders will be held today.

FRANCE NAMES FRANCOIS-PONCET ENVOY TO BERLIN

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Aug. 20.—Andre Francois-Poncet, undersecretary of state for national economy, today was appointed ambassador to Berlin to succeed M. de Margerie, who, it is expected, will retire from the diplomatic service.

The cabinet also appointed Foreign Minister Briand, Minister of Finance Flandin and Louis Rollin, minister of commerce, as chief delegates to the council meeting of the league of nations, which meets at Geneva next month. This announcement confirms the opinion that Premier Laval will not go to Geneva.

ROB JOE GREIN'S NEPHEW.

Two bandits yesterday approached a car occupied by Roy Grein, 26 years old, 5419 Augusta street, a nephew of City Sealer Joe Grein, and Miss Esther Peterson, 25 years old, in front of the latter's home at 3316 Wabansia avenue, and robbed the couple of $70.

"I STOPPED paying fancy prices for insect-killers when I discovered Black Flag Liquid. It cleans out those pesky flies and mosquitoes, moths, ants, roaches and bedbugs—and it saves me money, too."

Follow her example—get Black Flag Liquid to-day. Close the windows and spray the room full of Black Flag's pure, pleasant-smelling, stainless mist. Watch the flies and mosquitoes drop—dead! More powerful killing ingredients make Black Flag surer—and quicker. Yet it's absolutely harmless to humans and pets. Satisfaction—or your money back. Buy a can to-day.

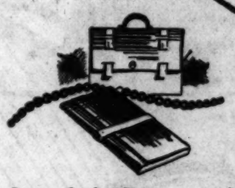
Extra Hands to Help You!

Extra jobs about the house? Extra pairs of hands, hired by the hour, by the day or for several weeks will help with housework and seasonal cleaning. Your time can be devoted to getting the children ready for school, to the sewing you must do, and to doing your Fall shopping. Consult the Situations Wanted columns in the Tribune Want Ad Section or place a Want Ad in the Help Wanted columns.

SWAP for What You Want!

Scores of people use want ads in the Barter & Exchange column of the Tribune Want Ad Section to get things they want in exchange for other things no longer of value to them. Real estate is traded for an auto, washing machines for radios, personal services for apartment rent, or machinery for what have you. Try a Barter & Exchange ad yourself in next Sunday's Tribune.



Speed the Return of Lost Valuables!

IF you lose something of value, place a want ad in the Lost & Found column of the Tribune. A Tribune Want Ad can be seen by more than 815,000 families daily, and by more than 960,000 families on Sundays.

A $1,755,948,800 MARKET!

The census shows that $483.32 is the average per capita sales in Illinois. On that basis, the 960,000 families who read the Tribune on Sundays represent a market worth $1,755,948,000! The 815,000 families who read the Tribune on week days provide a market worth $1,575,623,200!

WILL YOUR APARTMENTS STILL BE VACANT THIS FALL?

WHETHER or not your apartments continue to be vacant depends upon your ability to reach the largest number of likely prospects with your offer. Personal solicitation is inadequate for so big a job. Play safe. Use a Tribune Want Ad, which can place your offer before more families in Chicago and suburbs than a want ad in any other newspaper. Call Superior 0100 and ask for an Adtaker!

DEALERS! Get Back Profits Sacrificed on Trade-In Sales!

WHY store at a sacrifice of profits the used radios, vacuum cleaners, sewing machines, stoves, ice boxes, washing machines and ironers taken in trade? Get cash for them! Offer them for sale in the Household Appliances column of the Tribune Want Ad Section. Housewives watch this column for bargains. Make use of this live market place!

Your Fall Clothing Can Cost Less!

HERE'S a way to reduce the cost of your Fall outfit! Examine your clothes closets for garments no longer worn. Place them on sale in the Clothing & Furs column of the Tribune Want Ad Section. Scores shop in this column for bargains in dresses, coats, suits and other apparel. The cash you can get for your surplus clothing can help pay for your new clothes.

Where Will You Be Five Years from Today?

WHY quit studying because you graduated from high school this year? Employers pay good wages only to those who have had special training. Hard times hit unskilled employes first. LIST POLICE OVER 65; RETIREMENT MAY BE ORDERED Veterans Tell Reaction to Proposed Move.

JAMES McSWEENEY

Cermak's intimation that police department over 65 years of age will be retired on pension to make room for younger blood took on added force yesterday when James McSweeney, police department secretary, presented Acting Commissioner Alcock with a list of members who had reached or passed that age.

The list, which includes seven captains, nine lieutenants, 31 sergeants, 76 patrolmen, and three matrons, was not made public. The oldest member recorded, however, is 84 years old and is believed to be Michael Evans, veteran chief of the bureau of identification.

Captains Offer Comment.

Despite the suggestion that their efficiency and zeal were impaired because of their advanced age met with varying comment from a number of captains who have reached the neighborhood of 65 years. The answers ranged from indignant denials that they were not just as capable as ever to extreme reticence on the subject. Capt. John Ptacek, in command of the Lawndale district, said that he had not thought of retiring but that he would be "glad to abide by anything the mayor saw fit to do."

Capt. John Norton, veteran of the department for 44 years and chief of detectives, who has reached his 67th birthday, said he had nothing to say on the subject. "It's only a rumor anyway," he said, "and rumors belong in rooming houses. However, if it comes to that and they say I am no longer efficient, I'll go around with a pail."

Palczynski Defends Age.

Capt. Joseph Palczynski of the Racine avenue district was emphatic in denying he had slowed up.

"Why, I'm as capble as I ever was," he said, "and my 40 years of experience on the department is hard to duplicate. You can't put an old head on young shoulders. I know my business and I am as physically fit and alert as ever."

Bruno, head of the bureau of identification, and who is 84 years old, holds the civil service rank of chief identification inspector. He is one of the most active men connected with the department and is in his office every morning at 8 o'clock.

A transfer order issued last evening by Police Commissioner Alcock sent Capt. Phillip Carroll, who has been in the detective bureau since 1917 and has been a close associate of Chief of Detectives Norton, to regular station duty in the Warren avenue district. To make room for him Lieut. Michael Coughlin was transferred from Warren avenue to the Englewood station.

CERMAK WARNS POLICE CAPTAINS TO OBEY ORDERS

Mayor Cermak followed his personal transfer of two police captains by stating yesterday that station commanders who do not obey orders from the city hall when they are received will be disciplined. Capt. Thomas Duffy of Sheffield avenue and Capt. Thomas J. Pilkington of Marquette were branched Wednesday night by Acting Commissioner Alcock on Mr. Cermak's orders.

"Capt. Duffy was told time and again to raid the Diversey parkway gambling house and he failed to pay any attention to the order," the mayor said. "If that is the way captains are obeying orders from downtown they might as well know now that they will suffer."

Both officers were sent to the detective bureau, where they engage in little police work. The explanation given for Pilkington's transfer was that he was "too old to be handling a busy district like Marquette."

The gambling house referred to by the mayor is the "Aquarium Social Club, Inc.," operated at 514 Diversey parkway, reputedly by Frankie Pope, who has been called the millionaire gangster. It and another place across the street, at 513 and operated, it is said, by Marty Guilfoyle, were raided by the mayor's police.

U. S. Continues Perjury Case Against Alterie

Charges of perjury against Louis (Two Gun) Alterie, former Dean O'Banion gangster, were continued to Dec. 10 by United States Commissioner Walker yesterday on motion of Assistant United States Attorney Dwight H. Green. Alterie, who was not in court, was called before the grand jury investigating the income tax affairs of Al Capone, and the continuance presumably was obtained because the government wishes to use him as a witness in the Capone trial next month. Alterie now runs a dude ranch in Colorado.

ITCHING BURNING TORMENT ENDED BY RESINOL

What a relief! The first application of this soothing, healing ointment usually stops all itching and burning and makes your tortured skin feel comfortable at last. Apply freely anywhere on body—no parts too delicate, no eruptions too irritated for its healing application. Sold by druggists everywhere. Try it and enjoy the relief it gives.

"The newspaper is an institution developed by modern civilization to present the news of the day, to foster commerce and industry, to inform and mold public opinion, and to furnish that check upon government which no constitution has ever been able to provide."

CANCELLATION.

The committee of international bankers directed by the late London conference to examine the possibility of converting short term credits in Germany to long term credits have gone beyond the terms of their commission to urge the governments involved to "lose no time in taking necessary measures for bringing about such conditions as will allow financial operations to bring to Germany, and thereby to the world, sorely needed assistance."

Translated into plain English, this is an appeal by international bankers to the governments of the nations concerned to cancel the war debts.

This action, for which there has been an increasing pressure even in the United States, upon whose people the chief sacrifice will be imposed, is recommended on various grounds. The moral ground, that the American people did not contribute their share to the defeat of Germany and therefore ought to make up for its failure by special sacrifices in foregoing payment of their loans, is dropping out of the discussion. We are now told that the loans can never be paid or that they divert to the necessities of government finance capital which would be better employed in industry and commerce.

Without going into these arguments, it is advisable for the American public first to face the fact that cancellation, either immediate or in the more plausible and probable form of gradual revision downward, must be paid for by the American taxpayer. The public debts of Germany, France, Italy and Great Britain will be reduced, but the public debt of the American government will not only remain but be increased by the amount of such payments as are and may be paid us upon the loans of the United States to these countries.

That this is inevitable or expedient is arguable and indeed emphatically asserted not merely in Europe but in this country. But it is wise for the American public not only to allow for the self-interest of our debtors abroad but for the special interest of conspicuous American advocates of cancellation. Mr. Wiggin, for example, who was chairman of the international bankers' commission sent to Basle and who signed the report recommending, in euphemistic language, the cancellation or revision of the debts, is the head of an institution and representative of a class which have deeply involved themselves in and largely contributed to the financial conditions which they ask the American taxpayer to relieve. American money was poured into Europe since the end of the war, with, it seems to us, very little consideration of the essentials of sound credit, of the great instability of European conditions, of the government extravagance, of the incorrigible rancore between European nations and the dangers of political and social revolution; in a word, of the ability of debtors to repay. Foreign loans on a huge scale were sold to the American people, and foreign obligations accepted.

We are hearing a great deal nowadays of frozen domestic loans. They have broken many otherwise sound banks and are imposing heavy sacrifices on millions of Americans. Our international financiers have managed also to acquire frozen assets and they would like the American people to help thaw them out. By cancellation of the government debts, directly and indirectly, German and British and other European countries will be relieved of taxation to the extent that it is imposed for the service of government loans and to that extent the private loans in which our international financiers are primarily interested will be made good.

This may be necessary or at least beneficial in the long run to the American people, and again it may not. But the additional burden upon the American people should not be imposed or accepted unless and until the interests especially relieved have made every effort to meet their own responsibilities and have made their own sacrifices. In our domestic banking situation stockholders and depositors are paying strictly for the condition in which they find themselves. They are not shifting and cannot shift their burden on the shoulders of the public. It is not too much to require of those who have made unprofitable loans in international finance to make their own sacrifices and meet their own losses. If improvident loans have been made, as seems evident, in international finance, they should not be bolstered at public expense, unless there is a clear public interest in so doing.

Our international finance has not been distinguished since the war by much foresight or respect for the common welfare. It has made serious mistakes, but lesser folk have to pay for their mistakes, and so should the greater. Not least among the considerations we may wisely give to this problem is the benefit to the nation which will come from penalizing incompetent and greedy use of financial power and opportunity.

CONSTRUCTIVE RELIEF.

An admirable public spirit and foresight have brought about the early organization of machinery for the collection and distribution of adequate relief funds. Although we hope the need may prove to be less extensive than is feared, it is unquestionably wise to prepare for the worst. The consequences of unpreparedness are too serious to be risked and the benefits of early and liberal provision will appear at once. The citizens who have volunteered for this service deserve the confidence and gratitude of the community and will receive it. Their initiative and their known ability make for the relief of anxiety and the restoration of courage even before the material results of relief appear.

That relief in the form of outright charity to the destitute must be given, and on a considerable scale, will not be denied. On the other hand, it should not obscure the fact that more constructive relief is available in the form of essential public improvements for which funds now exist and will increase. The appointment by the governor of an able commission of relief should not permit him to overlook the fact that he has it in his power himself to set on foot public work which will give the best kind of relief, employment on a scale larger than his relief commission can accomplish. The commission intends to collect and disburse to the needy five, perhaps even ten, million dollars. Put without any increase of taxation and by simply drawing upon funds now in hand and which will increase during the winter he can provide more than twice ten million dollars. The west side elevated highway is a public project thoroughly studied and approved. It is one of the most clearly needed of our public improvements, a main artery for the congested traffic of this great center of population. By launching it at once employment can be provided for over thirty thousand men, to say nothing of the business created by material supply. And the result will be not only present relief for the unemployed but permanent relief for motor using citizens of Chicago and northern Illinois and for all who visit the city by that means.

This is double barreled relief of the best kind, a resource of which the governor and legislature are in duty bound to make use. The need is urgent, the means available.

PENALIZING CHICAGO SHIPPERS.

The interstate commerce commission has come promptly to the relief of Kansas City business by ordering the cancellation of proposed switching rates, suggesting reduced rates. Chicago, which has had the highest rates except New York, will do the best it can with a further increase. When Pennsylvania thought the interstate commerce commission was discriminating against Pennsylvania products Senator Reed compelled consideration for his state. Perhaps some day Chicago will learn how to protect its interests at Washington.

Scrutator quotes a former member of the interstate commerce commission as asserting that 30 per cent of the nation's railway mileage does about 2 per cent of the business. What is lost on railway mileage no longer economically justified is made up by charges against the active lines. There are said to be thousands of miles of railways which do not maintain themselves because of changed conditions of traffic. Motor truck service has rendered this mileage obsolete, and it ought on economic grounds to be abolished. It is maintained at a loss which must be borne by the traffic on active roads. This represents economic waste, and there can be no equitable rate structure which does not take it into account. It is a condition which must be disposed of in the interest of both shippers and the transportation system as a whole.

THE NEW GAS.

An agreement is to be made by the city and the gas company to cover the use of the mixed product of manufactured and natural gas. The latter is being brought in by pipe line from southern fields and the new service will require some technical readjustment of regulations. An improvement is promised. It should be a reasonable assumption that one aspect of the improvement will be cheaper gas. It is in that prospect that the material interest of the city lies.

ACKNOWLEDGING TWENTY-FIVE CENTS.

[New York Times.]

The Philippines and the United States are bound together by amity, commerce and red tape. There has just been received in this city from the bureau of commerce and industry of the department of commerce and communcations in Manila an elaborate reply to a request for an extra copy of a twenty-five cent pamphlet:

I beg to acknowledge receipt of your favor of May 28th, together with money order No. 229931 serial number [20317 office number] in the sum of $0.25, United States currency, covering the cost of a copy of our statistical bulletin No. 12 for 1929 as per your order No. B-15988, and in reply thereto, I take pleasure in forwarding to you, under separate cover, another copy of said bulletin in view of your statement that the copy mailed to you, under separate cover, according to our communication of Feb. 19, 1931, has not been received at your office.

Official receipt No. A-7155293 for PO.50 [$0.25], the amount of your remittance is herewith enclosed.

There is a stamp showing that the letter was forwarded by the bureau of commerce and industry on July 3, and another stamp showing that it was received by the parent department of commerce and communications at 6 o'clock on the morning of the same day. In due coure it was indorsed by the secretary of commerce and communications and respectfully forwarded to his excellency the governor general. The executive bureau received it on July 8. To Gov. Gen. Davis the epistle appeared unexceptionable, but to make sure, he forwarded it to the chief, bureau of insular affairs, Washington, D. C., where it was received Aug. 3 and duly made a matter of record, with appropriate notations, on Aug. 5.

If the pamphlet had been sent direct, with perhaps a little slip saying, "Here is the document you asked for," taxes might be lower this year.

BE CALM, MAN!

Two golfers who had sliced their drives into the rough searched for a long time without success, a kindly old lady watching them with sympathetic interest.

Finally, after the search had lasted half an hour, the dear old lady spoke to them.

"I don't want to bother you, gentlemen," she said, "but would it be cheating if I told you where they are?"—Exchange.

CONVALESCENT FARMS.

THE writer recently paid a visit to the Crane farms, a convalescent camp maintained on Lake Geneva by the Crane company as a part of their welfare plan. One section of the farm is set aside for a children's outing camp, and another is occupied by cottages for vacation use by employés, but these features are not a part of the subject being presented now.

Before its present ownership and use the farm was the country home of an attorney, and the former residence is used as a sanatorium. Since the plan was to keep the institution as homey as possible, the only change in the building is the addition of a sun parlor. The institution is operated during the winter and the summer. Employés who have been operated on, who have had severe accidents or severe illness are sent here to complete the cure.

It serves as a preventorium as well. Employés who are vaguely below the normal in health, who are losing weight, becoming pale, developing shortness of breath, losing endurance; who are easily fatigued, who are having a little fever, or who are becoming irritable, on edge, or hard to get on with—but in whom the physician can find no definite disease—are sent here for a short resting spell.

In the institution there is no formidable array of laboratory apparatus. There is no particular equipment of baths, massage rooms, or other paraphernalia of physical therapy.

In a sense, it is a nature cure. There is freedom from worry about meeting the weekly charge, for there is none. The effort is made to lessen all other sources of worry and anxiety. The food is good and wholesome, but no emphasis is put on dieting. There is plenty of opportunity for relaxation and sleep. When the time comes the inmates are encouraged to walk, as far as their strength and endurance will permit, over the fields, through the woods, along roads, and by the water's edge. There is opportunity for swimming.

The German scheme provides much better than ours for bridging the gap between hospital and work, and we especially need places in which a man may tune up his muscles before he goes back to the job. There is also a need in our plans for preventoria for adults.

HOW TO GAIN WEIGHT.

J. J. L. writes: I have been trying for the last two years to gain weight, but in vain. I am 22 years old, 5 feet 10½ inches tall, and weigh 147 pounds. I live in the country, have plenty of fresh air, water, milk, eggs, bread, and other nourishing foods. I take plenty of exercise and have never had a serious illness. Although I am well and strong, and have an overabundance of energy, I fail to gain weight.

REPLY.

My advice is that you leave yourself as the Lord made you. You are all right now, and you might not be if you tried to run your machine on the other fellow's specifications.

If you want to monkey with the works lead a more relaxed life, cultivate calm, go to bed early and get nine hours' sleep, eat a bowl of crackers and milk twice a day in addition to your habitual meals.

POMPHOLYX.

M. F. E. writes: What is pompholyx, and what is the cure?

REPLY.

Blisters on the feet. The condition comes in hot weather especially. Many cases of pompholyx are called ringworm of the foot and athlete's foot. Errors in the other direction tend to balance the account.

The simplest preventive is to use dusting powders very freely on the feet and socks, and in the shoes.

Going barefoot, wearing sandals with or without socks, wearing ventilated shoes are other measures of protective help.

FRIEND OF THE PEOPLE

Letters to this department must be signed with names and addresses of writers.

CHANGE OF NAME.

Chicago, Aug. 4.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—My mother's name is Mathilda, but she has always been called Tillie. She bought stocks and bonds and they are made out in the name of Tillie. I told her it was illegal and the broker said it was not illegal. Will you kindly settle this question for me? F. R.

"It is sufficient, in legal proceedings and elsewhere, that a person is designated by a name by which he is commonly known and called, even though it is not his true name. . . . A marriage by the name by which the individual is commonly known is valid. . . . Where it is not done for a fraudulent purpose, and in the absence of statutory restriction, one may lawfully change his name without resort to any legal proceedings, and for all purposes the name thus assumed will constitute his legal name just as if he had borne it from birth."—45 C. J. 380, 381. Chapter 96 of the Illinois revised statutes provides that a person "may" file a petition and secure a court decree, but it is held that such statutes do not abrogate the common law right of an individual to change his name without application to the courts. In adopting a new name, one should for convenience give notice of the change to those persons to whom the information may be material. In transactions in which the old name appears, we suggest continuing to use it to avoid confusion. For example, the same name under which one took title to real estate should be used in a subsequent conveyance.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

CITY FIREMEN.

Chicago, Aug. 3.—[Friend of the People.]—I am trying to get a job as city fireman, but, as I have no political friends, I do not know how to go about it effectively. Please advise me: When will the next examinations be given? Can applications be filed at any time? At examination time are all applicants given a test? How long before examination time are applicants notified? What is the salary for beginners? How long must one be employed before receiving pension? What per cent of the salary is the pension? A. S.

Examination for fireman [fire department] is not scheduled at this time, but we have placed the name of the writer on our mailing list for notification of same when called. Applications can be filed only when the examinations are officially called. Applicants are called in alphabetical order for the medical and physical examinations at the rate of about 100 per day. When these are completed the mental examination is held in one day. The entrance salary for this position is $2,140 per year, maximum $2,500 per year. For information relative to pensions communicate with the firemen's annuity and benefit fund, care of fire department.

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may. W. M.

CHICAGO'S SKYLINE.

The boat came sailing toward the pier
Into a purple sky,
And etched in crimson, blue and jet,
Chicago's skyline silhouette
Flashed wonder to the eye.
Off to the south, long rows of lights
Along the outer drive
Blinked joyous welcomings to me
Across the foaming sapphire sea
As though they were alive.

The noisy man who, heretofore,
Had talked so loud and long,
The chummy bunch who spent the day
In some extremely active play
Or harmonizing song,
The squealing child, the spanking ma,
The pa who snored so loud,
All seemed enchanted by the scene
And Peace and Quiet reigned serene
Among the motley crowd . . .

You've done a lot of worthy things,
Great skyline of the blue,
No one can gaze along your scope
Without a thrill of joy or hope
And pride and beauty, too.

But when you take a crowd like that,
And make each heart go pitty-pat,
I doff my new Eugenie hat
And say, "More power to you." MAIBIE.

CONTRARY TO THE USUAL run of motorists—if the pilot of our old bus may be called a motorist—we have no aversion to traffic cops. In fact, we like 'em. Yep, sure, we've been "bawled out" on occasions. However, we've never been bawled out when we were not at least partly to blame. In the main, they've been fair-minded and reasonable, even when we ran through a stop light because of some obstructing vehicle which shut off its warning.

Traffic officers meet three classes of offenders—those who willfully try to take advantage, those who are careless, and those who are uninformed. It is a trying task. Small wonder, then, that sometimes a traffic cop is not as courteous as drawing room society might suggest. At the same time, manners of those he meets no less often are not those of the drawing room.

Traffic cops have a public duty to perform. That's why they're there. Suppose, friends, we therefore give the traffic boys a "break" and the courtesy we expect from them. It would be conducive to better motoring conditions all around. Incidentally, we're going to clip and carry a copy of this comment—just in case we should get an arrest slip, a mishap never yet experienced.

I REMEMBER—

Solitary walks through the park in thin gray rain on a spring morning . . . along a boulevard glistening with motor headlights at night . . . down a dark street in a light fall of snow against a brisk wind . . . along a shady avenue on a drowsy summer afternoon . . . down an unfrequented road past sere prairies with bronze and russet leaves . . . across an open field in the pale sunshine of a crisp winter day . . . homeward along deserted paths in a cold dismal shower at dusk. BLONDEL.

WATCH YOUR STEP!

Harve: A young man in that condition known as "crocked," trying to make a descent from the third to the first floor of his hotel, was having a tough time finding the stairway. Finally, he came upon an elevator shaft, opened it, and fell to the first floor. Not seriously hurt, he picked himself up and strolled outside where he met another man coming through the hotel entrance. Says our friend, "Shay, where ya going?"

"Why, I am going to my room on the third floor."

"Thash all right, buddy, but when ya come down, be careful of thash first step. Ish a darb."
TOM A. HAWK.

WISE CRACKING.

This is the season when the distracted husband, after paying dearly for his wife's coat of tan, starts paying for her fur coat.

ISABEL OF BYRON.

This Wake-Line Is Conducted by Harvey T. Woodruff. Help! Help!

TWO HANSOM CABS WERE held up by New York City bandits and their occupants robbed of $1,500. Hansom cabs? Hansom cabs! O, yes, we remember now. We had 'em here in Chicago when the Wake-Line was a boy. But if any one tries to tell us that New York policemen shooed grazing cows off Fifth avenue we just won't believe it.

EASY IDENTIFICATION.

Dear Harvey: I made an appointment by phone with a woman I'd never seen to meet at the Northwestern station. Said she, "O, you'll know me. I'll be the only woman in the station who isn't wearing an Empress Eugenie hat." ELEANOR.

THAT MISSING CONTRIBUTION.

Harve: I read where a contribution was blown off your desk into the river before you had seen the sender's name. From the number of my contributions that are missing, that breeze must have been a typhoon. GLAD OF QUINCY.

DREAM OF THE WEST.

Oh, the dreams that color the western skies when the campfire turns to glow
And the towering mountains seem to rise where the shivering shadows grow
And the blue stars blink and the moon looks down in search of a winding way
To the shimmering roofs of a sleepy town in the dust of a vanished day.

A cowboy sings and the pine trees stir and Susanna weeps for him
(The whispering wind will comfort her when the dawn is white and dim)
And the prairie-schooners go rumbling past, with a thunderous cracking of whips,
Or ever he rides to gaze his last on the blush of her laughing lips.

And, oh, for the dream of a song unsung on the mountain trails of old
Where a hundred gay to their saddles swung and a hundred tales were told
And the fires that flared on the plains below were a call to the endless quest
That only a man and his horse could know in the wild of the wondrous West.

THE WAKE-LINE registers 100 per cent enthusiasm for the Cubs-White Sox charity game at Comiskey park Sept. 9. That is because 100 per cent of the receipts will find their way to charity, and the added fact that the show is a 100 per cent attraction. When 100 per cent of receipts from a charity sports show go to charity it constitutes some kind of a world record. It should be accepted as such by the International Athletic federation.

FROM THE TRIBUNE'S COLUMNS

16 YEARS AGO TODAY

AUGUST 21, 1915.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—There is no longer any doubt in Washington that the United States is facing a situation which probably will result in the severance of diplomatic relations with Germany. With every indication that at least five and possibly more American lives were lost through the sinking of the Arabic by a submarine, Washington officials take a pessimistic view of the situation. If the unofficial accounts of the sinking of the Arabic are correct, there appears to be only one possibility of avoiding a diplomatic break with Germany. That possibility would consist in a disavowal by Germany of the act of the submarine commander and a voluntary offer of reparation.

LONDON.—A German fleet has penetrated the Gulf of Riga and is engaged with Russian warships defending the coast, according to an official statement issued at the Russian war office in Petrograd. Riga has been offering stern resistance to German attacks for some time and has delayed the sweep of Gen. von Buelow's armies around the southern end of the Gulf of Riga. German men of war have been attempting to force an entrance into the gulf in order to coöperate with the land forces, but have been kept out by the wall of mines and the Russian fleet defending the channel.

CHICAGO.—Adolph A. Doleys, superintendent of the John R. Thompson restaurants, who underwent an operation for blood transfusion on Wednesday, died yesterday at the Michael Reese hospital.

30 YEARS AGO TODAY

AUGUST 21, 1901.

PIERCE CITY, Mo.—A mob hanged, shot and burned three Negroes here during a reign of terror which has prevailed in Pierce City for fifteen hours. More than thirty families of Negroes were driven out of town with a warning never to return and tonight not a Negro remains in the city except two railroad porters just in from runs. The mob stole rifles from the local armory and is still searching for the fleeing blacks who have taken to the mountains. Several who have borne good reputations will be killed if caught. The lynchings resulted from the murder of Miss Gazelle Wyle and it is believed that Will Godley, who was lynched, was innocent. Citizens declare that no Negro porters hereafter will be allowed to run through here on trains.

PRETORIA.—Capt. Wood with 100 men, including some of Morley's scouts, surprised a Boer laager twenty miles northeast of The Springs. It is known that 35 Boers were killed, but the number is probably greater. The British retired, but found their line of retreat blocked by another body of Boers and only escaped after a terrific hand to hand fight.

BUFFALO, N. Y.—Señor Don Carlos Moria Vicuna, minister from Chile to the United States, died here.

CHICAGO.—Lawrence Auchterlonie is now the open golf champion of the west. Pitted against a field of forty players representing the best professional talent of this section of the country, the silent little man from the Glen View club finished first with a score of 160 strokes for the double round of the course of the Midlothian Country club.

50 YEARS AGO TODAY

AUGUST 21, 1881.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—The news from the White House today has not been as reassuring as had been hoped. President Garfield is no worse, but it is difficult to state in what respect he is any better. The truth is, the President is a very sick man, and the most sanguine of his attending physicians do not venture to express the opinion that he is even on the road to recovery.

LONDON.—John Everett Millais has been appointed a trustee of the National Portrait gallery in place of the late Dean Stanley.

ANOTHER VIEW OF THE MICHIGAN CRIME.

Canton, Ill., Aug. 15.—Your editorial in today's TRIBUNE dealing with the "Michigan Atrocity" is indeed a thought provoking article. But are you not afraid your zeal in opposing prohibition—a feeling which, I am sure, is your honest belief, and I am not so sure that I do not likewise have—has led you to make some extravagant statements?

Much as I realize the failure of prohibition, it is beyond me to see why prohibition, or even the lack of it, is responsible for such depravity. These three fiends did not commit rape and murder because they were polluted with drugs and liquor. They planned a hold-up, drank liquor to keep up their nerve, and, when they realized they were recognized, did the only thing a person of criminal tendencies knew to do—they killed. They secured the liquor and drugs to steel them up to do a hideous crime because they were criminals and wished to do the deed. Liquor did not make them criminals, but they used liquor because they were already at heart arch enemies of society. If there had been open saloons, or any system of regulated distribution of intoxicants, they could, and no doubt would, have accomplished their intended holdup and subsequent murder as well. Their senses were not so deadened by liquor but that they knew at once they were recognized by their victims. Is there any reason to assume that immediately thereafter the liquor did rob them of reason to the extent that they could and would kill?

It is a singular fact that the "growth of violence and vice, of rape and murder, since the beginnings of prohibition," has been markedly noticeable. But could it not be possible—and I believe it is not only possible, but actually the fact—that the same influences which are causing the growth of vice and violence, and all that goes with it, also is making difficult, if not impossible, the observance and enforcement of prohibition? Crime and prohibition are not linked together in the sense that either has been the cause of the other, but both have been the results of the same causes.

I believe THE TRIBUNE and its staff are honest and conscientious in the relentless fight against prohibition as it is at present, but it is my humble opinion that prohibition and its failure is not a cause, but a result. If THE TRIBUNE could attack and as vigorously fight these underlying causes, prohibition in a real sense of the word would arrive and much of our country's violent crime would disappear.

ORDERLY CHINA.

San Francisco, Cal., Aug. 14.—Your editorial of Aug. 5, entitled "Disorder Spreads in China," portrays China as a land of chaos, where governmental authority is conspicuous by its absence.

In contrast with your editorial opinion, I would like to quote a statement from a speech made by Senator Key Pittman of Nevada before the Commercial club of San Francisco on Aug. 12. It is to be noted that Senator Pittman had just returned from a three month tour of China in connection with his investigation of the silver problem. He said: "There was law and order wherever I went, and that includes the interior. Only in the few isolated regions where scattered communist bands operate was there disorder. The people were industrious, prosperous, and apparently happy."

Senator Pittman further stated in the course of an interview with me later that he would be glad if some parts of the United States were as orderly as China. This is high praise indeed from the senator. And now that the Chinese government at Nanking has practically wiped out the communist strongholds in Kiangsi and put the northern rebel, Gen. Shih Yu-san, into ignominious flight, the Canton movement fades into insignificance. Already negotiations are under way to settle the dispute peacefully. So far as law and order in China and the authority of the Chinese government are concerned, I think the above facts will speak for themselves.

GOOD COOKING, GOOD FOOD.

Chicago, Aug. 19.—The letter published in the Voice of the People on the 19th signed by three officials of the Municipal Tuberculosis sanitarium reminds me of the old army racket. In both the United States and in Europe the food given to the soldier from day to day was generally cooked indifferently by lazy "grease balls" and mess sergeants, and its lack of variety was always a source of unnecessary discomfort.

When battalion, regimental, or divisional inspection time approached the event was always heralded in advance, usually in ample time to permit the food to be cooked passably and a necessary cleanup made of the mess quarters. The company commander sometimes assisted in this preparation, giving whatever instructions were needed, so that later the none too critical inspecting officer would find the existing conditions that met his eye satisfactory. If the inspecting colonel or general stopped along the ranks of the privates and asked one of them about the quality of his company's food, etc., said private would not dare to say anything other than everything was satisfactory. If he said otherwise his captain, always in tow of the inspecting officer, would overhear, and life in the army for that private thereafter would be made miserable by his captain for reflecting discredit upon him.

I have first hand information that the sanitarium fare is not nearly as good as it was before Mr. Cermak was in office. If any one wants facts let him or her ask not the mayor or sanitarium officials but one of several patients (out of our shot of possible informers) who have been there long enough to know actual conditions. MORGUL.

FROM AN OAK FOREST PATIENT.

Oak Forest, Ill., Aug. 19.—I am a patient in the county Oak Forest sanitarium. Reading about the criticism of the food at the city sanitarium voiced by the patients there, I dare one of them to exchange his or her place with me here at Oak Forest. Then they would have something to crow about. We patients here regard the municipal sanitarium as a heaven and our ambition is to be taken into the said institution. My friends were and still are trying to secure a bed for me at the city sanitarium, but they seem not to have enough backing.

PRIZE WINNING BABY

Donna Rae Roth of Aurora, 20 months old, who carried off honors at contest which was staged at the tenth annual Central States fair and exposition at Aurora.

GIRL COLLAPSES AT HEARING FOR SHOOTING YATES

New York, Aug. 20.—[Special.]—Miss Ruth Jayne Cranmer, the girl who is held on suspicion of shooting State Senator Roy T. Yates of Passaic, N. J., in her Manhattan apartment early last Friday, collapsed today, overcome either by nervousness or by the stuffiness of the court room, as she was arraigned for the second time on a short affidavit charging her with the crime.

She was the center of a little knot of lawyers who were arguing before Magistrate Michael Ford as to whether she should be admitted to bail or held another 48 hours pending definite word as to Senator Yates' condition.

Suddenly she became pale and her knees seemed to give way. An assistant to her counsel, former Assistant District Attorney Ferdinand Pecora, supported her while attendants brought smelling salts and water. The faint, if it could be so designated, lasted a minute or two before she straightened up and listened again to what was being said.

Despite their reluctance to consider the matter closed, it was believed the police would have no other alternative and that it would be impossible to prosecute Miss Cranmer, since the only witnesses to the affair—herself and Senator Yates—simply state that they do not remember what occurred.

Field of 800

Donna Rae Roth, who in the 20 months of her young life has traveled nearly 10,000 miles by automobile, was adjudged the grand champion baby yesterday at the better babies contest held at the Central States fair in Aurora. There were 800 babies and children under 6 years old entered.

Donna is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond L. Roth, 312 Ingleside avenue, Aurora. Roth is a mechanical engineer employed by an Aurora manufacturing concern. Both on her motor trips to Florida, California and Canada and at home, Donna has had plenty of sleep, often in the open air, and all the milk she wants. Judges awarded her a rating of 99.7 per cent.

Garth Smith, 41 months old, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lester C. Smith of Aurora, was awarded the prize for the greatest improvement shown by any baby in the show. Her percentage increased from 93 last year to 98 this year.

HOPE FOR PEACE FADES IN INDIA; BRITAIN ANGRY

Gandhi's Attack Arouses Viceroy Willingdon.

BOMBAY, India, Aug. 20.—(AP)—All hope that Mahatma Gandhi might help England frame a new constitution for India appeared to have vanished today with a blunt statement by Gandhi at Ahmedabad that he is unrepentant for publishing his indictment against the government.

Similarly, Viceroy Willingdon suddenly stiffened his attitude at Calcutta and decided to abandon his fortnight tour of India and return to Simla to deal with Gandhi's challenge. He was represented as feeling that Gandhi's presence at the second round table conference is impossible, in view of his broadside, which charged breaches in the Delhi pact.

Thus India seems once more to be on the verge of a calamitous civil disobedience campaign, for Gandhi already has declared he will not accept the conference's decisions as binding upon the Nationalists and that he will renew his fight against the government if it fails to grant his demands for self-government unfettered by British control.

Whatever chance existed for an understanding between the mahatma and the viceroy appears to have been wiped out by Gandhi's precipitate publication of his "charge sheet" against the British provincial officials. It was said by those close to the viceroy that he was on the point of extending the olive branch when the accusations were issued.

LOSES $60,000; IS LOCKED UP TO PREVENT SUICIDE

A keen-eyed old man, formerly a Chicago grocer, who now is jobless after losing $60,000 belonging to himself, his wife, sons, and daughter by playing the stock market, was locked up at the detective bureau yesterday to keep him from ending his life. Giving his name as Charles Ringer but at the same time admitting it was an assumed name, the man surrendered himself and handed a revolver to Chief of Detectives John Norton.

"Here," he said, handing the weapon to Norton, "I am so desperate that I am afraid I may kill others as well as myself."

All the information Norton could obtain was that about thirty years ago the man lived at 60th street and Woodlawn avenue, and had a grocery at 51st street and Indiana avenue.

When Norton warned that photographers might take pictures of him for the newspapers the man said, "If they do, no one will ever see me alive again." He will be arraigned in court today, according to Norton.

CORN ON THE COB: YOU'LL ENJOY IT FROM EAR TO EAR!

Eat What You Can and Can What You Can't.

ANGELA PETESCH.

Sweet corn! There are many different varieties—Golden Bantam, Evergreen, Country Gentleman, etc.—and many, many more ways of serving. But knowing all this, I still prefer plain sweet corn on the cob. And I like to eat it without the little metal holders that are always flying off halfway down the stretch. This may be plebeian, but since you get mussy no matter what you do, you might just as well enjoy it without the holders and be resigned to getting butter on your fingers as well as in your ears.

First prepare the corn by removing the husks and silk, and cutting away any imperfect parts. Place the corn in enough boiling salted water to cover and boil rapidly until tender. If the corn is young it should not take longer than 10 or 15 minutes. Serve steaming hot with plenty of fresh butter and salt.

False Teeth Not So Good.

Of course, any of you who have false teeth may experience a little embarrassment in manipulating an ear of corn and trying to maintain your former technique of champing down one row and up the next without stopping or taking breath. Cutting the corn off the cob and frying with green peppers or tomatoes or both will take care of this difficulty. There is only one objection to cutting off the corn and that is that some of the delicious sweet juices are lost.

You may use sweet corn that has previously been boiled until tender or very fresh corn that is uncooked, if you want to try this suggestion. If it is cut off the cob without having been boiled first, it will be necessary to fry it just a little slower and longer in order to make it tender without having it burn. Just melt a large piece of butter in a hot frying pan and when slightly brown put in the corn which has been cut from the cob, the peppers washed and sliced and the tomatoes that have been cut in quarters. Fry until tender and brown. As we suggested above the tomatoes may be omitted if you prefer.

Other Ways of Cooking Corn.

Here are other ways of cooking corn.

CORN OYSTERS.

2 cups grated corn.
2 eggs, well beaten.
1 teaspoon baking powder.
½ teaspoon black pepper.
1½ tablespoons cream.
4 tablespoons flour.
¾ teaspoon salt.

Mix all ingredients together well and drop by small spoonfuls onto a hot buttered griddle and fry. Serve immediately.

CORN FRITTERS.

Add 2 egg yolks to one pint of grated corn and then add 1¼ cups flour. Season with salt and pepper. Fold in the egg whites carefully. Drop a little of the batter into hot deep fat and if it does not hold together add a little more flour (the moisture in the corn varies). Then fry the fritters in deep fat until a golden brown and serve.

CORN SOUFFLE.

2 eggs.
¼ cup sweet milk.
Salt and pepper to taste.
2 tablespoons melted butter.

Separate eggs and beat yolks lightly with 1 tablespoon flour. Add the corn, milk, seasoning and melted butter. Add the beaten egg whites last and fold in carefully. Pour into an oiled baking dish and bake ½ hour in a moderate oven.

This is the big season for sweet corn. It is cheaper now than it has been and we recommend your taking advantage of the opportunity. Eat and enjoy it in its fresh state. Like one gentleman said "Eat what you can and can what you can't."

U. S. Estimates Texas Has 5,500,000 Sheep

Sheep in Texas—potential lamb and mutton for Chicagoans—are estimated by the United States department of agriculture to number 5,500,000 head. Another state with large flocks of ewes, rams, and lambs is Colorado. Farms, feed lots, and ranges hold 3,047,000 in that state.

Food Talk.

I don't know just what the weather is like where you are today, but I do know that if we have to endure any more strenuous heat sessions even I may lose my appetite. What a catastrophe for a cooking editor to fall by the wayside like that!

Because the weather has forced itself on both our mental and physical consciousness repeatedly this summer, and may continue to do so the remainder of the month as well as September, I'd like to offer a suggestion which may help you to interest indifferent family appetites.

Adornment Needed.

Does your husband sit politely at the table and merely nibble his food? Does young Bob push away his chair and ask to be excused from dinner because he "doesn't feel like eating"?

If this is the situation in your household, try your hand at artistic garnishing. Too often we think we are serving an appetising meal when it is well balanced and tastily cooked. The importance of proper garnishing is seldom sufficiently emphasized. At all times we eat with our eyes as well as with our mouths, and food unusually attractive in appearance tempts us more than food hastily placed on meat platters into vegetable dishes and served unattractively.

Garnishes for Fish.

This morning we are considering garnishing as it is related to the serving of fish. Tomato cups, beet cups, marinated asparagus tips, diced hard boiled eggs, carrots and potatoes are only a few of the many vegetables which may be used. Potatoes in dainty little shoe strings are delicious with a fried or boiled fish. Mashed potatoes squeezed out of a pastry tube make intriguing borders and potato nests. The nests may be filled with a favorite vegetable such as peas, string beans or diced carrots. Stuffed olives, paprika sprinkled over a creamy white sauce, parsley, and watercress supply the contrasting color note which is needed in garnishing.

In the beginning garnish experimentally. Try for an effect which pleases your eye and one not difficult to achieve. As you become more expert in handling your pastry tube—it's only a matter of practice—attempt the unusual. You will be surprised how simple garnishing is, and how easily and quickly it can be done.

ESCALLOPED CHEESE.

Butter three or four slices of bread and dice. Line a baking dish with a layer of bread, then a thick layer of grated cheese. Continue until the dish is filled. Beat the yolks of three eggs, add a pinch of salt and one pint of hot milk. Fold in the stiffly beaten egg whites to the milk mixture. Pour the mixture over the bread and cheese. Bake in a moderate oven 20 to 30 minutes.

CORNED BEEF HASH.

1 cup chopped corn beef.
2 cups boiled potatoes.
½ cup scalded milk.
Butter the size of an egg.
Pinch of salt and pepper.

Mix the ingredients and place in a baking dish. Dot the top with bits of butter. Place in a moderate oven and bake about 45 minutes. Have the top of the hash brown. This will serve four.

Housewives looking for bargains in good food this week-end can find the majority of meats from 5 to 40 per cent lower than one year ago, and all important grades and types lower than two years ago. The best bargains in meat this week are plate beef, pork spare ribs, and fresh ham, according to a survey among retail meat merchants by the Institute of American Meat Packers.

Some of the uses and recipes suitable to those most economical meats are supplied by the institute of packers, whose comments follow:

"Plate beef, the chefs tell us, is one of the most flavorful of the many cuts of beef. It is a cut made up of long fibers, containing delicious meat juices in large quantities. In order to get the full benefit of the flavor of this meat it is necessary to cook it properly. For example, like this:

STEAK, SPANISH STYLE.

1½ to 2 pounds of flank steak.
2 tbspns. melted meat drippings
2 tabspns. vinegar
1½ tspns. salt
¼ tspn. pepper
1 onion, chopped
1 tbspn minced parsley
1 tbspn minced celery leaves
1 small green pepper, chopped
2 cups tomato soup or tomato sauce

"After wiping the steak with a clean, damp cloth, score on both sides. Cover with a marinade dressing made of the fat, vinegar, onion, and other seasonings. Soak for an hour or longer. Sear the meat, using extra meat drippings or bacon fat if needed. Then place in a shallow baking dish or casserole. Add what is left of the marinade dressing, the tomato soup or sauce, and bake in a moderate oven [325 degrees, F.] for two hours, or until the meat is tender. Four servings.

Fresh Ham.

"Although fresh ham is probably not quite as well known as cured and smoked ham, it is a delicious meat and can be prepared in a variety of ways. It is delicious cut as a steak or it makes an excellent roast. Here is a tested roast fresh ham recipe.

FRESH HAM BAKED IN CIDER.

Fresh ham, 10 pound.
½ cup water
1 qt. sweet cider
Bread and onion stuffing
Salt
Pepper

"Wipe and bone the ham. Fill the cavity with stuffing and tie firmly. Sprinkle with salt and pepper, dredge with flour. Place in baking pan with hot water and roast 5 hours in a moderate oven. During the last hour of baking add cider and baste frequently.

Spareribs and Sauerkraut.

4 lbs. spareribs
1 tbspn. salt
½ tspn. pepper
2 tbspns. flour
2 tbspns. butter
3 medium size onions
1 green pepper
1 tspn. horseradish
½ cup parsley
½ cup water
1 No. 2½ can sauerkraut

"Cut spareribs into pieces suitable for individual serving. Rub with salt, pepper, and flour. Melt butter and brown spareribs in it. Mix finely chopped onion and green pepper with horseradish and water, pour over sauerkraut in kettle, cover and simmer until tender. It will take approximately 1½ hours. Drain and heat sauerkraut and serve with spareribs."

LABELS OFTEN MISLEAD, BUT STILL ARE LEGAL

There are tricks in all trades, and a few unethical food manufacturers label their products with statements and photographs which are misleading, but not necessarily illegal under the federal food and drug act. A picture of an Italian olive tree on a label, for example, does not necessarily indicate that the product is Italian olive oil. Sirup in a can bearing a picture of a maple sugar camp may be maple sirup—or it may not, federal inspectors point out.

The consumer may assume that "Golden Corn" is golden bantam corn, which may or may not be the case; and the word "Yolkin" may give the impression that the product—perhaps made of soy bean lecithin—is egg yolks. The careless label reader may infer that "Pineapple Hearts" are a superior kind of canned pineapple, but this term as used by one canner meant pineapple cores.

A label, "Pure Vegetable Oil Flavored with Olive Oil," may have the words "olive oil" in prominent letters, giving the casual label reader the idea that the product is pure olive oil. It may seem that "Natural Tomato Sauce" is not artificially colored, but the label, farther on and in small letters, may declare that artificial coloring is used. The moral of all this is, "Read labels carefully."

Avoid Soap When Trying to Remove Fruit Stains

Remove wet fruit stains with water alone; no soap should be used until this is tried, for the alkali in the soap sets most fresh fruit stains.

POULTRY POPULATION OF ILLINOIS IS MORE THAN 28 MILLION

Illinois is an important poultry and egg producing state, according to the following figures:

Chickens on farms in the state last year numbered more than 28,000,000. Illinois has more than one-sixteenth of all the hens in the United States.

More than 3,000 carloads of eggs were shipped in 1930 to Chicago, Boston, New York and Philadelphia from Illinois farms.

Illinois farm hens drink more than 15,000 barrels of water in a day and eat 631 carloads of feed each week. The annual value of poultry products in the state approximates $60,000,000.

PROMISE FAIR VISITORS MANY IDEAS ON HEALTH

Visitors at the annual Illinois State fair, which opens tomorrow at Springfield, are promised a unique exhibit on nutrition offered by the state department of public health. The nutrition exhibit is to be a part of the balcony display of the exposition building.

What happens to the teeth when the diet is wrong and how correct and incorrect diets affect health, weight, disposition, strength and activity are some of the projects which have been set up for the exhibits, both in pictures and in pens of guinea pigs and white rats.

DAME CHICAGO FORSAKES BRIDGE TO CAN FRUITS

Price Reductions Revive Housewives' Art.

Home canning lore that has lain dormant in the minds of housewives for several years and even in some cases for a decade or two, is going to be brushed off this summer as shopping baskets, or son's coaster wagon, or the rumble or rear seat of the family car are filled with low priced fruits and vegetables as suitable foodz for winter consumption.

Even bridge tables are being neglected while groups gather in kitchens throughout Chicagoland to merge their efforts in making preserves. The only warning for the economy minded souls is to study relative prices of manufactured canned goods in comparison with the total cost of home preserved foods.

Sirup Pointers Recalled.

Water bath, steam pressure canning, and oven canning are three recognized systems of canning fruits and vegetables and poultry products. There's another point that the once expert housewife may have forgotten. It is the matter of thickness in sirups as regulated by the amount of sugar and water added to fruit.

A thin sirup includes one cup of sugar to three cups of water; a medium sirup, one cup of sugar to two cups of water; while a thick sirup is a cup of sugar with one cup of water, according to experts.

Booklet Gives Tips.

Some of the canning tips that are most useful to the amateur or to the home canner out of practice are included in a small booklet recently compiled by THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.

It includes directions for canning fifteen vegetables and twenty types of fruit, the correct time for processing, and the temperature and correct time to allow when oven canning. This is available to those who send in a self-addressed and stamped envelope to THE TRIBUNE food editor.

Miss Tobin is under contract with Universal Pictures and makes all her pictures with them. She played her way to fame opposite Lew Ayres in "Up for Murder" and John Boles in "Seed." Remember her fresh vivacity—the slim, graceful figure so smartly gowned? "Whether it's to start the day or to keep up pep in the afternoon, I find nothing compares with grape juice," says Miss Tobin. "Welch's is a favorite of mine. It's a pleasant companion in my studio bungalow, at home or on location." Welch's Grape Juice is strengthening and refreshing, without fattening in the least.

For Sincere Hospitality

HERE'S a beverage perfectly designed by Mother Nature for healthful sociability. Let Welch's be the life of your party, for it contributes the conviviality of exuberant good health. Its quick energizing coolness stimulates good cheer with no depressing aftermath.

In the highlands of upper New York state, soil, water and sun combine to create this delightful beverage-tonic which stays hunger and satisfies thirst. Slightly laxative and non-fattening, it is so rich in vitalizing elements that many prefer it diluted with one-third to one-half water. Serve it tomorrow morning as a breakfast fruit. You'll find it wonderfully delicious!

1930 was a vintage year in the Westfield grape section. This means that today you enjoy an extra measure of that subtle bouquet, exotic flavor and lambent purple color which is the exclusive heritage of the Concord grape.

There are dozens of delightful ways to serve Welch's — both as a beverage and in a variety of desserts and frozen hot-weather dainties. The best plan is always to keep a generous supply in the pantry — convenient for impromptu entertaining and for preparing happy surprises for the entire family. GARDENS SOLVE FOOD PROBLEM FOR THE NEEDY

Muncie Plan Hailed Boon to Hoosierland.

BY PAUL POTTER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Muncie, Ind., Aug. 20.—[Special.]—Feeding the family, an important question these days with high officials as well as family heads trying to make the best use of bounteous foodstuffs for winter needs, has been solved in an unusual and striking manner in several Indiana cities. But here in Muncie, the matter has been given such thorough study and organization that not a worthy family, no matter how long removed from a payroll, is going hungry today, or need expect to next winter.

The Muncie plan, so named by President Hoover's relief agencies, has entirely removed any need for a dole. Mayor Murphy of Detroit could have saved himself embarrassment and his taxpayers more than a million dollars if he had come down here for his relief plan instead of wasting away funds and self-respect of those who dug deep into his doles.

Seed Put to Good Use.

This week a committee of judges have gone over the 1,056 home and vacant lot gardens of Muncie's unemployed. Only four of the families who were given seed by organized charity had failed to make their gardens supply themselves with food, instead of depending upon the township trustee. In addition, they had canned as high as 120 quarts of vegetables per family for the winter pantry shelves.

The city's unemployment costs have been cut from over 1,100 families to some 320 who now require outside support and due to economies affected by a uniting of efforts of civic groups with the local charity trustee, the city's taxpayers have been saved $26,000 this year in feeding its poor.

It all started last fall when a group of farseeing citizens formed the Muncie Community Garden association. Three objectives of this voluntary group have already been fulfilled. First, to find employment by which the needy could work for the family food; second, to relieve the city from any chance of a dole system; and, third, to store up surplus food for winter needs.

Organizations Coöperate.

Coöperating in the project are the governor's commission on unemployment, the chamber of commerce, the social welfare agencies, the public schools, local industry officials, Purdue university, and local government officials.

A plot of 35 acres near the city was turned over to the association, where under supervision of a paid superintendent, tomatoes, potatoes, onions, carrots, cabbage and beets were set out. Every family head applying for charity was allowed to work out his needs on the basis of 50 cents an hour under the superintendent. Others were given the same allowance, all paid in food, clothing or medical attention instead of cash, by working on streets, parks, or other improvements.

Relief Costs Reduced.

By the system, it naturally evolved that only those willing to work for what their families needed applied for aid, and in the first month the relief costs slumped sharply for the city and township. No business was interrupted or deprived of sales because these people were penniless.

One family head, for instance, worked out his family's medical bill to the amount of $57 in the large garden. In addition, seed and fertilizer were given to 1,056 families who dug up back yards or used vacant lots for gardens—and a pretty sight they make for the city today, with neat rows instead of unsightly weeds.

Other cities in Indiana, prompted by the return of the old "war garden" popularity, have enabled their unemployed to be helped to willing self-support. Wabash, Anderson, Gary, Jeffersonville, Kokomo, Marion, Richmond, South Bend and Hammond have such projects under way, with others now starting similar efforts.

Provides Chance to Work.

"The community owes no man a living, but it does owe him an opportunity to work for a living," declares H. E. Young, horticulturist at Purdue university, who is devoting full time to building up industrial gardens through funds supplied in Indiana and five other states from the Rockefeller foundation.

Out of the coöperation that has brought every sort of business group, social and civic leadership into a united effort in Muncie has come a centralization of all the city's employment and social welfare work in one building. In turn, it has brought about savings in the township's purchases of fuel, clothing and medical attention for the needy, and an accurate means of selecting those who deserve public support.

Thus the taxpayers have been saved money, and a higher per cent of charity funds reaches the actual family needing them, while the family pride has been maintained and willing hands been kept busy. Muncie is proud of its gardens.

Spuds to Stave Off Winter Hunger in Muncie

Through a city-wide movement, the unemployed of Muncie, Ind., have been busy this summer, growing potatoes, cabbage, onions, squash, tomatoes, beans, and other foodstuffs that can be used when the snow flies. These family heads are sorting potatoes on the community garden of 35 acres, for which work they are credited for aid given their families.

FIND PINK LEMONS IN CALIFORNIA, BUT SPECIMEN IS RARE

Pink lemons have been found growing on a tree in California.

However, the tree is a rare specimen, and the public is warned that there is little chance of the pink lemonade industry switching to the new lemons for raw material.

Pink lemons were first exhibited at the national orange show this year. They came from a tree in Burbank and, so far as known, the tree is a bud sport (or freak) of the variegated Eureka lemon, which was developed from a limb variation of the Eureka lemon, discovered in 1911. The variegated Eureka lemon trees are not as productive as the normal Eureka lemon trees and they are grown chiefly for ornamental purposes.

The pink fruited lemon tree is identical in appearance to the variegated Eureka tree, but as the fruit approaches ripeness it develops a decidedly pink color in the rind, flesh, and juice.

Budwood from the pink lemon tree has been inserted in sour orange seedlings and the resulting trees will be studied to see if the pink lemon can be further propagated.

BUYING FRUITS IN QUANTITIES REDUCES COST

Prices Are Listed for Busy Housewives.

BY EVERETT SWINGLE.

Many housewives shopping this week for fresh fruits and vegetables will find sizeable savings in buying quantities large enough to plan on making preserves, spiced foods, pickles and other canned fruits and vegetables, according to a survey of the wholesale and retail markets.

This will prove especially true in the purchase of peaches, cucumbers, apples, pears and tomatoes. By the bushel peaches should be around $1.30 although wholesalers indicate that retail prices in the next week or 10 days may go to around $1 for good quality fruit. The Illinois shippers are just beginning to get into full harvest in the southern part of the state.

Plenty Cucumbers Available.

Plenty of cucumbers for "salts," "dills," "sweet-sour," and relish are available. Wholesale lots are being sold for 40 and 50 cents a bushel, with some of the best quality for $1. The retail price ranges, depending on quality, from $1 to $2 a bushel in Chicago stores.

Lettuce has become slightly cheaper but is still above last season's price because hot weather ruined much of the homegrown crop. Small heads are retailing from 6 to 13⅓ cents each, with larger heads of lettuce priced from 13⅓ cents and upward. Green peppers are being sold at 6 pounds for 75 cents in some stores this week.

Celery is selling according to the size of the bunches. Some crates containing 20 bunches are retailing for 8 to 9 cents a bunch, while crates with 25 bunches are being sold so that the retailer obtains about the same total price, $1.75, or about 7 cents a bunch.

Juice Grapes Arrive.

The season's first western "juice" grapes arrived this week from Fresno. Wholesalers were offering retail stores 24 pound boxes for $1.25, which means that these grapes would be about 8 to 10 cents a pound in the stores.

Crab apples are now coming from Michigan. They should be priced about the same as the best cooking apples or about 4 cents a pound. The best eating apples are selling for around 25 cents for three pounds or from 8 to 10 cents a pound. Bartlett pears are priced at around 10 cents a pound. Seedless grapes are from 7 to 10 cents a pound, depending on quality.

One of the week's new vegetables is the well known rutabaga. Food distributors are obtaining them from two sources at present. Those considered the best are from Virginia and are around 5 cents a pound, while smaller and lower in price are those from Canada.

Potato Prices Vary.

Another vegetable, new for this season, is the hubbard squash, which market men report will be scarce this year. Some now being sold are homegrown and should be priced at about 35 cents, according to the wholesale price of $2.25 for a dozen.

That old standby, the potato, is having its "ups and downs" as far as price is concerned. Retailers are selling some of the best quality for around 35 to 39 cents a peck. These are the Missouri cobblers, the Wisconsin, and the Idaho russets. The Idaho russets cost the retailers more, so that in most stores they are priced slightly higher than the cobblers and other types.

Onions are available for around 4 cents a pound, with one chain of stores selling the dry yellow kind for 19 cents for five pounds. Tomatoes are 6 to 7 cents a pound.

Week's Average Prices

FRIENDS IN CITY MEET BODY OF MRS. LA FOLLETTE

Funeral Services Will Be Held Today.

Belle Case La Follette, widow of "Fighting Bob," passed through Chicago yesterday from Washington on her final trip to her native heath in Wisconsin. She came and went, in death, as quietly and unpretentiously as she had traveled the same route many times in life. Yet this last trip, to end when she is laid to rest this afternoon beside her husband in Forest Home cemetery, at Madison, did not pass unnoticed.

Friends Meet Family.

For she had for escort, in the observation coach behind, those who were nearest and dearest to her; and though the funeral train was unheralded various personages sought out the members of her family to express their sympathy to her daughters, Mrs. Fola La Follette Middleton, and Mrs. Ralph Sucher, and her two famous sons, Gov. Philip and Senator Robert La Follette.

Charles S. La Follette of 6234 Ellis avenue, a cousin of their father, was among the group who met the governor and his brother, the senator, at the station.

Services Will Be Today.

"One could hardly say that religious services will be held," Gov. La Follette said of the funeral this afternoon. "Prof. Max Otto of the philosophy department of the state university will give a eulogy at 2:30 o'clock in the rotunda of the historical library on the campus."

Pallbearers will include both the Governor and Senator La Follette. Others will be Herman L. Ekern, former Wisconsin attorney general; Alfred T. Rogers and Jack Roe, law partners of Gov. La Follette; George Middleton, husband of Fola La Follette, and Ralph Sucher.

LITTLE ORPHAN ANNIE: The Report

AL SMITH SILENT AS NATION WAITS POLITICAL STAND

Matters Complicated by N. Y. Inquiry.

New York, Aug. 20.—[Special.]—Alfred E. Smith is resisting strong pressure to force him to declare his position in relation to the national political situation and the crisis developing in the threatened clash between Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt and Tammany hall. His baffling silence has the presidential candidates and politicians guessing and worried.

ALFRED E. SMITH.

Behind that impenetrable wall of silence which he has built around himself, the former governor is today the biggest single factor in the whole Democratic problem.

It is known that repeated efforts have been made very recently to "smoke out" Mr. Smith. Whether spontaneous or inspired by those most concerned about his attitude, the efforts seem to have grown into a countrywide movement, but every attempt of that kind has failed before his ponderous silence.

Affairs in the organization in this state appear to be moving toward a climax which may be reached in the special session of the legislature called by the governor to meet next week for the express purpose of arming the Seabury committee with greater powers to attack the Tammany city administration. That has infuriated the local leaders.

The Roosevelt candidacy so far appears to have been based on the theory that the governor was big and strong enough to run away with the nomination without the backing of either Tammany or Al Smith.

Suddenly the idea appears to have dawned somewhere that in all probability Roosebelt or any other candidate may not be able to win that nomination against the wishes of Smith and his allies.

KING GEORGE'S THIRD SON ILL; HAS APPENDICITIS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Aug. 20.—The duke of Gloucester, third son of King George, is reported to be suffering from a severe attack of appendicitis.

The duke left for Sandringham ten days ago and felt well until yesterday when he returned to London. Today, following a medical examination, he was rushed to a nursing home. It was stated late tonight that he is "quite comfortable."

Physicians will hold a consultation tomorrow morning to decide whether or not an operation is necessary.

G. H. Obert, Civil War Veteran, Dies at Age 86

Gifford H. Obert, 86 years old, civil war veteran and past commander of Stanton post, G. A. R. Fergus Falls, Minn., died yesterday at his home at 1434 Walnut street, Des Plaines. He had been in failing health for a number of months. He enlisted in the 11th U. S. infantry, Iowa, when he was 17 years old and served throughout the war. At the time of his death he was a member of George H. Thomas post, G. A. R. He is survived by three children, Evelyn F., Richard, and William Obert, and a stepson, Richard Tice. Funeral services will be held Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the chapel at Des Plaines. Burial will be at Maine cemetery.

YESTERDAY'S PUZZLE SOLVED

Rector, Hit by Chicago Auto, Dies in Canada

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WALKER ACCOUNTANT WILL BE QUESTIONED IN GOTHAM INQUIRY

New York, Aug. 20.—[Special.]—Samuel Seabury asked the police today to find Russell T. Sherwood, accountant who for 15 year has handled private business for Mayor James J. Walker, and to serve a subpoena calling for his appearance forthwith before the Hofstadter legislative committee.

Mr. Seabury wants to question Mr. Sherwood about certain matters "pertinent" to the city-wide inquiry, in which he acted as agent for the mayor.

Mayor Walker's bank accounts as well as his income tax returns have been handled by Mr. Sherwood, but Mr. Seabury would not answer when asked if he wished to inquire about the accounts. These accounts, as well as those of George W. Olvany, who was leader of Tammany Hall during the first Walker administration, are now being examined by Jacob Gould Schurman Jr. of the inquiry staff.

Those close to the mayor said that Sherwood was willing to testify, but not before Mr. Walker has returned from taking the cure at Carlsbad, Germany.

The investigation of magistrates' courts last winter convinced Seabury that speakeasy graft is the easiest and most prevalent form of corruption among the police force, and today he ordered subpoenas issued for the reputed owners of three of the largest speakeasies in the '50s east and west of Broadway, to try to learn how they keep their "stand-in" with the police.

The three men wanted for questioning could not be found immediately, but they are believed to be at the Saratoga race track and will be subpoenaed when they return to Manhattan.

GEN. F. C. BOLLES HERE TO ASSUME FT. SHERIDAN POST

Brig. Gen. Frank C. Bolles, a native of Illinois and a veteran of 35 years' service in the army, arrived in Chicago yesterday to take command at Fort Sheridan.

BRIG. GEN. BOLLES.

Although he was born in Elgin, in 1872, Gen. Bolles said on his arrival that he had visited Fort Sheridan only once before. That was when he was accepted as a candidate for West Point, where he graduated in 1896.

He was decorated for gallantry in the Philippines campaign and was wounded twice, gassed, and awarded several decorations for bravery in action during the world war. He commanded the 39th infantry in the Aisne-Marne, St. Mihiel and Meuse-Argonne offensives. He was promoted to brigadier general in 1928.

Nels Sorensen, President of Express Company, Dead

Funeral services for Nels C. Sorensen, president of the N. C. Sorensen Motor Express company, 1800 North Western avenue, who died in his home at 920 North Kenilworth avenue, Oak Park, yesterday, will be held at 2:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon at the Logan Square Masonic temple, 2451 North Kedzie boulevard, with burial in Mount Olive cemetery. Mr. Sorensen was 69 years old. He came to the United States from Thisted, Denmark, in 1884 and in 1892 began his long career in the expressing business in Chicago. He is survived by his widow, Christina, and four sons and two daughters, Arthur, Edward, George, and Harold, and Mrs. Thora Wieneke and Mrs. Mabel Haller.

Funeral Service Tonight for Joseph Z. Rowe

Funeral services for Joseph Zerbe Rowe, 58 years old, 4840 Lake Park avenue, loop realty man who died at his home Wednesday evening, will be held from the chapel at 4227 Cottage Grove avenue tonight at 8 o'clock. Burial will be at Reading, Pa. Mr. Rowe had been in the real estate business in Chicago for 30 years. He was a member of the Hamilton club, the Chicago Association of Commerce, and the Masonic order. He was a veteran of the Spanish-American war. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Mary S. Rowe, and two brothers in Reading.

Tears Up Deputy's Writ, So That Ends Bridge Party

Hammond, Ind., Aug. 20.—(AP)—It's so embarrassing to have a deputy sheriff appear with a writ of replevin for the family automobile when one is entertaining one's friends at bridge. Mrs. Louise Kast found it so today. Thus she was free tonight on a $1,000 bond on criminal charges preferred by the deputy sheriff who said Mrs. Kast tore the writ of replevin to scraps and defied him to arrest her. That was the end of her bridge party.

Soviet Grain Floods Dutch Ports; Hoard It in Silos

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

THE HAGUE, Aug. 20.—Large shipments of Russian grain are flooding Dutch ports. Over 2,200 tons of rye have reached Rotterdam. The grain is being put into silos and aboard ships in harbor to await a rise in prices before selling. During the last fortnight the soviets have shipped 8,000,000 bushels of wheat to western European ports.

LAKES TO GULF BARGES BY NEXT YEAR, U. S. HINTS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 20.—[Special.]—Indication that the government expects to have barges operating the lakes to the gulf route in 1932 came today when the war department, in granting an extension of time for completion of a railroad bridge, stipulated that all obstacles to navigation be removed by that date.

The statement was made in connection with the application of the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy railroad for an extension of time to May 8, 1933, for completing the bridge across the Illinois river at La Salle. Work on this bridge has been commenced, the war department said, adding that "the railroad company states that due to financial difficulties, it does not desire to complete the bridge in the time specified, which is August, 1932."

"The application is approved," the war department ruled, "provided the railroad company will install permanent pile protection above and below the south piers of the new bridge and temporary pile protection around the pivot pier of the present opening in accordance with the plans and will remove the coffer dams and pile protection used during the construction of the new piers on or before the opening of navigation in 1932."

Daniel Lamey, Old Time Barrington Resident, Dies

Terrible Eczema Goes Quickly

Strong, Powerful Yet Safe, Healing Oil Has Astonished Sufferers

Here is a wonderful antiseptic oil now dispensed by pharmacists at trifling cost that will do more towards helping you get rid of unsightly spots and skin diseases than anything you've ever used.

Its action is little less than magical. The itching is instantly stopped; and in a short time you are rid of that bothersome, fiery eczema. The same is true of barbers' itch, salt rheum and other irritating and unsightly skin troubles.

You can obtain Moone's Emerald Oil in the original bottles for 85 cents at any modern drug store. It is safe to use—guaranteed—and failure in any of the ailments noted above is next to impossible.

ANNIE H. WHITE, VETERAN DOCTOR, DIES AT AGE 84

Dr. Annie Hungerford White, 84 years old, a citizen of Chicago since her marriage to Capt. Lyman A. White in 1867, died yesterday at the home of her son, Harold Ferris White, 4947 Kimbark avenue. Dr. White was a veteran of the Chicago fire and helped her husband open the Clarendon hotel, 150-52 North Clark street, in 1873. The Hotel Sherman now occupies that site.

Dr. White received her medical degree from the Hahnemann Medical college in 1895 and practiced in Woodlawn for many years. She was one of the oldest members of the Chicago Woman's club and had many poems published by that organization.

Dr. White is survived by two sons, Harold of Chicago and Clarence Ferris White, Everett, Wash. Funeral services will be held in the chapel of the Oakwoods cemetery tomorrow.

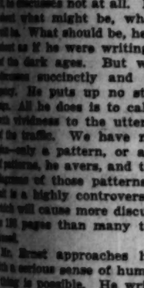
"America's Primer," by Morris L. Ernst [Putnam]. Published today.

A few months ago there appeared an extremely interesting and provocative little volume called "New Russia's Primer," translated from an actual primer in use in Russia for the inculcation of the ideas of the soviet in the youth of New Russia. It stated, in the simplest possible language and with pictorial as well as statistical examples, what constituted the five year plan of the Soviet. Since civilization of the United States is the most discussed culture in the New Russia—owing to the fact that it is an industrial ideal which the soviet seeks and America is the model of the machine—the contrasting examples of social order which the author of the primer cited were mostly American examples.



MORRIS L. ERNST.

It was inevitable that some one in the United States would write an answer to the Russian volume, pointing out the fallacious conclusions of the other author and citing the ones much more knowledgeful Americans could draw from our national statistics.

Morris L. Ernst has done just that in "America's Primer." Strangely enough, however, the burthen of his rebuttal is not so much the correction of the conclusions which Mr. Ernst draws in his "New Russia's Primer" as an elaboration of our national statistics and pointing out the fact that the United States is ludicrously and destructively without any plan whatever.

Mr. Ernst takes the statistics which we are so fond of gathering, and which we probably provide more generously than any other nation on earth. He translates those statistics into a criticism of modern life which is startling and which should dig at the roots of any man's mind. What the United States is bound for, where its social and economic ideals will lead it he discusses not at all. He is silent about what might be, what perhaps should be. What should be, he is as mute about as if he were writing a history of the dark ages. But what is, he discusses succinctly and with pungency. He puts up no stop and go signs. All he does is to call attention with vividness to the utter confusion of the traffic. We have no national design—only a pattern, or a confusion of patterns, he avers, and then makes diagrams of those patterns. The result is a highly controversial volume which will cause more discussion with its 118 pages than many tomes have caused.

Mr. Ernst approaches his subject with a serious sense of humor, if such a thing is possible. He writes lightly about serious things because, paradoxically, thus one is more apt to achieve a popular consideration than by dead seriousness.

We are a nation of gamblers, he says. "We wager with money and with life. As a people we are consecrated to gambling. The lotteries of Spain and Cuba and Italy are child's play in comparison to the lives of many of us! Deep in undercurrents of American folklore is the legend that 'any boy can become President.' Lincoln was a rail-splitter. Harding a printer's devil. We never cease hearing that anybody has the chance of getting rich."

And because we are a nation of gamblers we are "rugged individualists" to him. "Rugged individualism is the antithesis of a plan for common well being," he says. "An economic plan resting on a plan must arise either out of the compulsion of law or out of accepted custom." We are, he says, the most overlawed and the least law obeying nation imaginable, for we enact more laws annually than any other nation and we never repeal one. We merely disregard those which are outmoded. "We refuse to be overawed by laws," he says. "Not even the constitution is sacred. It is only our declaration of an adventure with life."

Our rugged individualism makes it impossible for us to accept government control or government jurisdiction in most things, although we accept it in a few which are vital and make a tremendous campaign against "government in business."

"We are loath to rest authority in our elected officials; in fact, we distrust and resist them," he says. "Nor has any student of our folk custom suggested that America is developing a unified economic chart out of mere individual mores."

"Apparently we prefer the suffering and misery of economic chaos," he concludes, "to any definite plan of national life."

"We are a people of conclusions."

"We are the richest nation in the world, with the longest bread lines."

"We are a lawless people of rugged individualism, but easy to join in temporary lockstep by an advertising campaign and a snappy slogan."

"We are the most daring of gamblers, but timorous of new ideas in government."

"So timorous that we reject any planning of life."

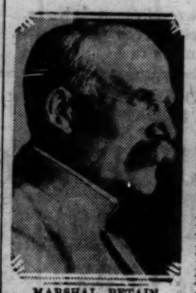
MARSHAL PETAIN TO LEAD FRENCH AT YORKTOWN, VA.

PARIS, Aug. 20.—(AP)—The visit of Marshal Petain of France to the sesquicentennial of the battle of Yorktown next October will be given the importance of an official military and naval mission by the French government.



MARSHAL PETAIN.
[Acme Photo.]

Marshal Petain also will visit Newport, R. I., where the French army had headquarters during the revolutionary war. The marshal and his party will sail from Toulon Oct. 5.

Five descendants of Frenchmen who fought for American independence will accompany him. They are Gen. de Chambrun, descendant of La Fayette; Marquis de Grasse, Marquis de Rochambeau and his son, Gen. D'Ollone, and the Duc de Noailles—the two latter designated by the French Society of the Cincinnati.

Gen. de Chambrun's wife is a sister of the late Nicholas Longworth.

Other representatives of the French army will include Maj. de Rochambeau, Capt. de Beauville and Maj. Lacoste de Laval of the 18th Infantry regiment, which has on its regimental flag "Yorktown," because it succeeded to the regiment which took some of the defenses of Yorktown by assault.

The naval delegation will consist of Rear Admiral Descoftesgenon, Capt. Brohan of the cruiser Duquesne, Capt. Lacroix of the cruiser Suffren, Commander Marzin, and Lieut. Martinant de Preneuf. The cruisers Suffren and Duquesne have been ordered to transport the marshal's party.

Factory Jobs Ignore Beauty, Survey Shows

Better Places for Older Women, It's Said.

Fitness for the job and personality—not youth and beauty—determine a woman's opportunities for employment, a recent survey made by the women's bureau of the Illinois Manufacturers' association disclosed yesterday.

In summing up the survey, made from reports and records received from manufacturing concerns in Illinois, Miss Anne Hinrichsen, director of the bureau, stressed the importance of older women in the industrial world.

"The best jobs go to the older women," Miss Hinrichsen said. "She has a decided advantage where qualities of judgment, attention to detail, sustained perseverance and patience are required. Where speed is required the younger woman has the better opportunity.

"Between the untrained older woman and the untrained girl, the latter has the advantage, but the untrained and trainable older woman can get a better and more stable job than her younger competitor. More than two-thirds of the applicants for jobs in factories are young girls, but of the older women who apply a higher percentage is accepted, our survey shows," Miss Hinrichsen said.

"The young girl is refused more jobs, gets more jobs, and holds them a shorter time than the older woman.

"We find that beauty is practically nonessential, but the attractiveness of appearance which comes from good grooming is highly important," Miss Hinrichsen said. "Good dressing, in the estimation of the employer, is neatness and suitability. Elaborate or expensive dressing has kept more women out of jobs than lack of clothes."

The appearance of physical efficiency was a subject upon which employers expressed emphatic opinions, according to the report of the survey. Well, strong women of alert minds were preferred to young girls of low physical resistance, the employers said. Self-pity and dull or pessimistic attitudes were the most serious handicap of older women, the report indicated.

Irish Envoy to Paris to Take Belgian Post

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

DUBLIN, Aug. 20.—It was learned today that Count Gerald O'Kelly, Irish Free State minister to Paris, will also represent the Free State at Brussels, Belgium. It is reported that Italy contemplates appointing a minister to Dublin. The diplomatic corps here now represents the Vatican, the United States, France, and Germany.

MOVIE GOSSIP

Hollywood, Cal., Aug. 20.—(AP)—Seventeen year old Geraldine Barten, San Pedro high school girl who works in the 5 and 10 cent store on Saturdays, never saw Maude Adams play Peter Pan, but she believes in fairies.

She is sure a good fairy sent a motion picture crew to her home to make a short film for home consumption and selected her to play the feminine lead.

A little one reel melodrama, "Sally Comes Home," was filmed and then the motion picture folk left and that would have been the end of the story if Darryl Zanuck, Warner Brothers-First National chief executive, had not seen the film run off in his private projection room.

Summoned to the studio, she was given a contract, although the visit she made to "sign up" was her first behind the scenes.

She will not work in the 5 and 10 cent store next Saturday.

Hollywood, Cal., Aug. 20.—[Special.]—Still shaking her head in denial that she and Michael Farmer, Paris business man, are planning marriage, Gloria Swanson reached here today to resume motion picture work. Farmer came on the same train. "I am a married woman," Gloria reminded her friends. Her divorce from the Marquis de la Falaise becomes final in November.

FOUR FILM STARS VISIT CHICAGO ALL IN A SINGLE DAY

Stars from Hollywood trouped in on Chicago yesterday. There was Sylvia Sydney, whom you've seen in "An American Tragedy," and Dorothy Lee, small screen beauty who made good in her own home town of Hollywood, and Mae Murray, who needs no introduction. And to that list should be added George Jessel, who writes his own plays and comes from New York for appearances here.

Both Sylvia and Dorothy were wearing the ravishing Princess Eugenie hats and bound on vacations, Sylvia to New York and Dorothy to Detroit.

Miss Murray in her few minutes in Chicago let be known that she has become reconciled to her Prince M'Divani. She was with her dancing partner, William Moffa. They are to make personal appearances in the south and southwest.

Palestine Takes Its Time, Tourists', Too; Some Sample Events

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

JERUSALEM, Aug. 20.—Theaters start late. Football matches start late. Autos come late. Lectures begin forty minutes after scheduled time. In Palestine no one is in a hurry.

The best way to travel from Jaffa to Jerusalem is by auto. The distance can be covered in just under an hour. By railway the normal time taken to cover the same distance is three hours. Most people, therefore, go by car. You book one place and tell the automobile company to fetch you at 4 p. m. because you have an appointment at 5:30 in Jerusalem.

"Yes, sir, there are three other passengers. There will be no waiting." At 4:10 the driver turns up with one other passenger.

"Where are the other two?"

"Ah! Ah!" he will reply, beaming, "they are ready; quite ready."

He drives up to the house of Jamaal Effendi. Mrs. Jamaal comes to the gate smiling. "My husband is taking the bath. At once he is ready. At once. At once." Within the half hour he is dressed, but he has many things to tell his wife before he leaves for Jerusalem. The chauffeur sounds the horn. "Yes, yes. I am coming at once. At once." And he continues his instructions. At last he is in the car and there is only one more passenger to fetch.

Unhappily, the fourth passenger has found another car. Back to the office. Yes, there is some one who has ordered a place in the Jerusalem car for five. The car is outside his door at 4:55. He must finish his tea. He must pack. He will be ready in twenty minutes. And when all four are comfortably seated the chauffeur discovers he needs some gasoline.

Light Musical Comedy Revived for the Talkies

"Honeymoon Lane" at a North Side Theater.

"HONEYMOON LANE."

Produced by Paramount.
Directed by William James Craft.
Presented at the Sheridan theater.

THE CAST.

Kid Dugan	Eddie Dowling
Mary Baggott	June Collyer
Dynamite	Raymond Hatton
Gerty Murphy	Ray Dooley
Tom Baggott	Noah Beery
Mother Murphy	Mary Carr

BY ROBERTA NANGLE.

"Honeymoon Lane," which did not get a big enough sendoff from its producers to warrant an opening in a downtown movie house, is being introduced to Chicago at the Sheridan theater on the north side.

The movie, adapted from the musical comedy of the same name, is a naive, sugary concoction for wearers of rose colored glasses. It is done with that slightly mildewed technique that was used in the early days of the talkies before producers learned they couldn't take a musical comedy right off the stage and toss it at the screen.

The musical interludes in "Honeymoon Lane" have been cut down to two brief bits of song at the opening and finish of the picture, but the plot, I believe, is the same as the stage version with just a little remodeling here and there. Like all musical comedy plots, this one is an unimportant and unconvincing piece of framework built to exploit the talents of the cast.

Eddie Dowling, a likable Irish lad whose charm registers better on the stage than on the screen, plays the noble hero who quits the gambling business to please a saintly old lady.

Ray Dooley [she's Mrs. Dowling, by the way] helps the show considerably by doing the squirming, precocious kid stuff that she used to do in the "Follies." The lady is still just as funny as she was when she worked for Mr. Ziegfeld.

The Dowlings, especially Ray, are the chief reasons for seeing the picture, although Noah Beery, Mary Carr, and Raymond Hatton work hard at their lesser rôles. June Collyer also is in the cast, but that's about all that can be said of her, for not once, it seems to me, does she let a gleam of intelligence register on her fair countenance.

New Style of Hat Credited with Boom in Buying by Women

New York, Aug. 20.—(AP)—An era of prosperity is asserted to be at hand in the apparel trades because a single item—the quaint Empress Eugenie hat—caught the public fancy this summer and lured millions of shr dollars into circulation.

The jaunty concoction of felt and feathers not only won favor itself, but set in motion style machinery idle for several years and, hat and women's wear manufacturers today predicted, would for a time at least alleviate economic depression in their industries.

The most optimistic tradesmen even ventured to forecast that other lines of production unrelated to hats and wraps, dresses and footwear—those already affected—would be likely to see an example in their experience by which they, too, could stimulate a revival of business.

Loyola Adds Nine More to Liberal Arts Faculty

Nine additional appointments have been made to the College of Liberal Arts faculty of the Loyola university. That is was announced yesterday by the Rev. Thomas A. Egan, S. J. dean of that college.

The new appointees are James A. Fitzgerald,, Ph. D. in education from the University of Iowa; the Rev. Francis Gerst, S. J. Ph. D. in mathematics, from the John Hopkins university; J. James Mahoney, Ph. D. in mathematics from the University of California; Arthur M. Murphy, Ph. D. in sociology from the Catholic University of America; Joseph LeBlanc, Ph. D. in modern languages, from the University of Laval, France; Paul Kiniery, Ph. D. in history, from the University of Wisconsin; Henry T. Chamberlain, C. P. A.; Joseph Rice, A. M.,, and Fred F. Montiegel, Ph. D. The last named will give courses in the department of journalism.

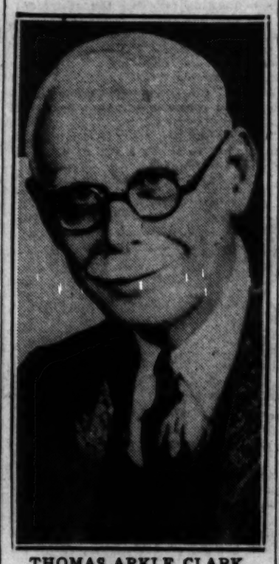
BEG YOUR PARDON

The Rev. Norman B. Barr, superintendent of Olivet institute, said yesterday that a printed report some days ago indicating he had criticized Mayor Cermak for discharging city employés was erroneous.

"I commended the mayor heartily," he said, "for his suggestion of a temporary moratorium on rents and expressed the opinion that that was a permanent way out for the poor of all races, but I did add that the city, not individual property owners, should be made to carry the burden."

According to the Rev. Mr. Barr, the statement about the discharge of city employés was made by another minister who was present at a meeting he attended on the south side. This minister, he added, only called attention to this form of action as increasing the unemployment among Negroes.

CHANGES DEANS



THOMAS ARKLE CLARK.
[Old Dean.]

FRED H. TURNER.
[New Dean.]

Clark Retires After 30 Years as U. of Ill. Dean

F. H. Turner Takes Place in Charge of Men.

Urbana, Ill., Aug. 20.—[Special.]—After thirty years of service as dean of men at the University of Illinois, Thomas Arkle Clark, has retired and will be succeeded by Dr. Fred H. Turner, as acting dean of men. Dean Clark, known to thousands of Illinois graduates throughout the United States originated the office of dean of men in 1901 and since that time practically every college and university in the country, as well as numerous high schools have created similar offices in their institutions. In recent years there has also logically developed the office of dean of women.

Dean Clark reached the retiring age limit of 68 last year but due to a change in the presidency at Illinois it was not desirable to make a change in the office of dean of men at the beginning of a new administration, hence he remained at his post another year. The retiring dean will depart for the east Friday morning on a vacation.

All sorts of problems have been solved for the student by Dean Clark, from those for the one down and out financially to those of the boy worrying over his first college romance. Dean Clark says that there is no class of problem nor personality which the office has not met. The old opinion of the office of the dean of men was that it was disciplinary, and agent for bringing the student in on the "green carpet" to accuse him, and punish him for misdemeanors. The real purpose of the office is to help the students and to occupy a central place in their college life as a sort of service station, a clearing house for troubles, and to give them advice and aid.

The office is open from 8 in the morning until 6 at night, six days a week, and it is crowded most of the time. He has had hundreds of callers every day, the average for one day during a recent month being 354. He does not believe in rule of thumb methods, because he says each case is as individual as is the person most involved.

Although giving up his active work with the university, the dean doesn't intend to become an idler. Next year he will devote much of his time to writing and serving two national fraternities. He is president of Psi Eta Sigma, freshman honorary society, which he founded in 1922 and which has since grown to include 29 chapters and scholarship commissioner and member of the executive committee of Alpha Tau Omega, social fraternity.

Dean Clark was born May 11, 1862 in Minonk, Ill. His father died while the boy was in his teens, and to young Thomas fell the responsibilities of his father's farm and of the family.

For years he carried on the work of the farm with hardly a thought to carrying on his education beyond the common school training afforded in a country community of those days. But one day there awoke the desire to increase his knowledge. With no other support than his own work, he forged through the University of Illinois academy, and in 1886 entered the university.

When, in 1890, he graduated from the university, he carried many honors. He had been for two years local editor of the Illini, junior orator in 1889, senior orator the following year, editor of the Sophograph, later succeeded by the Ilio, class poet, and editor in chief of the Illini.

He is a member of Alpha Tau Omega, Phi Beta Kappa, Philomathean Literary society, and the University Honorary Senior society, then Shield and Trident. A few weeks ago he retired as president of the Urbana Rotary club.

After two years spent as instructor of English and Latin in the university academy, he became instructor in English at the university proper, and with that department he has had intimate connections ever since. In 1895 he became assistant professor of rhetoric, in 1899, full professor. The year 1898-1899 was spent in study at Harvard.

During the absence of Dean David Kinley from the deanship of the college of literature and arts from 1900 to 1901, Dean Clark temporarily filled the position. When Dean Kinley returned, President Draper made him dean of undergraduate students and assistant to the president. The name was later changed to dean of men.

Fredricka Blankner to Get Italian Medal for Writing

Miss Fredricka Blankner, author of four books on Italian culture, has been awarded the gold medal of the Italian government for her work in Chicago. This was announced yesterday by G. Castruccio, royal Italian consul general. Miss Blankner, who lives at 1401 Hyde Park boulevard, has taught at Vassar. She has been honored in the past by the University of Chisago, Wellesley college, Harvard university and the Royal university of Rome.

Friendship for U. S. Called Keynote of Great Britain's Policy

Williamstown, Mass., Aug. 20.—(AP)—In the round table conference on "the future of the British commonwealth," Prof. P. E. Corbett, dean of the law faculty of McGill university, asserted at the session of the Institute of Politics here today that friendship for the United States was the outstanding concern of Great Britain's foreign policy and "is regarded as more important than the league of nations." He expressed the view that in determining policy the dominions consider relations with the United States as much more important than the league."

"Rightly or wrongly the progress of disarmament in the commonwealth depends upon progress of disarmament in the United States," he said.

Prof. Frank H. Underhill, of Toronto university, held that the British diplomats are too open in their desire to please the United States and "fawn so much" as to make their attitude unpleasant for Americans.

Society Woman to Be Social Adviser to Telegraph Users

New York, Aug. 20.—[Special.]—A new courtesy in telegraphic service for the harried hostess from out of town who is not quite able to keep up with the rapid changes in dress styles and social customs will be at her disposal after Labor day, when Katherine R. Bleecker Meigs [Mrs. Willis N.], whose address is given in the social register as Shore Acres, Rosebank, Staten Island, starts the social division of the Postal Telegraph company.

For the price of a telegram addressed to Mrs. Meigs she will be given the answer to any social problem, have arrangements made for a trip to New York, the caring for her children, have a dress chosen by an expert sent to her. The service will also remind her husband of that one important event each year, his wedding anniversary.

OLGA MENN WRITES A CRADLE SONG FOR TINY ROSA RIMINI

Rosa Julietta Rimini, infant daughter of the operatic stars, Rosa Raisa and Giacomo Rimini, has inspired a cradle song that will be heard the country over next month.

Miss Olga Menn, president of the Junior Friends of Art and a close friend of Rosa Julietta's parents, is the composer of the words and music of "Berceuse," written especially for the sleepytime hours of the famous baby.

Adolphe Dumont, conductor of the Philharmonic orchestra, approved so highly of the lullaby that he has volunteered to orchestrate it for his eighty piece group. Some time in September it will be performed over the network of the National Broadcasting company, Dumont announced yesterday at the Congress hotel, where he called in company with Miss Menn to make formal presentation of the composition to Mme. Raisa.

Playing With Fire

By WILLIAM MAC LEOD RAINE

SYNOPSIS.

Mrs. Doris Silver, a dude ranch guest, is rescued from a runaway horse by a handsome stranger, much to the annoyance of her companion, Ranse Brennan. The stranger meets Lee Reynolds, owner of the dude ranch, and fixes a flat tire on her car. She hires him to help on the Lazy R ranch. When she notifies Brennan, who is her foreman, his insolent manner infuriates her and she discharges him. When his threats fail to frighten her he forces his embrace on her.

INSTALLMENT V.
T FOR TRUTHFUL.

"I tell you to let me go, you fool," Lee cried.

The man's kisses stung her cheeks, and lips, and throat. She did not spend her strength in resistance, though the anger in her was like a fire. The groping fingers of the girl found and opened a desk drawer, closed on the handle of a small revolver, and pressed the end of the barrel against his ribs.

Brennan struck down swiftly at Lee's wrist. There was an explosion and the foreman staggered back. He caught at his thigh.

"You damned wild cat!"

He stood glaring at her, ready to plunge like a wild bull if she wavered. The hand back of the weapon was steady, though she felt the pounding heart in her bosom.

"Stay back there. Don't move," she ordered, voice shrill with excitement.

"You've shot me, you hellion."

Lee became aware that some one was standing in the doorway, though her back was turned to it. A voice made itself heard, one politely interested and just a little amused.

"If I'm intruding just let me know," it said.

The young woman backed from the desk in order to be able to see the newcomer without lifting her gaze from Brennan.

"He says I've shot him," she panted, lips bloodless. "It's his own fault."

A brown faced man in worn, shiny leathers moved forward.

"You told me to report to Mr. Brennan, ma'am, and one of the boys said he was in here," he explained.

"You don't have to report to him. He isn't foreman now," Miss Reynolds snapped. She was frightened at what she had done and the fear gave her voice the sharpness of anxiety. "Better see how much he's hurt. One of the boys will get a doctor."

"Or an undertaker, ma'am," the man in chaps suggested pleasantly. He was already convinced that the wound was not a very serious one.

"He isn't badly hurt. Is he?" The question followed the statement, forced from the girl by terror. Surely she had not killed the man.

"I reckon not, ma'am. Looks to me like a nice clean flesh wound. When I spoke I didn't know whether you were through with him."

"He made me do it. He struck my arm." Lee shuddered.

"That's a lie," Brennan flung back, showing his teeth.

"Shoo! That's no way to talk to a lady," the cowpuncher admonished genially. "If you'd listened patient to the li'l boss she wouldn't have had to puncture one of your tires."

"Get out of my way, both of you," the ex-foreman roared. He walked, limping slightly, to the door. There he turned, to shake a fist savagely at the owner of the Lazy R. "Just wait. See how far you get with this. You've bought trouble today that will last you long as you live."

"I tell you to let me go, you fool."

The cowpuncher smiled. "Ideas don't seem to get across to you very well, Mr. Brennan. If I were in your place I'd gather, in a sort of a general way, that the lady was annoyed with me. I expect that's why she sent you the little pill, as a reminder that you were getting on her nerves. Time for you to say 'Adois.'"

For the second time Brennan felt the chill of ice traveling down his spine, of something menacing reaching toward him from the past which he had buried. It spoke out of the cold, steely eyes of the stranger. He was puzzled and disturbed by the strange warning. What was there about this youth that set a bell tolling in him?

With a sound from his throat that was both an oath and a snarl, Brennan turned and left the office.

Lee dropped the revolver on the table and looked at her new rider. "He can't be badly hurt," she said, asking reassurance.

"Don't worry about that hombre. If he's not a bad egg the break was sure against him when he got that plug-ugly face. How come you to start the fireworks? Or is that none of my business?"

A tide of pink washed into her cheeks. "He . . . forgot himself," she said.

"Well, he won't forget you, ma'am, not right away. I didn't like that look he gave you before he left. I'd say he was a vindictive devil."

"What harm can he do me?"

"I don't know," he smiled. "But maybe you do."

She shook her head. "I don't see what he could do."

"Plenty if he sets out to get even."

She drew a deep breath. "Anyhow, I'm glad I didn't hurt him worse, even though it was his own fault."

"I reckon he had it coming."

"Maybe, but——. Wouldn't it be awful to kill some one, not meaning to, and yet in anger?" The horror of the thing she had escaped stared at him out of her brown flecked eyes. All the arrogance had for the moment been shocked out of her. She was a child who had been playing with edged tools and had grazed the skirt of tragedy.

"Not so good," he agreed, looking into her blanched face. "But you needn't waste time over what might have been."

"No."

From her forehead she brushed back a truant lock of wavy hair, a tawny gold shot through with copper. The gesture had its touch of boyishness, the frank unconsciousness of sex.

They heard the clump of boots. Dune Daggett came into the office, his eyes big question marks.

"Everything all right?" he panted.

"I shot Ranse," the girl answered.

The old fellow needed no explanation in justification. "Good for you," he cried in his high, shrill falsetto. "I'll bet he asked for it. Me, I never did take a smile to that moke. He's a bad outfit."

"I discharged him. He's not foreman any more."

"I knew it had to come, Miss Lee. None too soon, I say. He's out there in the corral with hell in his neck, spillin' a mess of cuss words while Kansas runs him up his brone. He can't rattle his hocks away from here any too fast to suit me. Got fresh with you, did he? Wisht I'd of been here with a six-gun in my hand."

"Let Buck take Brennan to town in a car. He ought not to ride. And see his leg is fixed up before he goes. Even if we're through with him, I don't want him to fall off his horse on the way to town. This is our new rider, Dune. His name is John Smith. He'll help you with the remuda at present. Kansas will go back to fencing. Will you please see that John is looked after at the bunkhouse?"

"Yes, Miss Lee. Pleased to meet you, Mr. Smith. Hope yore corporosity will sagasuate nice at the Lazy R. It's a right nice ranch." Daggett's chin fell. He stared at the man whose hand he was shaking. Then a yelp of recognition leaped from his wrinkled throat. "Dog my cats, if it ain't——"

"John T. Smith, usually known as Slim," the young man cut in hurriedly.

"The middle initial is T now, is it?" Lee asked. "It was K a little while ago. At least you told me so."

"Did I? I'm mighty careless sometimes. My brother is Jule K. We're twins. Folks are always mixin' us up."

"Yes? Which brother did you think he was, Dune?" the girl inquired derisively.

Daggett was not ready for this direct thrust. "Well, Miss Lee, I wasn't right sure. I thought maybe——"

"Don't forget that our one is John T. T for Truthful, I dare say."

That was her parting shot. She drew a chair up to the desk and reached for a pen.

As soon as the men were out of hearing Daggett sputtered an indignant protest at his companion.

"What's the matter with you, boy? Ain't yore dad's name good enough for you?"

"I didn't expect you'd know me. It's been fifteen years since we last met. I was a little chap then."

"Know you? Why, you're the spittin' image of Jack Hadley, the way he looked when he was a young colt before he raised a beard. I'm plumb glad to see you. Where you been all this time?"

"A lot of places, Mr. Daggett."

"Dune," the oldtimer interposed.

"Dune, then. I'm here on a little matter of very private business."

"Hmp! Got anything to do with a sheriff trying to locate you?"

"No."

"Glad to hear it. What's all the mystery about, Jack Hadley? If you're trying to fool the li'l boss you can try something easier. She's got you pegged right now. John T. Smith! Hmp!"

EMBARRASSING MOMENTS

Second Meeting.

I was sitting on a bench in the park when a young man approached me, saying, "Why, Marie, my old girl friend! Where have you been keeping yourself?"

He grabbed me by the arm and kept talking to me, while I tried to explain that I didn't know who he was. We entered a restaurant and when we were seated, I said, "You certainly have nerve to take a girl you don't know to lunch."

I got up and walked out with my head in the air.

The next day I was called to the office to meet our new manager.

You can imagine my embarrassment when I saw he was the man who had taken me to lunch the previous day.

Sally and Her 100 Boys and Girls Aid White Sox Victory

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

If you had been one of the hundred boys and girls who attended our baseball party yesterday afternoon at Comisky park you'd be thinking this morning as we do that you had seen one of the best games on record. For thrills, excitement, laughs and suspense one couldn't have done better than to see this game between the Chicago White Sox and the Philadelphia Athletics, the Sox winning 11 to 6.

The thrills began before the game when we gathered on the field to meet and have our pictures taken with Smead Jolley, Vic Frasier and Sullivan, the boy from Notre Dame and they continued until the end of the game when the champions met with ignominious defeat at the rate of an 11 to 6 score.

At the end of the fourth inning the boys from the east had piled up for themselves the neat sum of three runs while the Sox had only two to their credit and we were beginning to feel a bit uneasy. Then came the furious fifth with all the excitement and fun that's ever been squeezed into such a very few minutes. The Athletics hadn't done a thing and then Sullivan of the Sox came to bat and made things hum. Run after run was made—six in all—by Sullivan, Reynolds, Fonseca, Fothergill, Kerr and Appling and you never heard such shouting, stamping and applauding as issued from the boxes where my hundred young guests were seated.

Surely it was a thrilling, exhausting, marvelous game and these were only a few of the highlights—Kerr sliding into second base in the fourth inning . . . Tate stealing a base in the fifth . . . Fonseca in left field . . . Vic Frasier's pitching.

With all this behind us do you wonder that we're confirmed White Sox fans with great hopes for the boys in the remaining games of this series with the Athletics?

Tapering Silhouette Needed to Wear Fall Frocks to Advantage

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

Last year we heard a lot about the steamline silhouette. Now, it's the tapering! Next year it may be the spiral or the circular, who knows? But time enough to worry about that—when it happens.

This year we've got to taper. Taper all over! Taper at the waist. Taper at the wrists. Taper from hip to knee. From slim calf to slimmer ankle.

Possibly the tapering order is responsible for the increase in queries about how to develop the bust. Anyway, you can't very well taper from bust to waist unless you have got something to taper from. Besides rumor has got about, supported by a pair of eyes belonging to this tried observer, that the Follies' girls weren't picked this year for their flatchestedness. They've got shapes! And naturally you can't boast a figure without a bust.

Too, the corset manufacturers are hopping in with their cloth-and-boning aids to more womanly appeal of frame. Uplifts, they call them.

Now, it might be well to recall that a lady can do a whole lot of uplifting on her own by the simple process of standing up, pulling back her abdomen, and throwing her chest out a bit. Also, by the same simple process of carrying herself, she may come by considerable tapering, too. Just try that trick once before your mirror. Lift the chest high and see if the waist hasn't a better curve.

Before you start doing any exercise to develop the bust line, you've got to learn that chest-lifting stunt. Once you've got it, you begin to breathe more deeply, and that may add a cubit to the bust measure. Not only may, but will. Your arm swinging movements had better be done, too, in the interests of a better bust measure. Those circular ones done with arms extended shoulder length can't be beaten.

You can't beat swimming for developing the bust. Here you have to take long, deep breaths or sink. The breathing and the movements involving the chest muscles all put you on the way to a better silhouette.

Danger
in accepting unknown substitutes for Kotex

WHEN substitution may endanger health, beware! When considering a substitute for Kotex, pause. Ask yourself: "What do I know of the hygiene of this sanitary pad? Who made it? Where?"

These questions remain unanswered when you accept a substitute of whose makers you know nothing. Yet they must be answered for your safety.

The answer, of course, is Kotex. Always Kotex. Then you're safe. Kotex is made in hospital-like surroundings. More than ten million Kotex pads were used by hospitals last year. This assurance of safety is beyond price.

Kotex is adjustable. Shaped to fit. May be worn on either side with safety.

Miss Thompson of Lake Forest to Wed Doctor

BY THALIA

Mrs. LEVERETT THOMPSON of Lake Forest announces the engagement of her daughter, Miss Laura Chandler Thompson, to Dr. Paul Budd Magnuson of Chicago. Dearborn parkway.

Miss Thompson was graduated from St. Timothy school at Catonsville, Md., and studied in Europe. She made her debut in Chicago several years ago, and was presented at the court of St. James. No date has been set for the wedding.

Helen Schweppe's tennis opponents in the tournaments are playing the champion of the women's singles tournament at Seal Harbor, Me., since she won a few days ago from a visit with Mrs. Brown and Mrs. Charles Deshler Brown, who are summering at Seal Harbor.

Miss Schweppe, whose swift grace on the tennis courts equals the forcefulness of her racket, entered the Seal Harbor tournament at the Harbor club at Seal Harbor, a contest participated in by amateurs at the three Harbors—Bar, Seal, and Northeast—and triumphed quite easily in the qualifying rounds, and achieved the title by defeating the champions of Northeast and Bar Harbor. She returned on Sunday with Mr. Brown, who had gone up for a visit with his wife and daughters. Mrs. Brown will join her mother, Mrs. Deshler, who has the Browns' young son with her on Long Island, the end of this month, and she and Miss Betty will be back here the latter part of September. Mrs. Brown's sister, Mrs. Rensmalaer Cox, is to be at Northeast Harbor after Mrs. Brown leaves to be with Betty for a little while. Mr. Brown hopes to get away for a visit on Long Island, too, before the summer is over. Miss Brown, who is, you know, to come out this winter [I believe it is planned that she and Polly Perry, daughter of the I. Newton Perrys, will make a joint debut], now has visiting her Miss Ann Beckwith of Minneapolis.

WASHINGTON SOCIETY

Washington, D. C., Aug. 20.—[Special.]—The Italian ambassador has returned to the embassy from a visit at White Sulphur Springs, W. Va.

Paul May, Belgian ambassador, gave a luncheon today at the Mayflower in honor of a party of Belgian educators who are touring this country. The party includes M. T. Claes, engineer and general director of the Scheidt Maritime; M. R. Breckpot, a professor at Louvain university; Louis André, commercial engineer; Abbe Verstraeten, director of the college at St. Nicholas; M. Van de Velde, and M. De Witte.

Representative and Mrs. Richard Yates closed their apartment at the Shoreham this morning and went to New York to sail Saturday on the California for Glasgow to visit their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. John Wishart Henderson, and their two young sons, John W. Jr. and Richard Yates Henderson. Mrs. Henderson formerly was Miss Dorothy Yates. Mr. and Mrs. Yates will return in October.

The wedding of Miss Barbara Jane Atwater, daughter of Henry Atwater and Mrs. Adeline Lobdell Atwater of New York City, formerly of Chicago, to James Andrew Drain Jr., son of Col. and Mrs. James A. Drain of Seattle, Wash., will take place on Sept. 5 at the Lake Forest residence of the bride's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick A. Preston, with whom she has been spending the summer. The service is to be read at 4:30 o'clock by the Rev. Ashley Gerhardt in the presence of members of the families and a few intimate friends. The bride's sister, Miss Edith Atwater, is to be her only attendant, and John Drum of Detroit will be Mr. Drain's best man. The young couple will take an apartment in New York City for the winter.

Fashionable kaleidoscope — When Miss Eleanor McCormick comes on from Bar Harbor to be a bridesmaid in Miss Mary Elizabeth Johnston and H. Conway Olmsted's wedding on Sept. 12, her mother, Mrs. Robert Hall McCormick, is coming with her, to have a look at her new apartment . . . . The Tavern is to have what probably will be the last of its summer outdoor parties on the terrace, a week from this evening . . . . Mr. and Mrs. Richard Walrath who are at Nantucket for the summer, have been visiting Mrs. Walrath's aunt, Miss Annie T. Rogers at Watch Hill . . . . the South Shore Country club is to have a mixed doubles tennis tournament on Saturday and Sunday, and the junior, boys' and girls' championships [3 separate tournaments] will be played off all next week . . . .

Berkshire bits . . . Mrs. Harry C. Holloway of Glencoe is to have charge of the millinery booth at a benefit fair in the Stockbridge town hall on Saturday, Aug. 29 . . . Mrs. Delano de Windt and her mother, Mrs. John H. C. Church, are entered in the women's golf tournament for the Worthington cup at Wyantenuck club in Great Barrington the first three days of next week . . . the Darrow Fultons and Mr. and Mrs. Houghton Cone of New York are guests at Mrs. Warren Salisbury's Tor Court. Kimball Salisbury has been in all the major Berkshire golf tournaments this summer, and has been in the first sixteen in each one. Mrs. "Kim" is to be among the exhibitors in the first annual horse show of the Pittsfield Riding and Polo club at Holmesdale, on Friday and Saturday, the 28th and 29th . . . So is Fannie McPhersons, the Donald McPhersons' daughter . . . Mrs. Ralph Miller of Chicago and Pasadena is visiting her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. W. Rockwood Gibbs . . . Miss Katherine Woolsey of Englewood, N. J., is visiting Miss Kate Buckingham at Bald Head, Lenox. . . . More than $2,500 was cleared from Albert Spalding's benefit violin recital at the Parmalee Prentice villa last week. . . .

Scraps of news—Mr. George Stuart, who has been motoring with his daughters, Miss Harriet and Miss Elizabeth Stuart, in Germany, Norway and Sweden, is to go to Scotland for a month of grouse shooting . . . . Mrs. Edmund D. Hulbert stopped at the George V. hotel in Paris last week after crossing on the Ile de France . . . . the Leslie Wheelers arrived yesterday at the Ambassador in New York . . . . the Haldeman Finnies and their children have returned to their residence at Grosse Pointe, Mich., after a visit with Mrs. Finnie's mother, Mrs. Charles S. Holt, in Lake Forest . . . . white flowers and green leaves were used to decorate the Bar Harbor club ballroom for the dinner dance Mrs. Robert Hall McCormick gave on Monday night for her debutante daughter, Miss Helen McCormick. . . .

NEW YORK SOCIETY

New York, Aug. 20.—[Special.]—Miss Eugenia Morris, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Nay Morris, has been with Miss Gwendolyn Armstrong, daughter of Mrs. E. Maitland Armstrong, at Newport since the early part of this month and will remain there over tennis week.

Cornelius K. G. Billings, who has been attending the races at Saratoga Springs, returned tonight.

More than 125 guests assembled in All Saints by the Sea Episcopal church in Montecito, Cal., yesterday for the wedding of Miss Barbara King, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Garfield King of Chicago, and John Irving Shaw, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arch Wilkinson Shaw of Winnetka.

The Episcopal service was read by the Rev. Dr. George Francis Weld, rector of the church. The bride was attended by her sister, Mrs. Clarence B. Mitchell, matron of honor, and by two nieces, Miss Marjorie King Mitchell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence B. Mitchell, and Miss Ginevra, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William B. Mitchell of Chicago.

Little British Princess to Be Year Old Today

GLAMIS, Scotland, Aug. 20.—(AP)—Princess Margaret Rose, youngest member of the British royal family, will celebrate her first birthday anniversary at Glamis castle tomorrow with a party all her own.

The principal guests will be her parents, the duke and duchess of York, her nurse, Mrs. Knight, and her 5 year old sister, Princess Elisabeth.

There will be a birthday cake and a special dinner.

AMUSEMENTS.

Iowa Woman Sends Cash to Help the Poor

Tumbling into the Camp Algonquin and free ice funds yesterday came a stack of letters, the most generous response since a special appeal for aid to both funds was published in Monday's TRIBUNE.

All letters were indicative of the sympathy of more fortunate Chicagoans for those citizens overtaken by hard luck and unable to meet the costs of such "luxuries" as summer vacations and the delivery of ice at the back door.

"'Better late than never is a saying old but true," wrote Mrs. G. M. H., from Fort Madison, Ia.

From the La Grange Junior Garden club through Barbara Klose, treasurer, came $1.35 "to buy ice for a few needy families." From others came $10 checks to send mothers and children for two weeks vacations to Camp Algonquin.

And it might be mentioned that the largest check received for the camp fund came from a group of children who live on the south side but who are on vacation at the Sherwood Forest hotel, Green Lake, Wis.

The children taking part were Buddy Jacobson, Emily and Edith Harris, Peggy and Irene Portis, Billy and Ruth Kornhauser, Bobby Shotwell, Bobby Rubel, Joan and Dickie Grinker, Teddy Fischel and Betty Bede. They earned $15 by giving two plays at the hotel.

Every Wage Earning Wife Doesn't Spend Salary on Luxuries

BY DORIS BLAKE.

"What would you do if you had a husband who grabbed your salary every week, doled out barely enough for you to get along with, banked the rest, including what he earns, under his own name? DISCOURAGED."

I'd protest at that kind of partnership arrangement, just as you do.

Yours is an experience rather unique. Usually the pay grabbing is done by the other half to support him in the style she likes. Rarely is it ever reported that the money is taken to be put away in a bank. If it weren't for the one sided withdrawal arrangement, I don't know but what that salary grabbing plan would meet with approval. Anyway, it would be a good thing for any number of wage earning wives if they had some one to guide their earnings into safe quarters. The money flits here and there and finally away, with the end of the year finding the finances no further advanced than before.

Of course, the only amicable way that financial arrangements can be managed is to sit down in a friendly manner and make fair disposition of the man's earnings and the woman's—he to shoulder certain obligations, the woman to take care of others, and an agreement that a certain sum shall be banked each week. This must be done before any quarreling has set in on money disposition. Once there is bitter wrangling begun it is almost impossible to come to an amicable adjustment.

I hope this year's crop of newlyweds have taken this repeated advice seriously and are on the way to keeping forever out of their lives the bitterness that comes over finances unevenly dispersed. The only right way, the only trouble-proof way, to handle the money problem is to start out with a definite understanding of the financial responsibility of each of the wage earners involved.

But a man banking his wife's salary in his own name is not the way to handle the money problem. A joint bank account is the right way, or separate accounts if it is so arranged in the beginning.

DORIS BLAKE ANSWERS

Explanation Due.

"Dear Miss Blake: My girl and I quarreled. We made an agreement and she failed to keep it. What should I do? BLUE EYES."

If she can't give you a satisfactory explanation, you'd better find some one who has more regard for her word.

PATTERNS BY CLOTILDE

[Registered U. S. Patent Office.]

Note—Clotilde patterns are made in New York exclusively for THE CHICAGO DAILY TRIBUNE.

WOMAN'S AND MISS' DRESS.

This jaunty sports dress has a yoked bodice that is particularly smart with the deep pointed effect at the front. The hipline is flat and the skirt is cut to give ample freedom of movement. White washable flat crêpe with a yacht blue trim that shows large white dots on yellow shantung with brown are smart suggestions.

The pattern, 3443, comes in sizes 16 and 18 years and 36, 38, 40, and 42 inches bust measure. Size 36 requires 3 yards of 39 inch material with ¾ yard of 39 inch contrasting.

Stand Aside and Let the Young Children Act for Themselves

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

"You've made a fine job of your boy," said a woman the other day to her friend. "You've done something to be proud of."

"He is quite nice," was the answer. "But it really isn't that we've done so much. Sometimes I think it's what we haven't done. It was all there in him, and we simply gave it a chance."

Do you realize how true that is? And how truly simple?

It is the essence of child rearing.

We parents are too much inclined to think we must be doing something to our children all the time. We act as though if we stopped doing something—directing, preventing, and suggesting—that they might go wrong. That is one of our greatest mistakes.

What we need to do is to stand aside and give them the chance—for doing themselves.

I suppose because I am surrounded by growing things I keep thinking of children in termse of flowers and gardens. As I write, in a borrowed and sequestered spot, my eyes feast upon roses and hydrangeas growing in richness and profusion, weighing down the stems with their loveliness. But across the road are roses and lilacs planted at the same time, which are stunted and sparse.

The difference is accounted for in a sentence. The former were given every chance, the latter were not. The former were planted where they had the right amount of sunshine, the soil was modified to suit them, the beds were weeded, the dogs were kept out—and the roses did the rest. It was all there in them—no one tried to hurry the sap upward, no one needed to help unfurl the pink petals. Given the chance, they fulfilled themselves.

What we need to do might be summed up in the words: Stand aside but stand by.

Suggestions for carrying out the ideas contained in this article will be found in the new booklet, "How to Gain Obedience," which will be sent on receipt of a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Field Museum Obtains Two Persian Wild Asses

Wilfred H. Osgood, curator of zoology at the Feld Museum of Natural History, yesterday announced that the museum had received two excellent specimens of Persian wild ass, a very difficult animal to capture, from James E. Baum Jr. of Lake Forest, who recently conducted an expedition through the arid regions of Persia.

Denver, Colo., Aug. 20.—[Special.]—Paul Whiteman and his bride, the former Margaret Livingston, actress, were enroute tonight to Chicago after a brief honeymoon here. They were married Tuesday at the suburban home of his parents.

Tailored Ensembles Are Social Favorites

BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

PARIS.—[Special.]—Wherever you go in Paris the best dressed women on the horizon of your sight are those wearing simple, tailored ensembles for daytime. Socially accepted clothes have got to hew to the trig and tailored line, and with the exception of garden parties and such things, this type of costume is the kind worn by all of the Famous Forty who dictate styles in Paris.

The Worth ensemble, sketched today, is a perfect example of the socially preferred daytime ensemble. It was created by the famous Rue de la Paix house for Mme. Claudel, wife of the French ambassador. The coat is a redingote, made of a blue basket weave woolen, and the collar, which springs out at the shoulder tops from the wide revers, is a sailor collar. The coat closing is achieved by four blue buttons, and the loose sleeves are trimmed with encrusted triangles of self-material.

The frock that accompanies this coat is shown on the larger figure, and is a different kind of two piece dress. It has a collarless, short sleeved blouse of blue voile that buttons down the front with black buttons. The buttoned closing is outlined with black silk embroidered scallops.

Over this blouse is slipped the skirt and lower blouse, the latter consisting of triangular points of champagne colored wool voile in the front and the back, held together by narrow shoulder straps. The skirt has two rows of scalloped blue piping at the hips, and is made ample by knife plaits set in beneath the panels.

Paris Assures Velvet

Will Be First in Fall, 1931, Fashions, and Now, At the Beginning of the Season, These Frocks

At the first sign of fall a velvet frock becomes the most "sought after" frock in the wardrobe. And this season, with the new silhouettes, it is the perfect medium to express the softer details—the new colors, the sweeping moulded lines. There are different styles in this group in sizes for women and misses. $17.50.

Georgette "cuffed" collar and cuffs add their ladylike touch to the simple lines of this one-piece frock. Black, Brown, Wine, Green. Sizes 12 to 20.

Velvet frock with lace trimmed vestee and wide scalloped revers. Black, Brown, Wine. Sizes 36 to 44.

An embroidered scalloped edge and applique on a white silk crepe vestee. The velvet frock in Black, Brown, Blue, Claret. Sizes 36 to 44.

A brocaded vestee adds a softening note to the frock above. Diagonal seams give moulded lines. Black, Brown, Blue, Claret. Sizes 36 to 44.

M'LARNIN BEATS PETROLLE WITH GREAT EMPHASIS

Thus Ends a Paying Fistic Combine.

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Aug. 20.—Jimmy McLarnin wore out his grievance against Billy Petrolle in a ten round cutting scrape in the Yankee stadium this evening. Somewhat less than a year ago, Petrolle smeared over a punch to McLarnin's chin in the first round of a fight downtown at the Garden and dismayed him around something positively cruel for the rest of the evening. McLarnin was taking a slow windup, appearing to throw his fast one when Petrolle tagged him and he said he didn't know what had happened until he read about it in the papers. A few months later they met some more in the big store of the Garden firm and this time McLarnin took no windups with his right, but contented himself with a jar of his owings with painless but humiliating left hooks and jabs.

Tonight, however, they were discarding their profitable combination which had drawn gross receipts of, or, $178,000 in three operations, and McLarnin used the right again, trying to make everything very emphatic. He ripped Petrolle's right eye and smothered his nose and almost knocked him out in the eighth round with Billy Petrolle, the Fargo Express, as he calls himself, sagged in a corner with his knees all of a jitter, as they usually Willie.

Turns His Hand Spring.

McLarnin seemed to shy off after the eighth. Petrolle was all undone anyway and Jimmy may have wished to avoid the thousandth chance of an ensuing clip on the beard. Or, possibly, he was tired himself, for though he used chopper wins over the tree, he work takes something out of him. Anyway, McLarnin put his feet up on the handlebars and coasted gaily to the end of the ten round show with he turned a handspring at the unanimous verdict and went away.

Petrolle sat lingering in his corner, his jaded, ravelled blanket thrown over his shoulders, peering down his mangled nose, dejected and apparently convinced at last that his first victory had been a mistake.

Petrolle won only the first round, during McLarnin two conspicuous jolts, one to the body and the other to the jaw, where the glove left a smarting red welt. With McLarnin doing in right hand business again, Petrolle had an unexpected opportunity to whip the left home as he had done before. But Jimmy had shortened his windup and he was spinning that red right glove down a straight line to Billy's jaw with emphasis that was a famous iron man couldn't afford to enjoy. McLarnin went out in front in the third round and, except in the fifth when Petrolle stepped up in pace and confused him for a minute or so, the score piled up on one side and the grief accumulated on the other. It was a very pleasant little fight for the customers.

Combine Does Very Well.

They parted friends, having done very well for themselves and their dependent managers in the exploitation of a little rivalry which, if it had occurred between a couple of pleasure fighters, would have been utterly passed up an alley or down a cellar. McLarnin weighed 146 pounds and Petrolle 140.

Tony Canzoneri, the lightweight champion, sat among the literati in the press row, munching a poultice of chewing gum and taking the beating that champions always take from lovers by friends they never saw before when they sit in public. Not a glove was laid on Tony in the thirty some rounds that he needed to win the title from Al Singer last winter but, since he is being a popular young man, he has been spanked between the shoulder blades with strange, meaty hands so often that it seems a wonder his ears haven't come unjointed. This back-slapping may be hard to take but it hurts worse when it stops.

Frank Hague, the mayor of Jersey City, who knows more of the secret affairs of prizefighting than Primo Carnera, who has taken part in most of the secret affairs, was holding office hours in a ringside seat. Mr. Hague is king of the Jersey side and the affairs of state seem to follow him

No mail orders for general admission tickets are being accepted at this time. The public sale of box seat tickets will be opened simultaneously at Wrigley field, Comiskey park, and The Hub at 9 a/m. Thursday, Aug. 27.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

Our White Sox yesterday afternoon avenged a million baseball insults and misfortunes when they maltreated the world champion Philadelphia Athletics by a count of 11 to 6, a brutal festival in which 19 hits were acquired by the Chicagoans.

Sixteen of the hits and ten of the runs were made off Waite Hoyt, the erstwhile Detroit bon vivant and still a Brooklyn embalming fancier, who had been admittedly indisposed since July 30, and still was yesterday, although he was given a chance to end his three week rest. The game, though a glorious Chicago triumph, was not accomplished without Tommy Thomas falling in one of the swoons which have beset him whenever confronted with first division opposition this season.

Frasier to the Rescue.

The last time Tommy pitched against the champions in Philadelphia he swooned after the Sox had made six runs in the first inning and the A's won. Yesterday the Sox made him six runs in the fifth innings and Tommy forthwith fainted again. Fortunately young Dr. Frasier was near by and after getting warmed up proved a savior. The result was that Thomas got technical credit for his tenth win of the season and his first against a first division team. The credit to Thomas was purely technical. We'll tell you more about Frasier's valor after we've told you something of the Sox offensive.

Benny Tate was the batting hero with two doubles and three singles in five times at bat. Benny drove in three runs and scored one himself, and in addition caught a nice game. Lu Blue was runner-up to Benny with four singles in five times at bat. Luke Appling, who went in the game when Cissell was injured in the second inning, made three runs and two hits. Lew Fonseca made three hits and a sacrifice, and Reynolds came through with a pair of essential singles.

Billy Sullivan made only one hit, but it was an enormous triple which opened the six run rally in the fifth when the Sox were trailing, 3 to 2. Unquestionably the hit was a great shock to Mr. Hoyt's smugness and led to the barrage of base hits which immediately followed.

Thomas Gets Lead, Wilts.

And now to record the picture of Frasier's fine relief work:

The aforementioned half dozen runs which the Sox made in the fifth set the score at Sox, 8; A's, 3, which many thought would be ample for Thomas, who had been going along right cleverly.

Then came the champions' sixth. Sullivan made a nice stop of McNair's grounder over third, but for no reason whatsoever decided to make a throw to first. It would have been foolish judgment even had young Billy made a good throw, but he missed his target some 15 or 20 feet, McNair going to second. Williams singled to center, scoring McNair.

Hoyt perceived that one of Tommy's spells was coming on and knocked a double, Williams stopping at third. Thomas was wheeled out at this point

PANSY WALKER QUICKSTEPS TO WIN QUICKSTEP

Runs Second Fastest Six Furlongs of Meet.

BY FRENCH LANE.

Pansy Walker, the fashionable daughter of Sir Gallahad III-Erne, which represents the wealthy Waggoners of Texas, is back at the races in her very best form.

She proved it when she won the Quickstep handicap at Hawthorne yesterday, beating most of the real flyers on the track after coming from far back. She triumphed in such convincing fashion by nearly two lengths after coming from behind that she seemed to be serving notice on all rivals to "look out for me" in the rich stakes that are to be run later this season.

It was just about this time last year that Pansy Walker, as a highly regarded 3 year old filly, hit her best form. The rest of the season it took a mighty horse to beat her. She was parading to the post for the sixth time this season when she stepped out for the Quickstep and, despite five previous failures, the folks in all corners of the country must have known she was going to show one of her old time good efforts.

Crowd Likes Her.

They began wagering on her early and they were still wagerin on her at post time. As a result she was the favorite at less than 2 to 1. After she started running in the stretch she won just that way.

Pansy wasn't as alert when the start came as she used to be, for Martha Jones and Cheers were soon outrunning her and they were well out in front when they hit the bend leading into the stretch.

Jockey Dyer took a very wide path with Pansy Walker. He lost considerable ground, but that made no difference to the fast running Texas filly. She picked up Cheers and whipped him soundly. Then she took after the flying Martha Jones and soon drove on past her.

Even after she was conquered, Martha Jones had something left. She rallied gamely and was gaining near the end but Pansy Walker was the winner by this time and she galloped easily past the finish line well in front.

Fast Purse in Six Starts.

It was the second fastest six furlongs run at Hawthorne this season as Pansy Walker galloped the route in 1:12 2-5. She won $1,000 for her efforts and it was the first money she had been able to earn in the six starts she has made this year. In the mutuels she paid $4.92.

It was another disastrous afternoon at Hawthorne for the players of favorites with the exception of Pansy Walker. They went down one after another and the heavier they were backed the more decisively were they beaten.

Lady Ebony was an even money choice to fall in the third race and Dick Morris was at odds on when he was beaten in the second. Montanaro, at about even money, was neatly trimmed by Prince Tokalon in the mile and a furlong fifth race and Infinity, at $22.96 in the mutuels, made a show of her field in the sixth where Wirt G. Bowman was the heavily backed choice.

Californians Win On Infinity.

The Californians at Hawthorne made quite a clean up on Infinity as he hails from the Labrae stable of Los Angeles. He went to the front soon after the start and raced far in the lead of the others until near the finish. He had enough left to go on and beat Battling On and Primeval in an exciting finish. Wirt G. Bowman was completely out of the picture.

Pros Violate Rules on Dues; Ruled Out P. G. A. Tourney

Philadelphia, Pa., Aug. 20.—(AP)—Clarence Hackney of Atlantic City and Harry Markle of Reading have been declared ineligible for competition in the annual championship tournament of the Professional Golfers' Association of America at Providence, R. I., starting Sept. 14. The executive committee found them ineligible because of an alleged violation of rules connected with payment of dues.

WHAT A CHANCE TO HOLD A'S!

Lieut. W. F. Healy "questions" Earl Mack, Roger Cramer, George Earnshaw, and Mickey Cochrane of the champion Athletics at the detective bureau showup. He might have come to the rescue of other American league clubs by locking them up for good, but the lieutenant is an Athletic fan.

Quincy Golfing Mayor Defeats Moller, 4 and 3

Quincy, Ill., Aug. 20.—(AP)—Larry Moller of Notre Dame golf fame went the way of most medalists today as five players from Chicago, two from Quincy and a dark horse from Bloomington crowded into the quarter finals of the first Illinois state amateur championship over the Quincy Country club course.

Moller, who captured the medal with a 27 hole score of 107, won his first 18 hole match by defeating Bill Fish of Rockford with perfect golf, but fell before Chink Weems of Quincy, in the afternoon, 4 and 3. Weems, who gained fame as Quincy's golfing mayor a few years ago, caught Moller sadly off his game and all but ran away with the match.

Big Milkman Wins.

Except for Yontz Bonnett, the big milkman from Bloomington, the championship battle would have reverted into an intercity duel between Chicago and Quincy. The Bloomington player, one of the longest shots in the guessing as the battle opened today, clicked pretty golf all day to escort E. Wilkinson of Streator and Art Sweet of Chicago out of the tournament.

Bonnett defeated Wilkinson, 3 and 1, in the morning and turned back Sweet, one up, in the afternoon with almost a perfect game. His match with Sweet was one of the hardest of the day, although two went into overtime. One down and four to travel, Bonnett reeled off two consecutive birdies on two of the hardest holes on the course to take the lead and then shelled the remaining holes with par golf to keep his lead.

Weems to Oppose Bonnett.

Bonnett meets Weems in the quarter finals tomorrow and while Weems was the heavy favorite, he was promised a stiff struggle.

The longest match of the day involved Win Day, the Chicago boy who cut a swath in the south last winter. Day led his home town rival, Johnny Banks, 1 up, coming to the 18th, but tossed away a half by muffing a one foot putt. He did the same thing on the 19th, but staggered in with a par four on the 20th to win the match.

George Gardner of Quincy eliminated Oliver Rogers of Quincy in the other overtime struggle, 1 up, in 19 holes. Gardner won with a birdie 3.

Chicago's other quarter finalists were George Dixon, who eliminated Allen Oakley, Quincy, 2 up, and Rod Miller, another Quincy entry, 2 and 1; Warren Dawson, who defeated Bob Harlow, Chicago, 2 up, and Newcomb Stilwell, Quincy, 4 and 3; Bob Baldwin, who eliminated H. Tarpley, Quincy, 6 and 5, and L. D. Hunt, De Kalb, 3 and 1; and Jimmy Garard, who won by default in the morning and then shot fine golf in the afternoon to beat Frank Justin, Chicago, 5 and 4.

JENNINGS LOSES FIRST SET IN PARKS TENNIS

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 20.—(AP)—With only four casualties among the seeded stars, play moved into the semi-finals in the national public parks tennis tournament today, except in the men's singles in which two quarter final matches are to be played tomorrow.

The seeded players eliminated today were Arnold Simons, Louisville; Helen Schuman, Louisville, and the doubles team of Simons and Fred Royer, Dallas, and Lydia Kayser and Verna Corcoran of Buffalo. Simons and Royer fell before Jack Castle and Kaseal Peckoff, Buffalo, in the quarter finals, 6-3, 6-1, 5-7, 7-5.

George Jennings, seeded first in the singles, breezed toward his fourth consecutive championship, although Simons handed him his first set defeat in three years of tournament play and his first game defeat of the present tournament. The scores were 6-4, 4-6, 6-8, 6-1, 6-0. In the other quarter final match today Royer, seeded fourth, eliminated Gordon Braudt, Chicago, 2-7, 6-4, 6-0. The two remaining quarter final matches will find Dooley L. Mitchell, Washington, seeded second, opposing Harold Bartel, Cleveland, and George O'Connell, Chicago, playing Thomas Markey, Washington.

Mrs. Jessup Defeated by British Star

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Forest Hills, L. I., Aug. 20.—Father Time, through the human agency of Mrs. D. C. Shepherd-Barron of England, balked the gallant attempt of Marion Zinderstein Jessup of Wilmington, Del., to come back here this afternoon. Mrs. Shepherd-Barron won the deciding set of the third round match in the women's national championships, which was interrupted by rain yesterday, by a score of 6-3, making the total count 6-8, 6-0, 6-3.

Another redemption movement was brought to an end in the second holdover engagement when Sarah Palfrey of Brookline, Mass., lost an opportunity to regain her former high place in the ratings by dropping a straight-set decision to Phyllis Mudford of England, 6-2, 7-5.

Bad Eye Proves Fatal.

Miss Mudford thereby became the quarter final opponent of Mrs. Lawrence A. Harper of Oakland, Cal., who earned her bracket in yesterday's abbreviated session.

Miss Palfrey did some of the most brilliant volleying of her career in the second set, but it was marred by glaring errors on easy chances off the ground. An inaccurate eye, which has ruined an otherwise high-class game in the last two years, once more proved fatal to her.

Mrs. Jessup, who had taken more games from Helen Wills Moody than any other player this season, had not been defeated until she lost to Mrs. Moody at Seabright. She failed today because her game was too rusty to enable her to cope with a woman who has been playing continuously.

Betty Nuthall Wins.

Then Miss Betty Nuthall went into action. Playing as good tennis as has been seen all week, the sturdy British girl overcame Miss Josephine Cruickshank of Santa Ana, Cal., 6-3, 6-2.

Thus, when the day's play came to an end, four English and four American players were in the quarter final brackets. Mrs. Helen Wills Moody and Miss Nuthall, the defending champion, will both face compatriots tomorrow, the former meeting Miss Dorothy Weisel of Sacramento, Cal., the latter, Mrs. Shepherd-Barron. The other two matches bring together Miss Helen Jacobs of Berkeley, and Mrs. Eileen Bennett Whittingstall and Mrs. Lawrence A. Harper of Oakland, and Miss Mudford.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Brooklyn, N. Y., Aug. 20.—William Watson Clark, a southpaw of note, called around today to demand payment for what Charley Root and the other Cubs did to his seven game winning streak recently in Chicago. He collected by a score of 4 to 1 in a struggle that was a brilliant pitching duel until the Robins rose up in the eighth inning and definitely ended Root's hopes of attaining his fifteenth victory of the season. It was the eleventh jolt handed the Cubs by Uncle Robbie's fellows this season.

The hit column is mute testimony to the avenging mood of Uncle Robbie's left hander. He allowed the Chicago tourists only two hits in the first two innings. After that he allowed only another pair, both by Kiki Cuyler. One of these permitted the Cubs to thwart a shutout in the ninth, and it also started Clark to shaking in his boots. He shook so much that he filled the bases on passes. So Jack Quinn, the sprightly 45 year old youngster, strolled in and promptly rang down the curtain.

Root Looks Invincible.

Root was so good a workman that in seven innings he surrendered only four hits and had two out in the eighth before that fatal Robin disturbance began to take form. Then, as luck would have it, Clark had the honor of touching off the first blast. He singled to right. Frederick singled to center and Cuyler, whose outfielding had been sensational, fumbled the drive. Clark went to third, Frederick went to second, and Root began to figure a way of escaping unscathed.

O'Doul was purposely passed, the theory being that of two possible threats, Babe Herman would be the easiest to fool in a pinch. Root pitched outside to keep the Babe from pulling a hit to right, which is his habit. He went after one of these outside pitches and Lady Luck rode along with him. The ball arched high in the air, came down gracefully and landed less than a foot inside the left field line for a double. The three Robins on bases scored. Then Bissonette singled to center and Herman ran in with the fourth run.

Malone Pitches Today.

Pat Malone will pitch tomorrow unless Manager Hornsby changes his mind. Hollis Thurston is expected to be Uncle Robbie's choice.

By way of proving that he has definitely shaken off a recent slump, English singled to right in the first inning. This one added to his four out of five against Vance yesterday inflated his average considerably. The hit, however, did no good because it was preceded and followed by strikeouts in which Jurges and Barton were the victims.

For a few moments in the second inning it looked as if the Cubs might be able to break in with a run, but the double play epidemic mowed them

Talking it Over

BY ARCH WARD.

Union labor is going to do its part to see that charity gets 100 per cent of the Sox-Cubs' receipts at Comiskey park Sept. 9. Andrew Frain, business manager of the Ticket Takers and Ushers, Local No. 53, yesterday sent the following letter:

"The daily press has announced that a baseball game between the Chicago American league club and the Chicago National league club will be played at Comiskey park Sept. 9, the proceeds of which are to be donated to charity.

"We consider this a most worthy effort on the part of the promoters, one that will be appreciated by the general public but most of all by the great number of unemployed who will reap the benefit.

"May we at this time offer for your consideration and approval the gratuitous services of 200 men to serve in the capacity of gatemen and ushers, to be distributed as you see fit on the day of the game?"

Not the least interesting angle of Chicago's 100 per cent charity game will be the opportunity to compare the American and National league ball. While world series rules, under which this game will be played, require the use of the American league ball in American league parks, an exception was made at the request of William Veeck, president of the Cubs. Each ball will be used for four and a half innings.

This is the first time in 25 years that two different types of ball have been employed in the major leagues.

As you know, there is quite a difference between the two. It shows in the reduced hitting and the drastic cut in home runs this year in the National league. Both leagues last winter decided to take some of the life out of the old ball by thickening the cover. The National league went a step further by raising the stitches, enabling the pitchers to get a better grip.

Many predict that Jolley, Reynolds, Fonseca and the other Sox sluggers will not find the National league ball to their liking. It doesn't sail out to the fence as easily as the type they have been accustomed to hitting.

But wait until Frasier, Thomas, or Faber gets his fingers on the raised stitches of that National league ball!

An item under a small head on the inside pages of the newspapers the other day carried the information that Lou Gehrig, first baseman for the Yankees, had that day played his 1,000th consecutive game with the New York club.

Gehrig replaced Wallie Pipp at first base for the Yankees June 1, 1925. This then is his seventh year as a regular in the major leagues. That's something to talk about in itself. It is a downright achievement when you play every game in which your club has taken part in a span that long.

Babe Ruth has been with the Yankees nearly twice as long as Gehrig and has competed in 2,050 games, but he has had several long layoffs on account of injuries. He has been out of more than 250 games. Gehrig, however, has kept right on going, rarely hurt and apparently oblivious to handicaps which must have arisen during those seven years. His goal now will be Everett Scott's record of 1,307 consecutive games.

MORGAN, RUTH ARE ONLY BIG 6 BATTERS TO HIT

The batters who make up the big six of the major leagues produced only two hits yesterday. Half their number, including the three representatives of Philadelphia's two teams, were out of action. Babe Ruth walloped his 34th homer as his only hit in five times at bat and slipped back two points in the averages. He now is 14 behind Al Simmons. Eddie Morgan held his mark even at .355, a point ahead of Virgil Davis, with one hit in three tries. Bill Terry lost three points as he failed to hit in three times up.

Pitcher Jailed; Released Under Guard to Play Game

San Rafael, Cal., Aug. 20.—(AP)—Sacramento, needed Tony Freitas, a pitcher, in tonight's game with San Francisco. Unfortunately Tony was in jail at Novato, Cal., serving a five day sentence for speeding.

But, fortunately for Sacramento, Sheriff W. B. Sellmer of Novato is a broad minded officer. He agreed to let Tony leave his cell for the night and, escorted by a deputy, go to San Francisco for the game. After the game Tony was to be returned to the jail.

EVANS, WITH 145, WINS PLAE DAE AT PARK RIDGE

Rathje Captures Low Net with 140.

Chick Evans shot 71—74—145 over the windswept Park Ridge County club course yesterday in the ninth annual "Plae Dae" to win first low gross.

Evans' 71 was the only score near par shot by the field of more than a hundred. The wind played havoc with scores, there being only a dozen golfers who got a par 5 on the 586 yard third.

Walter Rathje won low net, with 192—52—140. In the morning Dr. A. O. Young, who has won the Park Ridge club championship 11 times, shot 81 for low gross and G. M. Weishelt, 88—18—70, for low net. C. B. Rogers had 82 for the afternoon gross and E. W. Stedman, 91—19—72 for low net.

Anderson, with 152, Captures Euclid Hills Golf Marathon

The second annual Marathon at Euclid Hills yesterday was well named, considering the number of strokes taken by the field of a hundred. Sandy Anderson, veteran pro who built the Euclid Hills course, shot 75—77—152 for the 36 holes and won low gross. Four strokes back of Sandy was Gordon Booth of Midlothian, with 156, who won low gross for guests.

Rusty Moreton, a member, won low net with 172—24—148. Don Powell, Fred Slyder, Lou Dribbiebis, and Ray Nylan, shot 337 to be the low gross foursome. The low net foursome was composed of Anderson, A. J. Berts, Al Weir and Walter Bennett. They had 295.

M'Larnin Ends Petrolle Feud with Victory

at his pleasures. A senator wants to know how to vote. A sheriff whether it is o. k. to jail up some one claiming to be a friend, or somebody wants to open a place somewhere.

Mr. Hague looks something like Uncle Will Gibson, Benny Leonard's old manager, who also carried the target, as he said, for Gene Tunney. Tex Rickard said of him: "I like to do business in Jersey because when it's O. K. with Hague it's O. K. with everybody. No governor, no inspector, no chief of police can come around asking for this or that when Hague tells you you can go."

The prize fights would have been a cozy fit in Madison Square Garden with its capacity of 20,000 and in the vastness of the Yankee Stadium the 15,000 customers were no more than a small huddle. Holding this show out of doors in the largest ball yard there is was something like turning out the militia to stop a quarrel 'twixt man and wife and a great flattery to the boys. They drew $50,000 the first time they fought in the Garden and, on the suspicion that Petrolle might knock McLarnin out of the building the second time the customers betrayed $70,000 worth of interest.

Crowd Boos Singer.

But a third showing of the same fight was sweating the attraction, for the match was stale by this time. Moreover, a lot of the inveterate customers were absent, taking the waters and their punishment at Saratoga, although reports did have it that quite a crowd of them had started footing it back to town to avoid congestion along the highway.

Marty Goldman ricocheted off the floor twice in the second round of a fight with a tough character named Andy Saviola to win a draw in eight rounds, just before the boys came into the ring for the main event, heralded by a shrill yelp from the patrons.

A sad little man in a gray suit climbed on to the scaffold behind McLarnin and stood leaning on the ropes besides Canzoneri, who also popped up to hear Joe Humphreys bawl his name. Al Singer won the lightweight championship from Sammy Mandell on the same platform in the ball yard a little more than a year ago. He held it for about 30 seconds of competition at the weight. Canzoneri clipped him on the chin with a little left hook that couldn't have nudged a good golf ball off a tee, but Singer went sprawling and became an ex-champion of the world. This evening Al stood in the ring with Canzoneri and McLarnin, two men who had knocked him out in less than in three rounds gross, appealing for another chance, and some of the customers hollered "Boo—."

Jimmy Johnston Is Seeded No. 1 in U. S. Amateur

New York, Aug. 20.—(AP)—The seeding list for the United States amateur golf championship, in effect an advance national ranking of the stars for 1931, today elevated Harrison R. [Jimmy] Johnston of St. Paul to the No. 1 position and consequently made him the official favorite for the title tournament at the Beverly Country club, Chicago, starting Aug. 31.

With Bobby Jones and George Von Elm no longer in the amateur ranks, Johnston received the top position on the strength of being the latest of the available ex-champions. He held the amateur crown in 1929 but failed by a stroke to qualify at Merion last year.

Here are the first ten as ranked by the U. S. G. A. for the purposes of seeding the draw for the match play at Beverly:

1. Harrison R. Johnston, St. Paul.
2. Eugene V. Homans, Englewood, N. J.
3. T. Phillip Perkins, New York.
4. John Goodman, Omaha, Neb.
5. Charles Seaver, Los Angeles.
6. Francis Ouimet, Boston.
7. Maurice J. McCarthy Jr., New York.
8. George J. Voigt, New York.
9. Dr. Oscar Willing, Portland, Ore.
10. George T. Dunlap Jr., New York.

The surprises, if any, may be the relatively high place accorded the veteran former champion, Ouimet, who has not come close to winning the amateur for years, and the low ranking conceded to such seasoned campaigners as George Voigt and Dr. Willing. Voigt has slipped from the form that made him an outstanding contender two and three years ago, but Willing was a finalist in 1929. Ouimet was beaten in the first round last year.

Only eight players will be seeded for the first round of match play. If it is necessary to go outside the first ten to fill vacancies, caused by withdrawals or qualifying failures, the following second ten will be subject to seeding, by lot:

Fay Coleman, Culver City, Cal.; John De Forest, England; Frank Dolp, Portland, Ore.; Charles Evans Jr., Chicago; Jesse P. Guilford, Boston; John E. Lehman, Chicago; William Lawson Little Jr., San Francisco; Max R. Marston, Philadelphia; Roland Mackenzie, Wilmington, Del., and Ross Somerville, the Canadian amateur champion.

WINZELER WINS HAMILTON CLUB GOLF TOURNEY

John Winzeler's 83—84—167 won low gross in the Hamilton club's monthly golf tournament at Westward Ho yesterday. First prize for 18 holes went to L. H. Roblee who shot an 84.

David H. Jackson captured the low net price for 36 holes with a score of 181—40—141. C. M. Burlingame won low net for 18 holes with 85—14—71. The low net foursome was comprised of O. J. Wescott, John Winzeler, W. E. Cloyes and David Jackson. They had a net score of 303. B. E. Baal won low gross for guests with 90 and E. C. Long won low net with 109—30—79.

McInerny's 75 Wins K. of C. Golf Tourney

Tom McInerny shot a 75 to win low gross for members at the fourth tournament of the season conducted by Perez council of the Knights of Columbus at Westgate Valley yesterday. Edward Conlon of McHale council turned in the best gross effort for guests, a 78. J. J. Meaney of Blue Island council won the guests' low net prize with a card of 89—19—70, with Frank Parr of Calumet, second, with 87—16—71.

The members' net prizes went to John P. Fennelly, class A, 80—10—70; Charles Blasgen, class B, 87—17—70, and Art Moore, class C, 94—24—70. Other prize winning net scores were:

Class A—Roy Hooker, 82—10—72; George Stalzer, 87—15—72, and Tony Scavone, 81—4—77.

Class B—Tom Enright, 89—19—70; Tom Elwood, 90—20—70, and Frank McGarr, 93—23—70.

Class C—John Paha, 96—26—70; Bill Gardner, 108—36—70, and J. H. Dearham, 110—40—70.

Chicago Printers Win in Union Baseball Tourney

HAMILTON, Ont., Aug. 20.—(AP)—Washington, New York, and Chicago turned in victories in the baseball tournament of the International Typographical union here today. Washington defeated Cincinnati, 7-2; New York walloped St. Louis, 12-1, and Chicago conquered Indianapolis, 12-5.

MARRIES

JOE SAVOLDI.

Joe Savoldi, former Notre Dame full back and later a member of the Chicago Bears professional football team, and Miss Daisy De Witt, 23 years old, of Santa Monica, Cal., were married yesterday at Waukegan.

Savoldi gave the same age and residence in applying for the license. The couple were married by Justice of the Peace Charles E. Mason, and left immediately for Milwaukee, where Savoldi is scheduled to appear in a wrestling match tonight.

It is Savoldi's second marital venture. His first was terminated by a divorce last fall, which also ended his university career, in the middle of the football season.

MISS HUMPHRIES LOSES ON 18TH IN STATE GOLF PLAY

Mrs. Langer's Experience Brings Victory.

The feature of yesterday's quarter-final matches in the Illinois women's state championship meet at Lincoln park was the heroic effort made by young Janet Humphries, a junior at Hyde Park High school, to stay in the tournament. She played Mrs. Harry Langer of Lincoln park, one of the favorites to reach the finals, and held her to a standstill until her second shot for the 18th green.

Then experience asserted itself and Mrs. Langer approached nicely for a birdie 4, while her youthful opponent played a wild shot over the green. Going out each had 46 and turned even. Each won two holes coming in.

Miss Humphreys Gains Favor.

Miss Humphries ended with 6 to make her 1 down, but her stock in future Chicago district tournaments mounted high with the big gallery. The cards:

Out—Mrs. Langer	568	545	363—46
Miss Humphries	655	546	465—46
In—Mrs. Langer	758	545	664—48—94
Miss Humphries	746	646	466—49—95

Miss Marge Roesslein, the popular favorite to win, had a bad slice yesterday, but overcame it and won, 5 and 4, in her match with Mrs. Rose Long of Jackson park. She was 2 up at the turn, and on the in nine won the 11th, 13th, and 14th to end the match. Mrs. Long's iron work defeated her, many well intended seconds going wide and far over the green. The cards:

Out—Miss Roesslein	546	546	355—43
Mrs. Long	645	536	466—45
In—Miss Roesslein	855	53
Miss Long	865	64

Mrs. Kathryn Frieder of Jackson entered the semi-finals by defeating Mrs. G. A. Connell of Lincoln park, 3 and 2, after being 2 up at the turn. Mrs. V. S. Cooper defeated her Lincoln park clubmate, Miss Helen Healy, 3 and 2, to advance.

Miss Frieder Disqualified.

In the first flight Miss Alyce Frieder of Jackson park was disqualified after she had advanced to the quarter finals. She was informed she belonged in the championship flight, but was put in the medal play round for nonqualifiers, which she won.

Summaries of the quarter-final round:

CHAMPIONSHIP FLIGHT RESULTS.

Miss Marge Roesslein, Cary, defeated Mrs. Rose Long, Jackson, 5 and 4.

Mrs. V. S. Cooper, Lincoln, defeated Mrs. Helen Healy, Lincoln, 3 and 2.

GABLEMAN WINS PRINTERS' GOLF TITLE WITH 330

Hamilton, Ont., Aug. 20.—(AP)—Carding an 83 on his final round, Eddie Gableman of Cincinnati, today won the International Printers golf championship and the Walter Hagen trophy with a 72 hole total of 330.

Five strokes behind was the defending champion, C. D. Eadabough of Detroit. M. Deans of Toronto was third with 339 and J. E. Voll Washington, D. C., fourth with 340.

Plans for a play-off between Gableman and C. E. Hovis of Canton, O., winner of the allied crafts tournament were abandoned tonight when Hovis defaulted.

The team prize was won by Eadabough and Begg of Detroit, with combined scores of 679. Washington, represented by Voll and J. E. Stringer, was second with 684.

COGGESHALL AND PARKHILL REACH NET SEMI-FINAL

Charlevoix, Mich., Aug. 20.—(AP)—Harris Coggeshall of Des Moines, Ia., and W. E. Parkhill of Chicago reached the semi-finals in the Michigan Riviera tennis tournament today.

Parkhill beat William Irwin of Grand Rapids, Mich., who will be Princeton's tennis captain next year, in the quarter finals, 1-6, 6-3, 7-5. Coggeshall defeated Walter T. Hayes, Chicago, 6-3, 6-4. The other semi-finalists are John Hennessey, Indianapolis, defending champion, and Jack Harris, Chicago. Coggeshall will meet Harris, Chicago, tomorrow, but the Parkhill-Hennessey match was put over to Saturday.

In the women's singles Catherine Wolf of Indianapolis reached the finals by defeating Mrs. William B. McIlvaine, Chicago, 6-4, 10-8. The defending champion, Lucy Haggerty, Chicago, still has her semi-final match ahead of her, scheduled for tomorrow against Mrs. Dan Caulkins, Detroit.

GIANTS TIGHTEN HOLD ON SECOND PLACE; WIN, 3-1

Hubbell Shades Benton in Mound Duel.

New York, Aug. 20.—[Special.]—The Giants tightened their hold on second place in the National league today by beating the Cincinnati Reds, 3 to 1, while the Cubs were losing to Brooklyn. Carl Hubbell held the Reds scoreless until the eighth, when three singles brought in a run. Larry Benton was touched for only seven hits, but the Giants grouped three of them with Benton's error for two runs in the sixth. A homer by Leach in the ninth gave New York its third run.

FORT SHERIDAN AND OAKBROOK IN POLO FINAL

Oak Brook's Flying Dutchmen and Fort Sheridan yesterday won the right to meet in the final of the Chicago 21 goal polo championships at Oak Brook. The Flying Dutchmen defeated Olympia Fields, 13 to 6, and Fort Sheridan won from the Oak Brook Apaches, 16 to 6.

It took the Flying Dutchmen only two periods to overcome the four goal handicap which they awarded their opponents. Barney Balding drove across eight goals for the Flying Dutchmen.

The Fort Sheridan four sprang a surprise with a last minute switch in the lineup that brought into the game Lt. C. C. Smith, who appeared in action recently with Old Aiken against Santa Paula. He is a member of the U. S. Army team. Capt. C. E. Doyle, Fort Sheridan's No. 3 player, scored seven goals. Lineup:

FLYING DUTCHMEN OLYMPIA FIELDS [18].	[6].

VINES TO MEET PERRY IN FINAL OF NEWPORT PLAY

Newport, R. I., Aug. 20.—(AP)—The most promising tennis players in England and the United States, Frederick J. Perry and Ellsworth Vines, today gained the final round of the Newport casino tournament by upsetting members of the American Davis cup force. Perry, clashing with Sidney Wood of New York for the third time this season, were that blond stylist down to such an extent that he suffered a severe cramp in his left leg just when Sir Bifton had match point in the twelfth game of the fifth set. Perry had a 40 to 30 lead against service when Wood's leg folded under him. Wood wanted to play out the match, but tournament officials defaulted him. Perry's scores for the completed sets were 6-3, 5-7, 2-6, 6-1. Vines also carried it to five sets before eliminating Johnny Van Ryn, 6-2, 7-9, 3-6, 6-2, 6-1.

Jimmy Doeg and George Lott, national doubles champions, qualified for the semi-final by beating Berkley Bell and Gregory Mangin, 1-6, 6-3, 6-4, 6-3, 6-4.

DETROIT, 7; BOSTON, 2.

Detroit, Aug. 20.— [Special.] —The Tigers scored a 7 to 2 victory over the Red Sox in the second game of their series today. Detroit pounded Lisenbee for four runs in the first inning with three doubles and a single, with one out. Morris, who succeeded him, yielded only one run, but McLaughlin, who pitched the eighth inning, was touched for three hits, and two runs. Herring, Detroit pitcher, held the Sox in check most of the way.

YANKEES BEAT BROWNS, 7-3.

St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 20.—[Special.]—Babe Ruth and Lou Gehrig staged a home run duel today to enliven the Yankees' 7 to 3 victory over the Browns. Lou hit his 33d in the fourth inning to tie Ruth for the major league lead, but the Babe came back to slap his 34th with the bases full in the ninth and provide the margin of victory. The Browns scored three runs in their half.

down. After Wilson had been thrown out by Clark, Grimm aimed a liner over short. Slade leaped for it, knocked it down with ont hand and then threw, but too late to get the runner. Grimm was highly irritated when he learned the play was recorded as an error. Hartnett helped with a single to left, but Bell grounded to short for the start of a double play.

Cuyler's Efforts Futile.

Cuyler did his best to get his mates interested in an aggressive move in the fourth inning. He banged a fly almost to the wall in left center and neither O'Doul nor Frederick had the courage to reach for it. Cuyler made two bases on it. Barton made a valiant effort to get results by lining a whistler toward first, but Bissonette speared it and would have doubled Cuyler off second if Slade hadn't dropped the throw. Then Wilson tapped meekly to Finn and Grimm flied to center.

The first of the two hits made off Root during the first six innings came at the very start. Frederick opened the Robins' attack with a hard hopper which slipped off Grimm's glove. Jurges grabbed it up and shot it to Root, who covered first, but it was too late. Jurges then gave Root some needed assistance. He lifted himself high into the air to flag a powerful drive by O'Doul. Frederick was doubled off first on it. A pass, more or less intentional, to Herman, who died stealing, completed the inning.

Cuyler Triples.

The next hit off Root was another fluke. It was Slade's grounder that bounced off Bell's glove to start the sixth inning. Slade got as far as second but no farther. Root had another bit of trouble in the seventh. After both O'Doul and Herman had flied to Cuyler in center, Bissonette singled off Grimm's glove and went to third on Finn's hit to left. Root put a quick stop to this by fanning Gilbert. But stopping that revolt in the eighth was something different.

The Cubs' belated effort to stave off defeat came in the ninth with one out. Cuyler lined into the right field corner. He tore around to the plate without stopping, the ball meanwhile bouncing from one wall to another and Frederick and Herman making frantic efforts to corner it. Instead of a homer, it was scored as a triple and an error for Frederick. Then Barton and Wilson walked, Grimm grounded to Bissonette and Hartnett walked. Hemsley ran for Gabby. Quinn then relieved Clark and ended the "rally" on Bell's fly to center.

Infielder Jimmy Adair, whose continued absence aroused Hornsby to make inqury at headquarters last night, will arrive tomorrow from Reading. Hornsby was assured of this today by William Veeck.

Sox Make 19 Hits; Vanquish Athletics, 11-6

and Frasier came in, more or less cold.

Victor hit Cramer with a pitched ball, filling the bases, and walked Cochrane, forcing in Hoyt—two episodes enough to upset a less complacent youth. With the bases still full, he fanned Moore and Foxx, and after getting two strikes on Miller made him tap to Kerr for the third out. Only nine batsmen faced Frasier in the remaining three innings.

How Runs Were Scored.

Now that you have learned about the hitting heroes and the manner of Thomas' collapse and the valor of Frasier, may we leap back to the start of the contest for the detailed record of scoring accomplishment?

The Sox got a one run lead in the first inning. Blue singled, went to second on Sullivan's out, to third on Reynolds' out, and walked home on Fonseca's single to center.

Blue personally gave back the run in the second inning. Foxx beat out an infield single and was forced by Miller. Miller went from first to third while Sullivan was throwing out McNair. Williams sent a nice easy bouncer to Blue for the potential third out, but Lu cuffed it and Williams was safe while Miller scored the tying run. Blue dropped Hoyt's foul for his second error in three minutes, but Waite was encouraged and fanned.

In the fourth the Sox resumed the lead, 2 to 1. Kerr walked and was forced by Appling, who went to third on the second of Tate's series of hits. Appling scored on Thomas' fly to Cramer.

The A's took the lead, 3 to 2, in the first of the fifth on a walk to Bishop, Cramer's single, a walk to Cochrane, Moore's hit, and a double play. After the double play Sullivan threw out Miller.

Sox Put Over Six Runs.

And here's the detail of the Sox's fifth. Sullivan tripled to right and scored on Reynolds' single. Reynolds went to third on Fonseca's single. Reynolds scored and Fonseca stopped at second when Fothergill reached first on Williams' fumble. Kerr bunted and the bases were full when Cochrane threw to third too late to get Fonseca. Appling singled to center, scoring Fonseca and Fothergill. Tate singled to center, scoring Kerr and Appling. Tate went to second on Thomas' sacrifice and to third on a wild pitch, but was trapped between third and home on Blue's grounder. Sullivan, up the second time in the inning, flied to Miller. You already have been told how Thomas blew up immediately after the foregoing happenings took place.

In the sixth Reynolds singled and went to second when Moore kicked the ball. Carl went to third on Fonseca's sacrifice and scored on Fothergill's fly to Cramer. The Sox made two runs in the seventh on a single by Appling, McNair's two base throwing error, a double by Tate, a single by Frasier, and a single by Blue. The last was made off Rommel, who relieved Hoyt.

Weiland Against Walberg.

The teams will play the third of a four game series this afternoon, and it will be Weiland against Walberg. The Sox will be after their fourth win of the season over the A's and the A's will be seeking to beat the Chicagoans for the fifteenth time.

New Orleans Beats Milwaukee, 6-5, in Legion Baseball

Colorado Springs, Colo., Aug. 20.—(AP)—Stockton, Cal., and New Orleans today advanced through the first round of the all-western junior baseball championship conducted by the American Legion. Stockton eliminated Albuquerque, N. M., 6 to 0, behind the fine pitching of Joyce, who allowed the New Mexicans only five hits.

New Orleans rallied in the seventh for two runs and a 6 to 5 victory over the flashy Milwaukee outfit. Milwaukee used three pitchers in an effort to stop the southerners. Score:

New Orleans	002	020	20*—6	6	1

Batteries—Boinski, Jaremba, Bienski and Seemcsak, Kolodziejczyk; Walls and Hughes.

South Chicago, Illinois champion, drew a bye in the first round and will play Seattle, Wash., tomorrow.

BRIDGEPORT WINS.

Manchester, N. H., Aug. 20.—(AP)—Bridgeport, Conn., captured the opening game of the American Legion junior baseball eastern championship series by defeating Baltimore, 4 to 3, today.

The sudden illness of their star catcher, George Cholke, who was rushed to a hospital suffering from appendicitis, probably served as further motive for the Connecticut team. Behind, 3 to 1, until the sixth inning, they put on a three run rally in the seventh to go into a one run lead.

Columbia, S. C., defeated Manchester in the second game of the series, 9 to 0. Columbia will meet Bridgeport, Conn., tomorrow, and Princeton, Ind., and Jackson, Miss., both of which drew byes, will oppose each other. The winners will meet for the title Saturday.

FOUR HAWKEYE ATHLETES FAIL TO MAKE GRADES

Iowa City, Ia., Aug. 20.—[Special.]—Four University of Iowa athletes will be lost because of low grades, H. C. Dorcas, university registrar announced. Marshall Riegert, St. Louis, Mo., Graham Moulton, Council Bluffs, Harvey Bush, Colesburg, and Adolph Aherns, Williamsburg, have failed to meet scholastic requirements and will not be permitted to enter the university next fall.

Riegert, one of the outstanding sophomore athletes last season, won his major "I" in basketball and baseball. Aherns, another basketball athlete, won a minor letter as a reserve center. Bush won a major letter as a varsity pitcher last season, while Moulton, 1930-'31 freshman hurdler, had been mentioned as a likely prospect for the 1932 Olympic team. The Council Bluffs athlete holds the national interscholastic high and low hurdle records.

CANZONERI WILL DEFEND 2 TITLES IN THREE WEEKS

New York, Aug. 20.—(AP)—Tony Canzoneri will defend both his lightweight and junior welterweight championships in the three week period beginning Aug. 27.

Tony signed today to defend the junior welterweight title against Henry Perlick, lesser of the Kalamazoo, Mich., twins, in a ten round bout at Bayonne, N. J., next Thursday night.

Three weeks later, Sept. 10, he puts his lightweight crown in jeopardy in a fifteen round battle with Jack (Kid) Berg of England, at the polo grounds here.

Two Casting Records Set in U.S. Meet

Two world's casting records were broken in the first day's competition of the annual national tournament yesterday at Washington park. Both marks fell in the three-eighths ounce distance bait. Tony Accetta, Cleveland, scored an average of 264 6-10 feet to set a new record. The other mark was made by Fred White, Chicago, having a long cast of 294.

The old record of 256 feet was made by Leo Connolly, also of Cleveland, last year. Connolly also held the long cast record, casting 282 feet. Eddie Bradden won second place with an average of 263 6-10 feet, while third place went to Al Foss, 262 4-10 feet.

Jules P. Cuenin, San Francisco, national champion, won the distance fly event, compiling an average of 120 1-3 feet. L. P. Guerin, also of San Francisco, took second place with 114 1-3 feet, while Otto Peters, Buffalo, present all around champion, was third with 110 2-3 feet.

The meet will be resumed today with two events scheduled.

WINNIPEG WINS GRAND CIRCUIT PACE FEATURE

Takes First Two Heats, Then Runs Third.

Winnipeg, 1:57¾, star of the E. J. Baker stable, yesterday won the 2:06 pace, feature race on the Grand Circuit program at Exposition park, Aurora. Winnipeg's time in the first two heats, 2:05¼ and 2:09¼, was slow as all the racing was done in the stretch.

Kinney Direct took the third heat with Calumet Adam second and Winnipeg third. The time in this mile was 2:03, the fastest of the three. Calumet Butler, because of four victories this year, was the favorite to win the race but was never able to get up.

Star Etwah Extended.

Star Etwah, star pacer of the year, took the Chamber of Commerce stakes, although he dropped the first heat to Ovelmo Lad and was hard pressed in the final by the same horse. It required all Star Etwah had to win his two heats by margins of half a length and a neck.

The Merchants' and Manufacturers' stake, for 2:10 trotters, saw a great contest. Black Leaf, General Walker, and Peter Patch each took a heat, forcing the running of an extra heat. The time was fast in all the heats and the finishes close. General Walker took the extra heat, beating Peter Patch, in 2:04¾.

Long Day of Racing.

It was a long afternoon of racing, as three races postponed from the day before and four races on yesterday's program were run off, twenty miles in all. The summaries:

48 YEARLINGS AT SARATOGA SALES BRING $55,900

Saratoga Springs, N. Y., Aug. 20.—(AP)—Forty-eight yearlings passed into new hands at the Saratoga sales paddock here tonight for a grand total of $55,900 and an average of $1,164 per head.

The Xalapa farm [Kentucky] consignment of 31 head featured the venue, that lot selling for $40,650 to average $1,311. Out of this offering came the highest priced youngster of the night, a brown colt by Eternal out of Oktibbena, which went to the Brookmeade stable for $6,500.

The Eternal stock was most in demand, several other by that sire attracting the next highest prices. Eternal won $66,737, including a Hopeful and Brooklyn handicap and has sired a number of good winners. The colt out of Oktibbena is a half-brother to the stake winners Sweepster and Sweet Verbena.

The Sagamore stable paid $5,800 for a brown son of Eternal out of Happy Thoughts, which won some notable races. Another youngster by the same sire out of Tara II. brought $4,500 from R. A. Smith.

Besides the Xalapa consignment, 17 head were sold by Regan Farm, Inc., another Kentucky stud, for a total of $15,250, averaging $897. The best price realized in this offering was $2,500, which William Ziegler Jr. paid for a brown colt by Sweep-Kitty Puss.

CORBETT MISSES CHANCE AT FIELDS BY FIVE MINUTES

San Francisco, Cal., Aug. 20.—(AP)—Because he had been signed five minutes earlier for a bout in Los Angeles on Sept. 8, Young Corbett of Fresno lost the chance today to meet Jackie Fields, former welterweight champion, in a fight in Detroit on Sept. 15.

Larry White, representative of Corbett, said that shortly after he had closed for a ten rounder with Alfred Goana of Mexico, Promoter Floyd Fitzsimmons telephoned offering the Fields match in Detroit.

Fields and Young Jack Thompson, present champion, were supposed to meet in a title bout in Cleveland on Sept. 17, but White said the match evidently had been dropped in view of his offer. Thompson is in Los Angeles at present.

Hold Forest Preserve Title Swim on Aug. 27

The Forest Preserve district swimming championships will be held Aug. 27 at Cermak pool, Ogden avenue and Des Plaines river, near Lyons, Ill. Eleven events are scheduled in the boys' and men's divisions and 11 for girls and women.

*Field. Time, :24, :48 1-5, 1:01, 1:08 1-5. Two dollar mutuels paid: Vonnie, $11.56 straight, $6.50 place, $5.06 show; My Desire, $8.86 place, $5.96 show; Kenny Boy, $5.16 show. Start good. Won easily, place driving. Went to post at 2:16½. Off at once. Winner trained by E. H. Von Boens.

VONNIE, breaking fast from the outside, crossed in front of the field in the first quarter to take a good lead and showed the way to the finish. MY DESIRE escaped early interference to best the others. KENNY BOY raced on the outside most of the way and finished fairly well. CLASBY'S CHOICE showed a good effort. The remainder of the field all met with interference through early crowding with DAD MEINERS, NIGHT VINTAGE, ELKHART and CELTIC WAY being the worst shufflers.

SECOND RACE—Six and a half furlongs. Purse $1,200, claiming, 3 year olds. Net value to winner $850; second, $200; third, $100; fourth, $50.

Time, :24, :48 3-5, 1:14, 1:20 4-5. Two dollar mutuels paid: Royal Rogue, $16.00 straight, $7.26 place, $4.22 show; Mardie, $5.04 place, $3.50 show; Sun Mask, $3.90 show. Start good. Won driving, place same. Went to post at 2:45½. At post 5 minutes. Winner trained by J. Lowenstein.

ROYAL ROGUE was saved close to the leaders in the early stages and, taking command near the finish, lasted to hold MARDIE. Latter raced wide at stretch turn but closed strongest of all in the center of the track. SUN MASK weakened near the finish line after racing DICK MORRIS into defeat. DICK MORRIS had no excuses and stopped badly in the last furlong. The others were outpaced.

THIRD RACE—Six and a half furlongs. Purse $1,200, claiming, 3 year olds. Net value to winner, $850; second, $200; third, $100; fourth, $50.

Time, :25, :49 2-5, 1:15 1-5, 1:21 3-5. Two dollar mutuels paid: Plumage, $10.56 straight, $3.34 place, $3.10 show; Lady Ebony, $2.96 place, $2.90 show; Over Shady, $5.04 show. Start good. Won easily, place driving. Went to post 3:18. At post 1 minute. Winner trained by S. S. Combs.

PLUMAGE, easily best, was shuffled back to last place on the far turn and was forced to race around the field to find clear passage, but came fast in the final furlong and won going away. LADY EBONY met with some interference and staged a game finish but was not good enough for winner. OVER SHADY had the most early speed and held on fairly well. PHANTASIME was going strongly at the end. ALL GIRLS tired in the closing strides after showing good early speed. CONSCIENCE was in close quarters in the stretch and stopped badly. HYMAN, racing on the outside, ran in spots and stopped in the stretch.

FOURTH RACE—Six furlongs. Purse $1,500, allowances, 3 year olds and up. Net value to winner, $1,000; second, $300; third, $150; fourth, $50.

Time, :23 2-5, :57 3-5, 1:12 2-5. Two dollar mutuels paid: Fanny Walker, $4.92 straight, $3.72 place, $2.96 show; Martha Jones, $4.94 place, $3.12 show; Cheers, $2.66 show. Start good. Won handily, place driving. Went to post at 3:48. At post 3 minutes. Winner trained by R. N. Vestal.

FANNY WALKER, close up from the start, raced strongly throughout the stretch and was a handy winner. MARTHA JONES set most of the early pace and held on fairly well. CHEERS was racing with interference in the stretch and dropped back slightly. WEIDELEEN and VERY WELL were outpaced. ZACAWEISTA broke well but was caught in close quarters after taking a few strides and pulled himself up.

FIFTH RACE—One and one-eighth miles. Purse $1,300, claiming, 4 year olds and up. Net value to winner, $900; second, $250; third, $100; fourth, $50.

Time, :25, :49 1-5, 1:14, 1:39 3-5, 1:50 4-5. Two dollar mutuels paid: Prince Tokalon, $6.04 straight, $3.52 place, $3.04 show; Montanaro, $2.96 place, $2.60 show; Guide Right, $3.18 show. Start good. Won easily, place driving. Went to post at 4:19.

PRINCE TOKALON came in front from the start and, getting the front when GUIDE RIGHT began to tire in stretch, drew out to a safe lead in the closing stages. MONTANARO acted badly at the barrier and was started from outside stall gate. He showed an elimination to best the others. KENNY BOY raced on the outside most of the way and finished fairly well. CLASBY'S CHOICE showed a good effort. The remainder of the field all met with interference through early crowding with DAD MEINERS, NIGHT VINTAGE, ELKHART and CELTIC WAY being the worst shufflers.

SIXTH RACE—One and one-sixteenth miles. Purse $1,300, claiming, 3 year olds and up. Net value to winner, $900; second, $250; third, $100; fourth, $50.

BLUSH. MAIDEN [C.Nelson]	102	5	6	7²	8²	7h	9²	C.S.Stubbs	11.22-1

Time, :23 3-5, :47 2-5, 1:13 2-5, 1:39 3-5, 1:47. Two dollar mutuels paid: Infinity, $22.96 straight, $6.00 place, $6.20 show; Battling On, $17.80 place, $8.56 show; Primeval, $5.46 show. Start good. Won driving, place same. Went to post at 4:53½. Off at once. Winner trained by D. F. Cannon.

INFINITY sprinted to the front at once and, opening up a long lead, increased it after going a half mile but was tiring fast at the end. BATTLING ON, always close up, finished fast and was gaining rapidly. PRIMEVAL came fast in the stretch to get up and take third place in the closing strides. WIRT G. BOWMAN moved up fast approaching stretch turn but hung in the final run. ANNAN tired after being prominent in the stretch.

SEVENTH RACE—One and three-sixteenth miles. Purse $1,300, claiming, 4 year olds and up. Net value to winner, $900; second, $250; third, $100; fourth, $50.

Time, :25, :49 3-5, 1:14 2-5, 1:41, 2:01. Two dollar mutuels paid: Ed Lark, $43.12 straight, $15.06 place, $6.00 show; Toman, $8.30 place, $4.30 show; Fortune's Favorite, $3.92 show. Start good. Won handily, place driving. Went to post at 5:23½. At post ¾ minute. Winner trained by A. B. Woodman.

ED LARK, showing much improvement, went to the front at once and, displaying more gameness than usual, lasted to win. TOMAN showed a courageous effort and held FORTUNE'S FAVORITE all the way and had no excuses. MASTER ACE dropped back after entering the stretch. GRAYDALE tired after making a brief bid on far turn. RUSHING was badly outrun all the way.

EIGHTH RACE—One and three-sixteenth miles. Purse $1,300, claiming, 4 year olds and up. Net value to winner, $900; second, $250; third, $100; fourth, $50.

Time, :24, :48 2-5, 1:14 2-5, 1:40 4-5, 2:01 3-5. Two dollar mutuels paid: Sarajevo, $9.08 straight, $4.26 place, $3.46 show; Gormond, $3.88 place, $3.48 show; Prickly Heat, $7.56 show. Start good. Won easily, place driving. Went to post at 5:53½. Off at once. Winner trained by L. Meripol.

SERAJEVO began to move up after going half the distance and, catching GORMOND at the stretch turn, drew into a long lead in the final furlong. GORMOND took command during the back stretch run but weakened when challenged. PRICKLY HEAT made up ground and was going well at the finish. MAJOR TOM displayed early speed but tired. SAM PASS quit in the run home.

WIDENER HORSES WIN 2 SARATOGA FEATURE STAKES

Garner Rides Curate and Priory to Victory.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Saratoga Springs, N. Y., Aug. 20.—Joseph E. Widener, just returned from Europe, spent a welcome first day at the races when his Curate and Priory scored victories in the two best events on the program here today. Curate was an easy winner in the 29th running of the Champlain handicap, while Priory got home in front of four others in the Cliff Haven purse, secondary feature.

The two are half brothers, both being out of Irish Abbess, the sire of Curate being Fair Play, while Haste sired Priory. The Champlain victory added $3,825 to Curate's earnings. Both horses were ably ridden by the stable jockey, Mack Garner.

Both Curate and Priory were heavily backed, the former going to the post favored at 9 to 10, while Priory was second choice at 9 to 5.

Curate carried 111 pounds and finished the mile and a furlong in 1:52 3-5, with the fractions as follows: :25 2-5, :49 4-5, 1:14 1-5, 1:39 2-5 and 1:52 3-5.

Garner made it a triple victory when he got E. F. Sanford's Single Star home to a hammer and tongs victory in the Cohoes purse. The driving finish Garner had to put up on Single Star was in sharp contrast to the easy time he had with Priory. That fellow led practically from start to finish and won by two lengths from Frigate Bird.

SARATOGA RESULTS.

FIRST RACE—Purse $1,000, claiming. Dewdrop purse, 2 year old fillies, 5½ furlongs:

Mae Sweep, 105 [Catrone]	10-1	4-1 2-1

FALL SUPPLY OF POTATOES STARTS TO CITY

Chicago's fall and winter supply of potatoes started coming into the city this week with the opening for shipment of the Wood street terminal main yard of the Chicago and North Western railway, and judging from the receipts the first few days and the government estimates of crops, tonnages should be as heavy or a little heavier than last year, according to J. W. Byers, vice president traffic of the railway.

"While weather conditions have been instrumental in cutting down estimates on crops since first reports in June and July, and the government estimates as of Aug. 1 are slightly lower than for July 1, no further cuts in acreage are probable. Minnesota, Wisconsin, Idaho, Colorado, Michigan, and Nebraska estimates show that these states are keeping their places as leading potato growers," Mr. Byers said.

"We have between 175 and 200 cars per day on hand at Wood street terminal at the present time with potatoes coming in from Wisconsin, Idaho and Colorado and with the Colorado and Wisconsin movement getting under way. Within a short time there will be between 500 and 600 cars on the team tracks in the yard every day with most of the space on the 1,850 set track tracks occupied. The yard is a universal one and will receive cars from all railroads coming into the city."

Bradstreet's Food Index Turns Lower After Rise

Bradstreet's weekly food index has turned lower after showing an increase of 5 cents the previous week. A rather severe break in many commodity markets which took place this week has canceled the gain made during the preceding week. The index number of this week, $2.19, shows a decline of nine-tenths of one per cent from last week and a decline of 20.9 per cent from the like week last year.

RESERVE BOARD NOTES RISE IN CREDIT DEMAND

Brokers' Loans Gain 14 Millions.

BY O. A. MATHER.

A slightly better demand for credit both for speculation and commercial use was indicated in weekly reports issued by the federal reserve board yesterday. Both factors were encouraging, the first tending to indicate that both speculators and investors are gaining some degree of confidence in prices of securities and the second presaging expectations of a general improvement in trade.

Mirthage in the amount of credit used in the securities markets was noted last week, at least temporarily. The weekly report on brokers' loans showed an increase of $14,000,000, which brought the total up to $1,243,000,000. This figure, however, is $1,785,000,000 below that of a year ago and therefore the current total is less than half that of last August.

The present mild expansion was entirely attributable to additional loans made by the New York banks, which increased their own loans by $14,000,000. The interior banks withdrew $2,000,000, while nonbanking lenders furnished an additional $2,000,000.

Keep Money Rates Low.

It is evident from the weekly statement of the federal reserve system that the reserve authorities are maintaining a policy of abnormally low interest rates. It is likely also that the policy will be maintained indefinitely in the hope of stimulating business recovery, even though the demand for credit increases considerably.

In the last week, the member banks of the system increased their borrowings from the reserve banks by $25,000,000. At the same time the reserve banks bought an additional $18,890,000 of bankers' acceptances and maintained their holdings of government securities.

Thus, between these different operations approximately $54,519,000 of additional credit was made available to financial borrowers. Money in circulation also was augmented by issuance of $72,542,000 additional federal reserve notes. Deposits at the reserve banks receded $16,825,000. Gold and total reserves increased $23,679,000 and $23,507,000 respectively but the ratio of reserves to liabilities eased to 81 per cent, compared with 81.4 per cent last week.

Receives Gold Imports.

During the week ended Wednesday, the New York reserve bank received gold imports totaling $6,515,000, chiefly from Mexico and South America. Exports were almost negligible but there was an increase of $2,000,000 in gold earmarked for foreign account.

The New York reserve bank made no change in the 3½ per cent rediscount rate yesterday. Its statement showed a decline of $11,111,000 in member bank borrowings, which now total at $38,775,000. The reserve bank held $1,794,000 of bankers' acceptances. Note circulation expanded $11,000,000. Deposits receded $5,016,000. Reserves increased $33,663,000 and the reserve ratio rose to 83.6 per cent, compared with 81.3 per cent last week.

The report of the Chicago reserve bank showed little change in member bank borrowings, which now total $14,000,000. The reserve bank, however, bought an additional $6,628,000 of bankers' acceptances. Note circulation expanded $12,341,000. Deposits totaled $18,702,000. Reserves declined $336,000 and the reserve ratio sagged 0.19 per cent, compared with 83.6 per cent a week ago.

Report Rift in Membership of Electrical Association

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Aug. 20.—A rift in the internal organization of the National Electric Light association was reported here today when it was learned that three of its 28 most important members—the United Gas Improvement company, the Public Service corporation of New Jersey, and the Philadelphia Electric company—had withdrawn their membership.

Officials of the National Electric Light association said the letter of resignation tendered them by John E. Zimmerman, president of the United Gas Improvement company, assigned no reason for the break with the association and that Mr. Zimmerman sailed for Europe following the announcement.

See Protest Against Insull.

Widespread interest has been aroused in financial and public utility circles over the action of these three leading utility companies in resigning from an organization designed to promote the interests of the entire industry. It is generally believed the withdrawal was a protest against reported efforts of the Insull public utility interests of Chicago to dominate the association.

It was pointed out that Samuel and Martin Insull, dominating factors in the Insull chain of public utility companies, have long been active in local, state, and national politics, and their efforts to dominate the association have met with adverse criticism among some members who desire to keep away from politics in carrying on their business affairs.

In the eastern public utility field strong efforts have been made by financiers and others interested in the development of the public utility to put it on a strictly business basis and prevent it from becoming involved in politics in any way.

Claim Internal Issue.

Officials of the National Electric Light association maintain the difficulty is entirely internal and is in no way related to national politics and the power issue. It is contended that it is not easy in an organization of such size to maintain at all times complete harmony among members and that difficulties are certain to arise.

Committee relations of the association will be affected, but officials of the association have received assurance that the statistics supplied by the former member companies will go on as usual.

It was learned Wednesday that all officers of the three companies serving on committees or holding offices in the National Electric Light association have been asked by the company heads to retire from these associated positions.

Say Rumors Are Unwarranted.

The strong connection existing between the United Gas Improvements company and the Public Service Corporation of New Jersey and J. P. Morgan & Co., through the United corporation, which has large shareholdings in both utility organizations, caused the circulation of rumors of a split between the "Morgan" and "Insull" interests represented in the association. These rumors, it was said, were unwarranted.

A check-up at the office of other utilities in the so-called "Morgan" group revealed that none of these companies had severed its connection with the National Electric Light association or had any intention of doing so.

MERGER AGREEMENT DENIED BY HEAD OF TIDEWATER OIL CO.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Aug. 20.—Reports of an agreement upon a merger between the Tidewater Associated Oil company, the Prairie Oil and Gas company, the Prairie Pipe Line company, and the Sinclair Consolidated Oil company were denied today by Axtell J. Byles, president of the Tidewater Associated Oil company.

Mr. Byles admitted appraisals of the properties of the companies had been in progress and that negotiations regarding exchange of stock of the four companies had been going on, but he declared reports of a merger were premature.

Commenting on the report, Mr. Byles said:

"So many statements of a similar nature have been made, all unauthorized, so far as Tidewater Associated Oil company is concerned, that I consider it my duty to the stockholders, employés, the public, and my fellow officers and directors to state the following facts:

"It is true that for a considerable period appraisements of the different properties referred to have been going on with a view to determining: [1] Whether their consolidation into a new corporation would make an economic unit; and [2], if so, what a fair ratio of exchange for the stock of the various corporations would be. No conclusion as to either of these questions has been arrived at and, so far as Tidewater Associated Oil company is concerned, no agreement of any kind has been reached or has the matter been submitted to the board of directors or any committee thereof for consideration."

Curb Suspends Trading in May Radio Stock; Inquiry On

Trading in May Radio and Television corporation stock was temporarily suspended yesterday on the New York Curb exchange pending an investigation of the methods employed in the retail distribution of the issue. Ordinarily a comparatively inactive stock, May Radio has climbed from a low price of $3.50 a share to $20.50 a share in the last few months, while an intensive selling campaign was being conducted in Illinois and nearby states by Mathews & Co., 105 West Adams street.

Trading in the stock was suspended on the curb market at 1 o'clock when the issue was selling at $20 a share. No official explanation of the suspension action was made by the curb exchange, but the Investors' Protective bureau, 10 South La Salle street, learned that an investigation of the sales methods used by the retail distributors is being made by the exchange.

Investigation Under Way.

Mortimer C. Grover, director of the investors' agency, stated that he had called the matter to the attention of the Illinois state security department.

A. Wayne Clemens, who is in charge of the Chicago office of the state security department, said last night that a thorough investigation has been under way to determine the methods employed by Mathews & Co. in distributing the stock. Whatever action will be taken will be determined by the outcome of the investigation, he said.

Mathews & Co. employed "telephone solicitation" extensively in conducting its selling campaign in the middle western states. Several thousand telegrams boosting the issue were also sent out to prospective customers in Illinois, Iowa, Indiana and Wisconsin, it is understood. One such telegram described May Radio as the "opportunity stock of the future." Stock was sold on a cash basis. Prospects were circularized with the "Mathews Financial Analyst," containing highly favorable accounts of the issues in which the company was interested.

May Radio, with headquarters in New York, was incorporated two years ago to consolidate certain companies headed by D. W. May, who is now president of the company. The firm is a wholesale distributor of well known brands of radio apparatus in northern New Jersey, New York City and Long Island. The stock of the company was admitted to unlisted trading privileges on the curb market early in 1930.

STATEMENT FROM MAY.

Newark, N. J., Aug. 20.—(AP)—D. W. May, president of May Radio and Television corporation, tonight issued a statement in which he asserted the suspension of trading in the stock by the New York Curb exchange today did not affect the business of the company.

"While we regret the suspension of dealing in our stock, the said action does not affect the business of this company in any way," he said. "In fact, the company is enjoying the best business in its history."

New York, Aug. 20.—Aside from a handful of specialties which scored sizable gains the stock market did nothing worth chronicling today.

Reports were current around the floor that an "important announcement from Washington" was imminent and the disposition seemed to be to mark time pending its development—or that of something else worth while. At any rate nobody could see very much reason for either buying or selling stocks in any department so far as the returns disclosed.

Oil shares tried to make a showing in the early trading, but gave up when denials began to come out of the reports of the Sinclair merger agreement. However, some traders thought so much of the prospects of the combine in spite of the denials that they pitched in enough orders to boost the price of Tidewater Associated preferred more than 6 points and Tidewater Oil preferred about 5 points.

TWO CONCERNS VOTE INITIAL DIVIDENDS; THIRD PAYS EXTRA

New York, Aug. 20.—(AP)—F. & R. Lazarus & Co. of Columbus, O., have declared an initial quarterly dividend of 12½ cents a share on the common stock. The company is the third of the subsidiaries of Federated Department Stores, Inc., to place its common stock on a dividend basis this week.

Federated was formed in 1929 as a merger of the Lazarus Store with Filenes of Boston, Bloomingdales of New York and Abraham & Straus of Brooklyn.

An initial dividend of 37½ cents a share was voted on the common stock of Abraham & Straus. E. C. Blum, president, indicated that business so far this year has been quite satisfactory and net profit is ahead of last year.

Initiation of dividends at a time when dividends are widely being slashed or omitted was regarded in Wall street reflecting reviving activity in trade in certain sections and the success with which large merchandising organizations have been able to adjust their inventories and costs of new conditions.

Budd Wheel company declared the usual extra dividend of 75 cents on the preferred stock in addition to the regular quarterly dividends of 25 cents on the common and $1.75 on the preferred.

Engineers Public Service company declared a dividend of 40 cents on the common stock.

International Harvester company declared the regular quarterly dividend of 62½ cents a share on the common, payable Oct. 15, to stock of record Sept. 19.

SEES 3 WAYS TO SELL FARM BOARD WHEAT SURPLUS

Washington, D. C., Aug. 20.—[Special.]—Through three possible outlets the federal farm board hopes to be able to dispose of at least a portion of its stabilization wheat, estimated at more than 200 million bushels.

Chairman James C. Stone announced today that the board had replied to the inquiry of the Chinese Nationalist government at Nanking saying it would be glad to enter into negotiations for a probable 15 million bushels of wheat on credit to be shipped for the relief of sufferers in the Yangtze flood area.

He also stated that the board stood ready either to sell wheat to charitable organizations and community chests for domestic relief, or to support congressional legislation to permit the wheat to be given away, the board receiving compensation from the federal treasury.

As the third avenue of disposal, Mr. Stone revealed that negotiations had been going on between the board and the department of agriculture with a view to bringing stabilization corporation wheat into the drought relief program in some of the northwestern and west central states.

WHEAT GROWERS OF CANADA GET 5C A BU. BONUS

WINNIPEG, Man., Aug. 20.—(AP)—Between six million and eight million dollars will be distributed directly to growers of wheat in the three prairie provinces as a result of a government bonus of 5 cents a bushel, E. B. Ramsay, chairman of the board of grain commissioners, estimated today.

A staff of forty persons will be installed in an office here to check up bonus receipts with cash grain tickets throughout the west. The clerical office will be managed by the chief accountant of the board of grain commissioners.

The bonus, Mr. Ramsay pointed out, "is for growing wheat—not for owning it. The man that grows the wheat gets the money whether he owns the grain or not, or regardless of whether he grows it for some one else."

LONDON STOCK EXCHANGE WILL OPEN SATURDAYS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Aug. 19.—As a gesture for the promotion of additional trade London Stock exchange officials today ordered the exchange to open on Saturdays starting Sept. 19. The exchanges have operated on a five day week since 1917 when it was voted to close on Saturdays on account of the war.

There has been considerable agitation for the resumption of full week trading in London recently and today's announcement is received with a warm welcome in financial and business circles where it is expected that the Liverpool and Manchester exchanges will follow suit without delay.

The order extending the trade week was accompanied by a statement declaring that it was done "in view of the situation of the country and the desirability of affording facilities for dealing." For months past the exchange authorities have been considering the step, but actual announcement caused excitement on the floor of the house today.

HARDWARE TRADE FINDS DULLNESS STILL PREVAILS

In most of the leading hardware markets throughout the country the customary midsummer lull continues to be in evidence, Hardware Age asserts in its weekly market summary. In some districts, notably Cleveland and Boston, sales are ahead of the corresponding period of a year ago.

In southern market centers the recent government cotton report indicating an unusually large crop has caused enough concern to restrict current buying, it is stated. In most other sections the usual summer dullness is pronounced and no improvement appears likely until the fall demand begins to register in September.

With stocks in both retail and wholesale establishments subnormally low, replenishment orders will doubtless account for a fairly healthy volume of business within the next thirty days, the summary says. Few retailers or jobbers are believed to have adequate stocks on hand to satisfy moderate consumer requirements for such lines as will soon be in seasonable demand. A somewhat easier trend in prices has served to make buyers cautious in placing orders, which leads to forming the opinion that much fall buying will be delayed until the last minute.

GOLD STOCK OF U. S. REACHES NEW HIGH LEVEL FOR ALL TIME

Washington, D. C., Aug. 20.—[Special.]—The gold stock of the United States reached a new high level for all time yesterday when it mounted to $4,983,000,000, it was shown in a statement of the condition of federal banks issued today. This represented an increase of $19,000,000 in the last week and an increase of 491 millions over the total in the United States on Aug. 20, 1930, the comparative date of a year ago.

The previous high mark for gold stocks in the United States was reached on July 14, when the total was $4,968,000,000.

No comparative figures from world centers for this date were obtainable here, but recent figures showed that the United States holds more than one-third of the world supply of gold and that its total approximates that of twenty-six European countries combined.

The total world gold stocks reported at the end of June, the latest available period on record, were $11,262,000,000. At that time the stocks in the United States were reported in the federal reserve bulletin as $4,593,000,000, and those of the combined European countries as $5,349,000,000.

Blue Ridge Corp.

I was glad to see your article on Shenandoah as I have 15 shares. What is the difference between this company and Blue Ridge company? Will you please give me a report on the latter along the lines of the report on the Shenandoah?—C. A. S.

Blue Ridge corporation is an investment company organized in August, 1929, by Goldman, Sachs & Co. About 80 per cent of its common stock is held by Shenandoah corporation.

At the close of 1930 Blue Ridge corporation had investments totaling from $8,000,000 to $11,000,000 each in Central States Electric corporation [subject to option expiring Dec. 31, 1935] and North American company. Between $4,000,000 and $7,000,000 was invested in American Telephone and Telegraph, Commercial Investment Trust, Detroit Edison company and Lambert company. Between $2,000,000 and $3,000,000 was invested in each of the following: Blythe & Co., Inc., investment bankers; Consolidated Gas, Electric Light and Power company of Baltimore, General Foods, National Dairy Products, and Pacific Lighting corporation; and between $1,000,000 and $2,000,000 in Curtis Publishing company and Mathieson Alkali Works.

Net income for 1930, excluding stock dividends and loss on sale of securities, was $5,282,401. Preference dividends totaled $3,260,132 and common dividends $1,497,003.

For the period of Aug. 12, to Dec. 31, 1929, net income was $2,420,346. For the first half of 1931 net was $1,906,632, which was 1.45 times preference dividends and equal to 8 cents per common share.

Investments at cost, less reserves, on June 30, 1931, totaled $117,167,329. Market price was $76,361,787.

On Dec. 31, 1930, preferred stock had a net asset value of $92.93 per share and the common had a liquidating value of $5.17 per share. On June 30, 1931, net asset value of preferred stock dropped to $90.63 per share and the common had a liquidating value of $4.77 per share.

During 1930 stated value of the common was reduced from $5 to $1 and the difference was credited to surplus.

On June 30, 1931, there were outstanding 879,265 six per cent convertible preferred shares [par $50] and 7,489,098 no par common shares.

Dividends are being paid regularly on the preferred. The holder has the option of receiving 75 cents in cash quarterly or 1-32 of a share of common stock. No dividends are being paid on the common.

The stock is considered speculative.

SYNDICATE BUYS TWO PARCELS IN SOUTH CHICAGO

Ambrose Conners Head of Group.

BY AL CHASE.

Ambrose V. Conners, vice president and sales manager of the Metropolitan District Realty trust, yesterday took title to two parcels of property in the South Chicago area totaling fifteen acres. Mr. Conners stated that he and some associates have purchased the property as an investment and that the transaction has nothing to do with the Metropolitan District Realty trust or the newly formed Associated Management company, just formed by the Insull interests.

One of the parcels comprises ten acres and is bounded by East 87th street, Yates avenue, East 88th street and Crandon avenue. The second has five acres and has two blocks of frontage on the south side of East 88th street, extending from Crandon to Yates, with 300 feet of frontage on both Crandon and Yates.

Near Future "L" Station.

City ordinances provide for the eventual extension of the 63d street elevated line south on Stony Island avenue to South Chicago and then along that diagonal thoroughfare to 93d street. It is understood there probably will be a station at 87th street at the corner of the ten acre parcel.

Mr. Conners also stated that the two properties would be bounded on the east by a boulevard, as Yates avenue is to be widened south of 71st street and made into a parkway. The larger parcel of the two is crossed diagonally by Anthony avenue and at its extreme northeast tip by the New York Central and Pennsylvania lines.

Title to these properties was transferred to Mr. Conners by the Stony Island State Savings bank, as trustee. This is one of the former Bain institutions.

A Pair of Leases.

Ed V. Price & Co., wholesale tailors, have leased the second floor corner space in the Crilly building, northeast corner of Monroe and Dearborn streets. This will be used as a salesroom in addition to their long established city salesroom in their wholesale plant. Arthur Rubloff & Co. were brokers.

Andes Candies, Inc., have leased the store at 1581½ Milwaukee avenue from the United Cigar Stores company for four years at a reported term rental of approximately $5,400. Leo Raemer, vice president of the C. F. Noyes National Realty corporation, was broker.

Morigage Loans Increase.

The real estate mortgage loan market in July showed the first upward trend in recent months, according to a monthly compilation of the volume of realty mortgages recorded in the principal urban districts, issued by Nelson, Hunt & Co., specialists in real estate and mortgage financing.

Official figures from selected representative metropolitan areas compiled in the survey showed that the total of real estate mortgages filed in July was 7% larger than in June. Thirty-five districts, where comparative data was available, reported a total of $220,988,178 in mortgages filed in July, as compared with $204,777,855 in June.

SURVEY NOTES LOWER FARES FOR AIR TRAVEL

Despite the fact that air transport lines generally are unable to operate profitably at the present time, rather sharp reductions are being made in passenger fares, says the Standard Statistics company of New York in a current survey, which continues in part:

"Leading concerns in this line, including Century Air Lines, Transcontinental and Western, United Aircraft and Transport, and Aviation corporation, recently have cut transportation rates materially, some reductions amounting to as much as 20 per cent. The one way rate between Los Angeles and San Francisco, for example, has been forced down to such an extent that it is now cheaper to travel this distance by air than by train. Transcontinental fares likewise have been reduced, and the process is continuing on shorter lines, where competition is particularly keen.

"Increased business from the lower rates is unlikely to offset the effect of the diminished fares, and earnings of important carriers are expected to be even further diminished. Obviously, satisfactory returns in this trade will be postponed for a considerable period ahead."

SHARP DIP IN CORN FAILS TO AFFECT WHEAT

Hear Reports of European Crop Damage.

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

A sharp dip in corn prices yesterday, which carried the September and March deliveries to a new low for the season, had little or no effect on wheat, the latter showing a firm undertone from the start, and the unfavorable weather and crop reports from Europe are receiving much more attention from the trade than of late.

An upward revision in estimated import needs of wheat is expected to be necessary as the result of the persistent rains in northern Europe which have already cut down the indicated yield in France by 25,000,000 bu, according to Broomhall's agent. The latter now places the probable crop at 256,000,000 bu, including 10 per cent of low grades, and is only 25,000,000 bu above the abnormally small return in 1930.

Apprehension of serious damage to the Scandinavian wheat and rye crops was heard during the day, while the wet weather also covered the United Kingdom, France, Germany, Belgium and Czecho-Slovakia. A leading continental cash handler was out with an estimate that Russia would ship only about as much wheat as last season, or 100,000,000 bu, compared with Broomhall's estimate of 120,000,000 bu the previous day. Adding to the confidence of holders were reports of a shortage in the Chinese, Indian and Japanese rice crops, which it is expected will result in a much larger oriental demand, especially as rice was reported as selling at a premium over wheat.

China May Buy Wheat.

Reports that the farm board was now seriously considering the Chinese government proposal to buy around 15,000,000 bu of the farm board's holdings came in for considerable attention, especially as the credit terms were regarded as unusually favorable. Europe has been taking hard winter and Manitoba wheats in a fairly persistent manner of late and the basis on No. 1 northern at Winnipeg advanced ½c yesterday to 1c over the October, against ½c under early in the week.

Russia continues to offer wheat freely for export, but is not doing it in the manner which had such a depressing effect on the world's markets at this season a year ago, Liverpool closing ¼@½d higher in the face of purchases of 1,100,000 bu Russian grain on Wednesday for August-September shipment. October in the English market finished at 57⅝c. Winnipeg was strong and ⅝@⅞c higher at the last with October 56⅝c.

Trade in the local wheat market was rather quiet early, but became more active today, the last with the finish ⅛@⅝c higher, September closing at 49⅜@49½c; December, 56¼c, and May, 58⅛@58⅝c. There was spread under way between the September and December deliveries on 3⅛@4c difference. In the past week the spread between Chicago September and Liverpool October has widened 1¼c with Liverpool 8¼c over Chicago at the time the former market closed.

Corn Market Erratic.

Corn was erratic, commission house buying advancing the September 1¼c to 44c early, at which point the rally ceased and selling against offers checked the bulge. Later local pressure developed and with less active buying a drop to 42⅜ occurred, a new low for the season, but toward the last there was a resumption of buying and the close was at 43@43⅛c, showing a net gain of ⅝c for the day. New crop futures weakened with the nearby delivery, but only the March sold at a new low for the season, and all rallied later and closed ¼@⅝ higher, with December, 38⅝@38¾c; March, 41¾c, and May, 43⅛@43⅝c.

Improvement in the shipping demand with sales of 148,000 bu was offset to some extent by purchases of 47,000 bu to arrive. Reports of further crop deterioration came from Iowa, but had little effect on the market.

Oats held within narrow limits with fair buying on the dips, and the finish was unchanged to ⅛c higher, with September, 20¼c; December, 23⅞c, and May, 25⅛c. Rye gained ¼@⅝c in sympathy with wheat, September closing at 34c; December, 37⅝c, and May at 41⅜c.

Broomhall says the reduction in Argentine's acreage ranges from 15 to 30 per cent, compared with the area seeded last year of 21,800,000 acres. Germination is reported satisfactory. Crops in Germany and the United Kingdom are suffering from constant rains. In north and northwestern regions of France it is wet and hot and crops that have not been harvested are deteriorating.

In a territory covering over 300 miles from Swift Current north to Empress, Saskatchewan, the wheat crop ranges from complete failure to fair, with a few districts showing excellent stand, Winnipeg wire. Whole territory might average 10 bu to the acre. Recent hot weather hastened ripening, resulting in small berries and greatly reduced yields.

DEALERS ATTENTION!

Public Also Invited to Take Advantage of THESE USED CAR BARGAINS OFFERED BY STUDEBAKER

Due to being overstocked in used cars we are offering an unparalleled opportunity to used car buyers.

Any car advertised below is worth two and three times our price. Dealers can make substantial profits by purchasing from us, and then reselling at far higher amounts. Or, if you need a car for your own personal use, grab this remarkable once-in-a-lifetime chance to make a big saving.

WILLYS KNIGHT SEDAN. This car is in perhaps a great part of the time the owner has had it so the mileage is comparatively low. Every detail will please the discerning. Completely equipped. $95.

STUDEBAKER SEDAN. Spec. 6, painted a stunning black. The interior is very fine, the equipment includes spotlight, radio, spare tire, etc. Very efficient motor.

STUDEBAKER ROADSTER. Ducoed an attractive blue. The car is in very clean condition all the inside and outside, and is running smoothly. Tires are okay.

STUDEBAKER-ALLWAY SPORT PHAETON. We recommend this as the finest open car buy we have offered. The motor is smooth and powerful and the appearance is unusually attractive. Reduced to $145.

STUDEBAKER SEDAN. Here is a fine performing car that never left the Chicago boulevard system. A thorough check will reveal that it's in splendid condition throughout. Snubbers, spare tire, shatter proof, etc. Reduced to $245.

STUDEBAKER SEDAN. Model 314 that was owned by a wealthy family and given to the chauffeur. The appearance is very attractive and the motor running smoothly and quietly. Very fully equipped. $345.

STUDEBAKER COACH, 1929. The finish has only a few scratches and the upholstery is like new. Has a wealth of extras. This Oakland was traded in at a very favorable price so we'll pass on the saving to you. $295.

STUDEBAKER Record Flying Cloud that can easily be used a few months. The handsome blue finish is like a new dollar and the excellent mohair upholstery is luxurious. Has many extras and is priced very low. Will not remain long at $495.

LA SALLE SPORT COUPE. Late model six cylinder rumble seat, wire wheels, and a wealth of extras. It was only driven occasionally by a conservative owner, so it will give you new car satisfaction. $645.

TERMS IF DESIRED. OPEN EVES., SUN.

Contract Is F Let for Build

[Chicago Tribune Press Se (Pictures on back pag Washington, D. C., Aug. cial.]—Actual work on the go postoffice will be under way the first week in September, George Griffiths, head of John Griffiths & Son, Chicago contractors, asserted today immediately after the treasury had awarded the main construction contract to his company. The contractors plan to complete the main building by November, 1932, and have the whole str ished and turned over to t ment within less than two y

In announcing award of struction contracts today th revealed that the total con of the building, which w world's largest postoffice, w under $16,000,000.

The main structure awar Griffiths for $13,459,970. The house Electric Elevator co Chicago was given the contr stall the elevator plant, the ing $739,500. The mail handl most award went to the Lam pany, Inc., Syracuse, N. Y., f 07. The total for all three was $15,959,547.

Total Cost 22 Million

The actual cost of consti the building plus the cost o will approach if not exceed $ a million dollars in excess of 00,000 appropriated for this by congress. The treasury ted, however, to exceed legal ation limits by 5 per cent in contracts.

Additional millions also wi vided by the government for ngs and equipment.

Award of the contract will ben not only to Chicago but employes and industrie will furnish the materials. tractors estimated today th ploy as many as 14,000 men given work. Mr. Griffiths many as 3,500 would be emp the main structure when th load reached its peak. Anoth to 12,000, he said, will obta at the plants furnishing m Large quantities of steel, sa ber, and stone must be furni Other items which will be of for include arch materia tion, hardware, frames and reinforcing rods, ornamental heating, plumbing and light tures.

Five Years of Preparati

An audible sigh of relief from treasury and postoffice when the decision to award tract finally was reached ground work laid for beginn much delayed project. Alm years was consumed by the ment in authorizing the build quiring sites, preparing desig awarding the contract.

Officials, however, took pride magnitude of the new Chicago building. They asserted it wo Chicago the largest, most mode best equipped postoffice in the It was stated that the contra for the largest and most cos eral building ever erected outs District of Columbia. Only th annex building, now nearing tion, which will cost $17,000,0 the Chicago structure in pric latter will contain floor space o an area of practically fifty a

Dimensions of Structure

The huge structure, which tend over the car tracks fro Buren street to Harrison street east side of Canal street, will ically of variegated Bedford limestone. The present larg Buren street parcel post stati be absorbed architecturally in great main postoffice unit. Th ing will be 200 feet high, hav stories in the rear and twelve stories on the Van Buren stree the main facade.

An idea of the magnitude is by the fact that 50,000 tons and 18,000 tons of stone will be in construction. In addition quantities of gravel and ceme be needed. It will house a bstely 12,000 federal employes twenty-four hours and about five thousand during the holida No changes in the specificati
